The Autobiographical Subject Gender And Ideology In Eighteenth Century:

The Autobiographical Subject Felicity Nussbaum, 1995-10 Felicity Nussbaum's insights demand the attention of eighteenth century scholars feminist critics and cultural historians while the central questions raised by the book how to define the self why write why revise and especially why publish an autobiography are of interest to everyone Review of English Studies The Eighteenth Century English Novel Harold Bloom, 2009 Early novelists such as Samuel Richardson Daniel Defoe and Laurence Sterne helped create the formula for the modern novel Sex, Money and Personal Character in Eighteenth-Century British Politics Marilyn Morris, 2015-01-28 How and why did the Anglo American world become so obsessed with the private lives and public character of its political leaders Marilyn Morris finds answers in eighteenth century Britain when a long tradition of court intrigue and gossip spread into a much broader and more public political arena with the growth of political parties extra parliamentary political activities and a partisan print culture The public's preoccupation with the personal character of the ruling elite paralleled a growing interest in the interior lives of individuals in histories novels and the theater Newspaper reports of the royal family intensified in intimacy and its members became moral exemplars most often paradoxically when they misbehaved Ad hominem attacks on political leaders became commonplace politicians of all affiliations continued to assess one another's characters based on their success and daring with women and money And newly popular human interest journalism promoted the illusion that the personal characters of public figures could be read by appearances Natural Masques Jill Campbell, 1995 Campbell draws on recent work that sees the eighteenth century as a crucial moment in the history of sexuality and gender and she critiques new treatments of the novel's function in defining domestic femininity Transatlantic Feminisms in the Age of Revolutions Lisa L. Moore, Joanna Brooks, Caroline Wigginton, 2012-04-19 A collection of eighteenth century poems fiction political pamphlets letters petitions and other writings Transatlantic Feminisms in the Age of Revolutions recovers a revolutionary moment in world history in which women stepped into a globalizing world and imagined themselves free Early Modern English Lives Ronald Bedford, Lloyd Davis, Philippa Kelly, 2016-12-05 How did early modern English people write about themselves and how do we listen to their voices four centuries later The authors of Early Modern English Lives Autobiography and Self Representation 1500-1660 argue that identity is depicted through complex subtle and often contradictory social interactions and literary forms Diaries letters daily spiritual reckonings household journals travel journals accounts of warfare incidental meditations on the nature of time death and self reflection as well as life stories themselves these are just some of the texts that allow us to address the social and historical conditions that influenced early modern self writing The texts explored in Early Modern English Lives do not automatically speak to our familiar patterns of introspection and self inquiry Often formal highly metaphorical and emotionally restrained they are very different in both tone and purpose from the autobiographies that crowd bookshelves today Does the lack of emotional description suggest that complex emotions themselves in all the depth and variety that we now understand and expect of them are a relatively modern phenomenon This is one of the questions addressed by Early Modern English Lives The authors bring to our attention the kinds of rhetorical and generic features of early modern self representation that can help us to appreciate people living four hundred years ago as the complicated composite figures they were people whose expression of identity involved an elaborate interplay of roles and discourses and for whom the notion of privacy itself was a wholly different phenomenon Walsingham Mary Robinson, 2003-01-16 Walsingham is both a lively story and a commentary by Mary Robinson on her society's constraints upon women The novel follows the lives of two main characters Walsingham Ainsforth and his cousin Sir Sidney Aubrey a girl who is passed off as a son by her mother so that she will become the family heir Sidney educated in France returns to England as an adult and persistently sabotages Walsingham's love interests having secretly fallen in love with him herself Eventually Sidney reveals her identity and she and Walsingham declare their mutual love wed and share the family's estate This Broadview edition includes a rich selection of primary sources material including contemporary reviews historical and literary accounts of eighteenth century female cross dressers and selections from contemporary works that focus on the figure of the fallen woman Melancholy and Literary Biography, 1640-1816 J. Darcy, 2013-06-25 This book traces the development of literary biography in the eighteenth century how writers melancholy was probed to explore the inner life Case studies of a number of significant authors reveal the 1790s as a time of biographical experimentation Reaction against philosophical biography led to a nineteenth century taste for romanticized lives Unhomely Empire Onni Gust, 2020-11-12 This book examines the role of Scottish Enlightenment ideas of belonging in the construction and circulation of white supremacist thought that sought to justify British imperial rule During the 18th century European imperial expansion radically increased population mobility through the forging of new trade routes war disease enslavement and displacement In this book Onni Gust argues that this mass movement intersected with philosophical debates over what it meant to belong to a nation civilization and even humanity itself Unhomely Empire maps the consolidation of a Scottish Enlightenment discourse of home and exile through three inter related case studies and debates slavery and abolition in the Caribbean Scottish Highland emigration to North America and raising white girls in colonial India Playing out over poetry political pamphlets travel writing philosophy letters and diaries these debates offer a unique insight into the movement of ideas across a British imperial literary network Using this rich cultural material Gust argues that whiteness was central to 19th century liberal imperialism's understanding of belonging whilst emotional attachment and the perceived ability or inability to belong were key concepts in constructions of racial difference The 'scandalous Memoirists' Lynda M. Thompson, 2000 Thompson presents a re appraisal of the scandalous memoirists Costantia Phillips and Laetitia Pilkington who feature with a cast of other 18th century apologists and overturns scholarship's traditional discrediting of them
