The Life and Times of Edward McHugh (1853-1915), Land Reformer, Trade Unionist, and Labour Activist Andrew G. Newby, 2005 Edward McHugh 1853 1915 spent a great deal of his lifetime engaged in the struggle for social reform not only in Great Britain and Ireland but also further afield including spells in America and the Antipodes Born in rural County Tyrone to a smallholding family before emigrating through economic necessity to the overcrowded industrial landscape of Greenock and then Glasgow McHugh shared with his friend Michael Davitt experience of both sides of the land question It is not surprising that having witnessed rural and urban poverty at an early age McHugh would become firmly committed to the ideals of Henry George and convinced that land and its inequitable distribution should lie at the root of all social ills After moving to Glasgow as a teenager to find work as a compositor McHugh found himself in a city with various possibilities for developing his education as a social reformer The Irish who had fled to the city in such numbers after the Great Famine were finally starting to organise themselves politically Highlands as a result either of the Clearances or the region's own famine in the 1840s were contemplating the conditions in which the working classes of Glasgow and other towns in Scotland were forced to live As a member of the Glasgow Home Rule Association and then the secretary of the Glasgow branch of the Irish Land League McHugh was singled out as a speaker and organiser of ability and was chosen to lead a Land League mission to the Scottish Highlands in order to direct the nascent crofters agitation along radical lines After the death of the Land League McHugh toured Scotland with Henry George himself and helped to found the Scottish Land Restoration League a body dedicated to taxing land values to their full extent thereby abolishing landlordism The ability shown by McHugh was then harnessed by the Trades Union movement as he and his old friend Richard McGhee formed and ran the National Union of Dock Labourers sustaining them through bitter strikes in Glasgow 1889 and Liverpool 1890 This latter strike was a turning point in McHugh's domestic life as he settled then in Birkenhead McHugh remained active in the Trade Unionism spending the years 1896 1899 in New York organising the American Longshoremen's Union and preaching the Single Tax Gospel The fact that McHugh was with Henry George at the time of the latter's untimely death in 1897 gave the Ulsterman a great cache in Single Tax circles for the rest of his life and on returning to Birkenhead he settled down and spent the rest of his life striving for social reform through the propagation of the George's theories

Statesmen, Diplomats, and the Press-essays on 18th Century Britain Karl W. Schweizer,2002 The eleven essays in this volume entail three broad themes first the dynamics of national policy making during the Hanoverian period secondly the role of diplomats in the formulation as well as execution of foreign policy thirdly the political impact of the press Cabinets regularly led by dukes who engaged in arcane maneuvers such as forcing the Closet spread a musty scent of the antique over eighteenth century politics Yet the era was also the forcing ground of modern society and no period in British history now has so exciting or controversial a historiography Globalization industrialization the rise of nationalism imperialism the emergence of a free press and numerous other vital themes reverberate among what was once seen as a time veiled in cobwebs Karl Schweizer s essays illuminate a number of the most important issues currently under scrutiny by historians Many of his pieces are focused around the crucial decades of the mid century when the monarchy parliamentary government the shaping of public opinion the conduct of war and diplomacy were all being tested and reshaped Not only does his work illuminate these problems in new ways but also his masterly

The African Institution (1807-1827) and the Antislavery Movement in Great Britain Wayne Ackerson,2005 The African Institution was a pivotal abolitionist and antislavery group in Britain during the early nineteenth century and its members included royalty prominent lawyers Members of Parliament and noted reformers such as William Wilberforce Thomas Clarkson and Zachary Macaulay Focusing on the spread of Western civilization to Africa the abolition of the foreign slave trade and improving the lives of slaves in British colonies the group s influence extended far into Britain s diplomatic relations in addition to the government s domestic affairs The African Institution carried the torch for antislavery reform for twenty years and paved the way for later humanitarian efforts in Great Britain This book is the only monograph on the African Institution and thus the only specific book length analysis of its successes and failures The 20 year period of its existence was a crucial transitional period for the antislavery movement and the book adds to a relatively sparse body of research on that particular time period
