Food and Agricultural Biotechnology in Ethical Perspective Paul B. Thompson, 2020-11-09 This 3rd edition of Food and Agricultural Biotechnology in Ethical Perspective updates Thompson's analysis to reflect the next generation of biotechnology including synthetic biology gene editing and gene drives The first two editions of this book published as Food Biotechnology in Ethical Perspective in 1997 and 2007 were the first comprehensive philosophical studies of genetic engineering applied to food systems The book is structured with chapter length treatments of risk in four categories food safety to animals to the environment and socio economic risks These chapters are preceded by two chapters providing orientation to the uses of gene technology in food and agriculture and to the goals methods and background assumptions of technological ethics There is also a chapter covering all four types of risk as applied to the first US technology recombinant bovine somatotropin The last four chapters take up 1 intellectual property debates 2 religious metaphysical and intrinsic objections to biotechnology 3 issues in risk and trust and 4 a review of ethical issues in synthetic biology gene editing and gene drives the three key technologies that have emerged since the book was last revised Paul B. Thompson's Philosophy of Agriculture Samantha Noll, Zachary Piso, 2024-01-01 This book explores the philosophical thought and praxis of Paul B Thompson who planted some of the first seeds of philosophy of agriculture and whose work inspires interdisciplinary scholarship in food ethics biotechnology and environmental philosophy Landmark texts such as The Spirit of the Soil The Agrarian Vision and From Field to Fork revealed the fertility of food systems for inspiring reflection on our relationships to technology the land and one another Rooted in philosophical traditions ranging from pragmatism to post phenomenology Thompson's work nourishes projects in ethics epistemology philosophy of science and social and political theory not only in academic philosophy departments but also in the social and natural sciences This volume collects this diversity of thought in a tour of the many fields of food systems from theorizing the sustainability of agroecological systems to appreciating the quotidian practice of agrarian communities to anticipating the impacts of emerging biotechnology and to savoring the roles that food plays in forming our identities Composed by an international crop of scholars working on the future of food ethics the volume is a vital contribution to scholars and practitioners thinking through our relationships to the food systems that sustain us Food Biotechnology in Ethical Perspective Paul B. Thompson, 2007-05-05 Agrifood biotechnology the genetic transformation of plants and animals through recombinant means has created controversy in the food system for more than twenty years This thoroughly revised and amended edition of Paul B Thompson's path breaking study of ethical and philosophical issues raised by this technology up to date The original 1997 edition was the first book length treatment by a philosopher to focus on food and agricultural biotechnology covering ethical issues associated with risk assessment labelling animal transformation patents and the impact of biotechnology on traditional farming communities in both the developed and developing world The new edition reflects lessons from the hotly contested debates over those issues in the intervening decade and includes wholly new discussions on ethical issues associated with livestock cloning the Precautionary Principle and the transatlantic debate between United States and European perspectives on biotechnology Thompson's unique and insightful approach to addressing the risks and questions of public acceptability associated with novel technology stands as a model for anyone interested in technological innovation and social change The book should be of interest to scholars and citizens interested in the Internet or nanotechnology while it remains an essential resource for understanding the twists and turns of debate over the role of molecular genetics in the transformation of the global food system

Reconstructing biotechnologies Guido Ruivenkamp, Shuji Hisano, Joost Jongerden, 2023-08-28 The main subject of this publication is the co-creation of society and biotechnology The authors do not treat society and biotechnology as separate domains instead they consider technologies as socially constructed The main focus of this publication is on agro biotechnologies and the contributors present perspectives for reconstruction both from and in the North and the South Reconstructing biotechnologies offers a range of critical social analyses confronting the actuality of biotechnology with the potentialities of its social reconstruction In doing that the book develops and merges literature from four different disciplines namely i critical theory and its analyses of technology and power ii political economy critically assessing the interrelationship between economy politics and technology iii social constructivism which holds that technology is the product of agency and knowledge systems and iv the analysis of rural society and agrarian technologies in rural sociology Reconstructing biotechnologies introduces exciting approaches and examples into the social reshaping of biotechnologies It brings together critical examinations of contemporary biotechnology development and puts forward possible alternatives written by critical scholars The contributions in this publication are for students and scholars in a wide range of disciplines such as social and political sciences science and technology studies and development studies The editors of the book are associated with the Social Sciences Department of Wageningen University in the Netherlands and the Graduate School of Economics of Kyoto University in Japan They have published extensively on social and political theory and biotechnology

