The Artillery Of The Press Its Influence On American Foreign Policy:

The Artillery of the Press James Reston, 1992 The Artillery of the Press James Reston, Council on Foreign Relations, 1967 Media Pressure on Foreign Policy Derek Miller, 2007-07-09 This study offers an explicit theory of media pressure what it is how it works how it can be measured based in part on the positioning theory in discursive psychology This offers the first independent and comparative history and analysis of media pressure vs coverage through the lens of the insurrection against Saddam Hussein in 1991 Why American Foreign Policy Fails D. Jett, 2008-05-12 This book explores the recent changes in U S foreign policy examines the roles that the six primary actors the President the Congress the bureaucracy non governmental organizations the media and the public play in policy decisions and assesses the potential for improvement within this system How American Media Presents Crisis of Sino-US Relations Liu Wen, 2020-10-25 Sino US relation that has great influence on international relations is considered as the most important bilateral relation in the world today by politicians and scholars from both of the two countries The development of Sino US relation has undergone twists and turns since the two countries established diplomatic relation Although China and America has developed cooperative relationship in various areas critical events resulted from conflicts happen from time to time Media that plays various roles including message transmitter public opinion shaper and problem solver during the two countries crisis is not only an important information channel for both the government and the people to learn about the crisis quickly but also undertakes certain diplomatic duties like indicating attitude explaining policy and setting agenda This book is an analysis of the features and laws of media coverage on critical events between China and America discussing their influence on public opinion of American people as well as the decision making progress of American government by study the related reports of New York Times since 1990 This book takes some China US crisis as study cases and the related reports in New York Times as researching sample analyzing the quantity length type information source inclination towards China and news frame of the reports discussing the features and laws of media coverage on crises between China and America The ultimate purpose is to figure out the role and function of media during the decision making process of America s China policy and to conclude the inspiration for both countries diplomacy and international communication The Media and Sino-American Rapprochement, 1963-1972 Guolin Yi, 2020-11-11 Winner of the ACPSS Research Award An important new cultural study of the Cold War Guolin Yi s The Media and Sino American Rapprochement 1963 1972 analyzes how the media in both countries shaped public perceptions of the changing relations between China and the United States in the decade prior to Richard Nixon s visit to Beijing This book offers the first systematic study of Cankao Xiaoxi Reference News an internal Chinese newspaper that carried relatively objective stories the Xinhua News Agency translated from world news media for circulation among Communist cadres As the main channel for the cadres to learn about the outside world this newspaper provides a window into China s evolving foreign policy including the reception of signals from the Nixon administration Yi compares this internal communications channel with the public accounts contained in the more widely circulated newspaper People's Daily a chief propaganda outlet of the Chinese Communist Party CCP directed at its own people and China watchers all over the world A third level of communication emerges in classified CCP instructions and government documents By approaching the Chinese communication system on three levels internal public and classified Yi's analysis demonstrates how people at different positions in the political hierarchy accessed varying types of information allowing him to chart the development of Beijing's approach to the U S government In a corresponding analysis of the defining features of American reporting on China Yi considers the impact of government media relationships in the United States during the Cold War Alongside prominent magazines and newspapers particularly the New York Times and the Washington Post in their differing coverage of key events Yi discusses television networks which proved vital for promoting the success of Ping Pong Diplomacy and the impact of Nixon's visit in 1972 With its comparative study of news outlets in the two countries The Media and Sino American Rapprochement 1963-1972 presents a thorough and comprehensive perspective on the role of the media in influencing domestic Chinese and American public opinion during a critical decade

The Influence of Small States on Superpowers Richard L. Bernal, 2015-07-22 The conventional wisdom is that small developing countries exert limited if any influence on the foreign policy of superpowers in particular the United States This book challenges that premise based on the experience of the small developing country of Jamaica and its relations with the United States It raises the question if the foreign policy of the United States can be influenced by even a small developing country should Washington be worried

China Reporting Stephen R. MacKinnon, Oris Friesen, 2023-11-10 China Reporting is an oral history showing how the China correspondent of the 1930s and 1940s constructed his or her news reality or the network of facts from which their stories were written How these men and women pooled information and decided upon the legitimacy of particular sources is explored The influences of competition language facility or lack thereof common personal backgrounds camaraderie and changes in American official China policy are also discussed with special attention paid to the prescriptive gatekeeping role of editors back home This is an approach which has often been applied to the domestic journalist China Reporting is a pioneering effort at using historical perspective to view the foreign correspondent in terms of the total epistemological context in which he or she operates to produce the news that in turn provides the data base upon which the public and policy makers inevitably draw This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1987

Understanding Foreign Correspondence Peter Gross, Gerd G. Kopper, 2011 There are as many as 3 400 correspondents covering the United States among them approximately 600 print and broadcast correspondents from European countries The importance of the foreign correspondents corps stationed in the United States and of their work has increased commensurate with the world preeminence gained by the U S after World War II This book examines the state of research on European foreign correspondence from the United States and on the corps of journalists that produces it Contributions from both European and American authors examine the varied conceptual issues regarding foreign correspondence the methodologies that have been employed in studies carried out on both sides of the Atlantic and the theories that were and could be tested when studying the subject The book serves as a prolegomena to future studies on foreign correspondence and correspondents Human Rights Education for the Twenty-First Century
