The Ever Transcending Spirit The Psychology Of Human Relationships Consciousness And Development:

The Ever-Transcending Spirit Toru Sato, 2003 The quality of our life is really just a reflection of the quality of our internal state of mind Our internal state of mind is a reflection of where we are in our maturation process Where most of us are in our maturation process is a reflection of where we are in the process of evolution Open your hearts and take a fascinating tour that illuminates the common thread to the meaning of our existence Scholars of the arts social sciences and natural sciences have been studying the human mind its development and its evolution for many centuries Discover the commonalities of what these people have found and rediscover the simple beauty of life This book provides us with exceptional insights concerning why we are the way we are especially in the realm of human relationships consciousness and development It also provides us with insights about how we can break out of our shells and take the next step in our relationships and personal development so that we can make a positive contribution to the process of evolution

Blubberland E. M. Farrelly, 2008-02-08 A leading critic examines the connections between obesity and architecture unchecked sprawl and unchecked appetites and other forms of insatiability that are hurting our planet and bodies Welcome to Blubberland a world of quadruple garaged mansions vast malls gated communities stretch limos and posh resorts Blubberland is a place but it is also a state of mind we expect to be happy trophy house SUV in the driveway home entertainment system pension fund cosmetic surgery but in fact we've grown increasingly bloated bored and miserable In Blubberland award winning critic Elizabeth Farrelly looks at our superfluous superfluity our huge eco footprint and asks why we find it so hard to abandon habits we know to be destructive Why can't we build human scale cities design meaningful public spaces eat reasonable meals and stop assaulting nature Farrelly trained as an architect begins this story with architecture urban sprawl and housing but she does not end there She also looks at affluenza childhood asthma diabetes addiction beauty ugliness narcissism climate change mega churches big box retailers sustainability depression anorexia and the links that collect all of these issues under the same roof the roof as it were of the McMansion As big becomes more and more pervasive and success is seen in increasingly measurable and material terms the goal of happiness jeopardizes our survival Blubberland is a smart thoughtful and stylish argument for turning things around Transcendental

Phenomenological Psychology Jon L. James, 2011-06 From the Preface to the Revised Edition Since its publication in 2007 Transcendental Phenomenological Psychology has been sold on every continent except Antarctica and is in the collections of research libraries in North America Europe and Asia Even so its presentation to the academic community rightly provoked many comments corrections suggestions and criticisms Such input while mostly welcome provided the impetus to publish a revised edition A phenomenological explanation of human consciousness has long been sought in regions of psychology since the discipline was first carved out of philosophical concepts and theories about the human condition In its earliest years Western psychology was faced with two possible directions for this explanation an empirical naturalistic approach along with physics and biology or a non empirical eidetic approach along with logic and mathematics Edmund Husserl took up the latter His phenomenological tradition of inquiry successfully spanned nearly forty years until suddenly stopped and largely suppressed during the Second World War This book recovers Husserl s revolutionary approach toward the human sciences just as it was developed and just as it is presented for further study Here the author systematically gathers what Husserl calls the leading clues in the phenomenological method proper for a psychology of affective inner experience and then for the first time applies Husserl s own methodology for introducing a phenomenological psychology in the transcendental register of human consciousness Unlike contemporary phenomenological psychology in the existential register transcendental phenomenological psychology is presented as an eidetic non empirical act psychology in Husserl s mature genetic phenomenology This novel approach takes in the full range of solipsistic and transcendental subjectivity in Husserl s theories of human consciousness and follows Husserl s lead in presenting phenomenological psychology as an applied geometry of intentional experience within a step wise theory of inquiry This book is unique in human science today not only in its presentation of the development and applications of Husserl s key concepts for the discipline of psychology but also for introducing a psychology that could be intuitively grasped as self evidently valid wherever one s interest might lie
