The Barabaig East African Cattle Herders:

The Barabaig George J. Klima,1985 Information about the Barabaig of Tanganyika East Africa who are cattle herders

The Barabaig, East African Cattle-herders ,1970 Those Who Play With Fire Henrietta Moore,Todd Sanders,Bwire Kaare,2020-08-20 Whether initiating girls or healing cattle bringing rain or protesting taxation many in Africa share a vision of a world where the cultural symbolic and cosmic categories of male and female serve through ritual to both reimagine and transform the world Those Who Play With Fire introduces recent gender theory to the analysis of African ethnography exploring the ways in which ideational gender categories permeate African systems of thought and ritual practices Thus the book provides a powerful framework with which to evaluate previous ethnographic material on Africa In addition Those Who Play With Fire presents a broad range of new case studies of hunter gatherers agriculturalists and pastoralists revealing the varied and complex ways in which African ideas and ideals of what it means to be male and female broadly inform and give meaning to a wide range of transformative rituals

Social Anthropology Edward Hecican,2012-01-15 This is the first introductory text that focuses on social anthropological research using Canadian examples and perspectives In this groundbreaking new book Edward Hecican provides undergraduate students with a solid background on the theoretical and applied aspects of anthropology while exploring the rich history of the discipline in a Canadian context In ten concise chapters readers are introduced to the basic conceptual building blocks of introductory anthropology in a refreshingly succinct and engaging way With a strong focus on Canadian theory this book includes discussion of evolutionism feminist anthropology marriage and the family and political economy

Mobility and Territoriality Michael Casimir,Aparnu Rao,2021-01-07 Territorial behaviour among various herders and hunter gatherers has been discussed in earlier studies but this is the first time that a comparison of these three types of mobile populations has been attempted The original papers presented in this volume discuss the conditions and problems of securing access to resources among pastoralists peripatetics and hunting gathering and fishing communities in Africa Asia Europe and the Middle East A comprehensive introductory chapter places these empirical studies in a broader theoretical context of the behavioural sciences

Symbols and Meaning Mari Womack,2005-04-07 Womack offers a concise and easy to read overview of the power and meaning of symbols in all human societies She describes how symbols_images words or behaviors with multi layered meanings_are mechanism of communication She demonstrates how we experience the power of symbols in all aspects of human life birth death love sexual desire and the need for food and shelter Womack investigates the use of symbols in the language of religion healing politics social organization and control popular culture psychology philosophy semiotics magic and expressive culture including art aesthetics literature theater sports and music The author's eclectic anthropological approach incorporates the social conceptual and psychological dynamics of symbols Her new book is an essential introductory textbook for courses that define fundamental concepts in religion cultural anthropology communication and art

The Adapted Mind Jerome H.

Barkow, Leda Cosmides, John Tooby, 1992 Although researchers have long been aware that the species typical architecture of the human mind is the product of our evolutionary history it has only been in the last three decades that advances in such fields as evolutionary biology cognitive psychology and paleoanthropology have made the fact of our evolution illuminating Converging findings from a variety of disciplines are leading to the emergence of a fundamentally new view of the human mind and with it a new framework for the behavioral and social sciences First with the advent of the cognitive revolution human nature can finally be defined precisely as the set of universal species typical information processing programs that operate beneath the surface of expressed cultural variability Second this collection of cognitive programs evolved in the Pleistocene to solve the adaptive problems regularly faced by our hunter gatherer ancestors problems such as mate selection language acquisition co operation and sexual infidelity Consequently the traditional view of the mind as a general purpose computer tabula rasa or passive recipient of culture is being replaced by the view that the mind resembles an intricate network of functionally specialized computers each of which imposes contentful structure on human mental organization and culture The Adapted Mind explores this new approach evolutionary psychology and its implications for a new view of culture

Cruel Creeds, Virtuous Violence Jack David Eller, 2011-03 This illuminating in depth study presents a wealth of case material demonstrating the many manifestations of religious violence not just war and terrorism which are the focus of so many discussions of religiously motivated violence but also more prevalent forms The author an anthropologist devotes separate chapters to sacrifice both animal and human self mortification including self injury asceticism and martyrdom religious persecution from anti Semitic pogroms to witchhunts ethno religious conflict including such hotspots as Sri Lanka Northern Ireland and the former Yugoslavia religious wars from the ancient Hebrews wars and the Christian Crusades to Islamic jihad and Hindu righteous wars and religious homicide and abuse spousal abuse genital mutilation and dowry death among other manifestations In the final chapter Religion and Nonviolence the author examines nonviolent and low conflict societies and considers various methods of managing conflict This book goes a long way toward helping us understand the nature of violence generally its complicated connections with religion and how society in the future might avoid being blindsided by the worst aspects of human nature

Strategies for Survival Michael A. Jochim, 2013-09-11 Strategies for Survival Cultural Behavior in an Ecological Context focuses on the ecological relationships between cultural behavior and its environmental context The proliferation of ecological studies within anthropology suggests the increasing emphasis given to the systemic context of behavior The aim of this book is to develop a framework for examining these relationships and for comparing diverse ecological studies within a coherent conceptual structure It seeks to include any aspect of behavior to investigate the links between ideological and material factors to broaden the view of relevant factors and possible assumptions and to relate the processes of decision making to their specific context in a manner allowing cross cultural comparisons In the process certain popular forms of ecological explanation will be examined In addition specific behavioral examples will be investigated in an attempt to explain patterns of similarities and differences This book is addressed to all individuals interested in human environmental interactions including professional anthropologists and general students of human behavior The Adapted Mind Jerome H. Barkow, Leda Cosmides, John Tooby, 1995-10-19 Although researchers have long been aware that the species typical architecture of the human mind is the product of our evolutionary history it has only been in the last three decades that advances in such fields as evolutionary biology cognitive psychology and paleoanthropology have made the fact of our evolution illuminating Converging findings from a variety of disciplines are leading to the emergence of a fundamentally new view of the human mind and with it a new framework for the behavioral and social sciences First with the advent of the cognitive revolution human nature can finally be defined precisely as the set of universal species typical information processing programs that operate beneath the surface of expressed cultural variability Second this collection of cognitive programs evolved in the Pleistocene to solve the adaptive problems regularly faced by our hunter gatherer ancestors problems such as mate selection language acquisition cooperation and sexual infidelity Consequently the traditional view of the mind as a general purpose computer tabula rasa or passive recipient of culture is being replaced by the view that the mind resembles an intricate network of functionally specialized computers each of which imposes contentful structure on human mental organization and culture The Adapted Mind explores this new approach evolutionary psychology and its implications for a new view of culture
