Princess Casamassima Leckie argues that writers offered a persuasive counterargument for the novel's intervention in social debates. Open Houses returns the architectural idea to the central position it occupied in nineteenth century England and reconfigures how we understand innovations in the genre of the novel, the agitation for social reform and the contours of nineteenth century modernity. Conversations in Cold Rooms Jane Long, 1999. In what ways did gender influence the shape of poverty and of poor women's work in Victorian England? This book explores the problem in the context of nineteenth century Northumberland, examining urban and rural conditions for women, poor relief debates and practices, philanthropic activity, working class cultures and protective intervention in women's employment. ... Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum. Department of Printed Books, 1903. Class Catalogue and Author Index of the Osterhout Free Library, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Osterhout Free Library (Wilkes-Barre, Pa.), 1895. Class Catalogue and Author Index of the Osterhout Free Library, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. 1889 Osterhout Free Library, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 1895. The politics of hunger Carl J. Griffin, 2020-02-18. The 1840s witnessed widespread hunger and malnutrition at home and mass starvation in Ireland. And yet the aptly named Hungry 40s came amidst claims that notwithstanding Malthusian prophecies, absolute biological want had been eliminated in England. The eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries were supposedly the period in which the threat of famine lifted for the peoples of England. But hunger remained: in the words of Marx, an unremitted pressure. The politics of hunger offers the first systematic analysis of the ways in which hunger continued to be experienced and feared, both as a lived and constant spectral presence. It also examines how hunger was increasingly used as a disciplining device in new modes of governing the population. Drawing upon a rich archive, this innovative and conceptually sophisticated study throws new light on how hunger persisted as a political and biological force. Identify and Sort Josef Teboho Ansorge, 2016-06-20. Identify and Sort frames debates about IT in world politics, explaining how industrial sorting systems employed by political actors are renegotiating the social contract between individuals and the state. International Review of Agricultural Economics, 1927. Sanitary Reform in Victorian Britain, Part II vol 6 Michelle Allen-Emerson, Tom Crook, Barbara Leckie, 2021-12-16. Sanitary reform was one of the great debates of the nineteenth century. This reset edition makes available a modern edited collection of rare documents specifically addressing sanitary reform. Each volume will begin with an introduction, and the documents presented have headnotes and endnotes provided. A full index appears in the final volume. Women of the Fields Karen Sayer, 1995. Item describes the work that women did in agriculture as seen in the parliamentary reports of 1843, 1867 and the 1890s, and the meanings given to that work in the local and national press, farming advice books, autobiographies and the art and literature of the period. back cover. The South East from 1000 AD C. B. Phillips, J. H. Smith, 2014-07-22. A volume dealing with the regional and local history of South East England, this covers the landscape and society of the modern counties of Surrey, Kent, East and West Sussex and Greater London south of the Thames from late Anglo-Saxon times to the present. The authors have tried to show the diversity that can be found within the region as well as common characteristics which illustrate the local peculiarities of the area. The works in the series offer a synthesis of both historical and archaeological work in local areas. Each region is covered in two linked but independent volumes: the first covering the period up to AD 1000 and necessarily relying on archaeological data, and the second bringing the story up to modern times. It aims to portray life as it was experienced by the majority of people of South Britain or England as it was to become. The authors look at the major historical events which have an impact on the region: wars, plagues, technological changes, and socio-cultural trends amongst them, but they also stress the underlying continuity of rural and urban life.

Russomania Rebecca Beasley, 2020. Russomania is the first comprehensive account of the breadth and depth of the modernist fascination with Russian and early Soviet culture. It traces Russia's transformative effect on literary and intellectual life in Britain between 1881 and 1922, from the assassination of Alexander II to the formation of the Soviet Union. Studying canonical writers alongside a host of less well-known authors and translators, it provides an archive-rich study of institutions, disciplines, and networks. Book jacket
