The Asphalt Jungle

John Huston

The Asphalt Jungle:

The Asphalt Jungle William Riley Burnett, 1949 A story of the underworld of a large Midwestern city The Asphalt Jungle John Huston, 1949 The Asphalt Jungle Ben Maddow, John Huston, 1980 Dore Schary then head of production at Metro Goldwyn Mayer bought The Asphalt Jungle while it was still in manuscript in an effort to match the success Warner Brothers had enjoyed with Burnett's Little Caesar and High Sierra The choice of Ben Maddow and John Huston as screenwriters assured the artistic success of the screenplay for few writer-directors could have matched Huston's ability to develop these characters cinematically It was a case of strength building upon strength Burnett's fully developed characters were transformed by Maddow and Huston into a screenplay of impressive immediacy Indeed the portrayal of the criminals in splendid performances from Louis Calhern Sam Jaffe Sterling Hayden James Whitmore and Jean Hagen led Bosley Crowther to lament If only it all weren't so corrupt But the characters of Burnett, Maddow and Huston don't permit us to romanticize about them or their activities We share their professional pride in a robbery well planned and are silent accomplices to their mutual treachery The Asphalt Jungle was nominated for best screenplay by the Motion Picture Academy and for best written American drama by the Writers Guild John Huston received a nomination for best director by the Academy As a novel The Asphalt Jungle has been translated into twelve languages The Asphalt Jungle Ben Maddow, John Huston, 1949 The Asphalt Jungle (1950): Shooting Script, 1950 L.A. Noir William Hare, 2008-02-07 Los Angeles is an ideal city for film noir for both economic and aesthetic reasons The largest metropolitan area in the country home to an ever-changing population of the disillusioned and in close proximity to city mountains ocean and desert the City of Angels became a center of American film noir This detailed discussion of nine films explores such topics as why certain settings are appropriate for film noir why L.A. has been a favorite of authors such as Raymond Chandler and relevant political developments in the area The films are also examined in terms of story content as well as how they developed in the project stage Utilizing a number of quotes from interviews the work examines actors directors and others involved with the films touching on their careers and details of their time in L.A. The major films covered are The Big Sleep Criss Cross D.O.A. In a Lonely Place The Blue Gardenia Kiss Me Deadly The Killing Chinatown and L.A. Confidential Gangsters and G-Men on Screen Gene D. Phillips, 2014-09-26 While the gangster film may have enjoyed its heyday in the 1930s and 40s it has remained a movie staple for almost as long as cinema has existed From the early films of Humphrey Bogart James Cagney and Edward G. Robinson to modern versions like Bugsy Public Enemies and Gangster Squad such films capture the brutality of mobs and their leaders In Gangsters and G-Men on Screen: Crime Cinema Then and Now Gene D. Phillips revisits some of the most popular and iconic representations of the genre While this volume offers new perspectives on some established classics usual suspects like Little Caesar Bonnie and Clyde and The Godfather Part II Phillips also calls attention to some of the unheralded but no less worthy films and filmmakers that represent the genre Expanding the viewer's notion of what constitutes a gangster film Phillips offers such unusual choices as You Only Live Once, Key Largo, The Lady from Shanghai and even the 1949 version of The Great Gatsby. Also included in this examination are more recent ventures such as modern classics The Grifters and Martin Scorsese's The Departed. In his analyses Phillips draws on a number of sources including personal interviews with directors and other artists and technicians associated with the films he discusses. Of interest to film historians and scholars, Gangsters and G Men on Screen will also appeal to anyone who wants to better understand the films that represent an important contribution to crime cinema.

John Huston as Adaptor Douglas McFarland, Wesley King, 2017-01-28 John Huston as Adaptor makes the case that adaptation is the salient element in Huston's identity as a filmmaker and that his early and deep attraction to the experience of reading informed his approach to film adaptation. Thirty-four of Huston's thirty-seven films were adaptations of literary texts and they stand as serious interpretations of literary works that could only be made by an astute reader of literature. Indeed, Huston asserted that a film director should be above all else a reader and that reading itself should be the intellectual and emotional basis for filmmaking. The seventeen essays in this volume not only address Huston as an adaptor but also offer an approach to adaptation studies that has been largely overlooked. How an adaptor reads the works to which he is drawn and how his literary interpretations can be brought to the screen without relegating film to a subservient role are some of the issues addressed by the contributors. An introductory chapter identifies Huston as the quintessential Hollywood adaptor and argues that his skill at adaptation is the mark of his authorial signature. The chapters that follow focus on fifteen of Huston's most important films including The Maltese Falcon (1941), The Treasure of the Sierra Madre (1948), The African Queen (1951), The Night of the Iguana (1964), Under the Volcano (1984) and The Dead (1987) and are divided into three areas: aesthetics and textuality, history and social context, and theory and psychoanalysis. By offering a more comprehensive account of the centrality of adaptation to Huston's films, John Huston as Adaptor offers a greater understanding of Huston as a filmmaker.

The Asphalt Jungle Ben Maddow, Arthur Hornblow (Jr.), John Huston, 1950

Public Enemies, Public Heroes Jonathan Munby, 2009-04-24 In this study of Hollywood gangster films, Jonathan Munby examines their controversial content and how it was subjected to continual moral and political censure. Beginning in the early 1930s, these films told compelling stories about ethnic urban lower-class desires to make it in an America dominated by Anglo-Saxon Protestant ideals and devastated by the Great Depression. By the late 1940s, however, their focus shifted to the problems of a culture maladjusting to a new peacetime sociopolitical order governed by corporate capitalism. The gangster no longer challenged the establishment; the issue was not making it but simply making do. Combining film analysis with archival material from the Production Code Administration, Hollywood's self-censoring authority, Munby shows how the industry circumvented censure and how its altered gangsters, influenced by European filmmakers, fueled the infamous inquisitions of Hollywood in the postwar 40s and 50s by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Ultimately, this provocative study suggests that we rethink our ideas about crime and violence in depictions of Americans fighting against the status quo.