The Social Epistemology of Engineered Agricultural Ecologies Catherine Kendig, Paul B. Thompson, 2025-08-29 This open access collection of new interdisciplinary essays discusses philosophical and social implications of new biotechnologies methods and tools used in agriculture from a multispecies perspective Contributors employ philosophy sociology and history of agriculture agricultural ethics philosophy of science and science and technology studies to investigate agricultural research farming practice and agricultural policy Chapters explore and critically discuss how mechanical chemical and genetic interventions reshape ecological relationships and agricultural knowledge by relying on case studies of interspecies interactions across different agriculturalized landscapes These include careful examinations of the nature of dynamic causal relationships across microbial macrobial megaf flora and faunal organismal communities exploration of specific coevolved species of pollinators and field crops and analyses of the epistemic and normative commitments that guide crop management decisions and shape methodological choices leading to the reengineering of land use These analyses and case studies are intended to provide readers with a variety of conceptual tools through which the use of agricultural technologies might possibly be understood and debated

The Ethics of Intensification Paul B. Thompson, 2008-09-19 The Ethics of Agricultural Intensification An Interdisciplinary and International Conversation Paul B Thompson and John Otieno Ouko Global agriculture faces a number of challenges as the world approaches the second decade of the third millennium Predictions unilaterally indicate dramatic increases in world population between 2010 and 2030 and a trend in developing countries toward greater consumption of animal products could multiply the need for production of basic grains even further Although global food production in 2000 was estimated to be adequate for the existing population hunger and malnutrition are persistent problems that have led decision makers to recognize that increasing food production in specific regions may be the most effective way to address food security for impoverished peoples At the same time there will need to be policy adjustments that improve poor people's access to current food supplies without simultaneously undercutting the ability of local producers to obtain needed cash income What is more the uncertain effects of global climate change on agricultural ecosystems complicate planning for this process while poorly understood processes of globalization create additional unknowns from the side of social systems In short despite surpluses in many parts of the developed world finding ways to increase food production on both selected regional and a total global basis remains a priority for many farmers policy makers and agricultural researchers

The Conspiracy of Life Jason M. Wirth, 2012-02-01 The Conspiracy of Life offers a series of meditations on the philosophy of F W J Schelling 1775 1854 a great and greatly neglected philosopher of life Rather than construing him as a loopy mystic or as an antiquated theologian Jason M Wirth attempts to locate Schelling as the belated contemporary of thinkers like Heidegger Derrida Bataille Irigaray Foucault Deleuze Levinas and many others As such Schelling is already at the central nerve of current discussions concerning the crisis of truth the primacy of the Good the ecstatic nature of time the nature of art deep ecology the world as an aesthetic phenomenon comparative philosophy the possibility of non dialectical philosophy radical evil the haunting of philosophy and the possibility of a philosophical religion

The Routledge Handbook of Animal Ethics Bob Fischer, 2019-12-06 There isn't one conversation about animal ethics Instead there are several important ones that are scattered across many disciplines This volume both surveys the field of animal ethics and draws professional philosophers graduate students and undergraduates more deeply into the discussions that are happening outside of philosophy departments To that end the volume contains more nonphilosophers than philosophers explicitly inviting scholars from other fields such as animal science ecology economics psychology law environmental science and applied biology among others to bring their own disciplinary resources to bear on matters that affect animals The Routledge Handbook of Animal

Ethics is composed of 44 chapters all appearing in print here for the first time and organized into the following six sections I Thinking About Animals II Animal Agriculture and Hunting III Animal Research and Genetic Engineering IV Companion Animals V Wild Animals Conservation Management and Ethics VI Animal Activism The chapters are brief and they have been written in a way that is accessible to serious undergraduate students regardless of their field of study The volume covers everything from animal cognition to the state of current fisheries from genetic modification to intersection animal activism It is a resource designed for anyone interested in the moral issues that emerge from human interactions with animals

Food, Farming and Religion Gretel Van Wieren, 2018-04-24 Although the religious and ethical consideration of food and eating is not a new phenomenon the debate about food and eating today is distinctly different from most of what has preceded it in the history of Western culture Yet the field of environmental ethics especially religious approaches to environmental ethics has been slow to see food and agriculture as topics worthy of analysis This book examines how religious traditions and communities in the United States and beyond are responding to critical environmental ethical issues posed by the global food system In particular it looks at the responses that have developed within Jewish

Christian and Islamic traditions and shows how they relate to arguments and approaches in the broader study of food and environmental ethics It considers topics such as land degradation and restoration genetically modified organisms and seed consolidation animal welfare water use access pollution and climate and weaves consideration of human wellbeing and justice throughout In doing so Gretel Van Wieren proposes a model for conceptualizing agricultural and food practices in sacred terms This book will appeal to a wide and interdisciplinary audience including those interested in environment and sustainability food studies ethics and religion The Yearbook of European Environmental Law Thijs Etty, Han
