

SONNET 147

My love is as a fever, longing still
For that which longer nurseth the disease,
Feeding on that which doth preserve the ill,
Th' uncertain sickly appetite to please.

My reason, the physician to my love,
Angry that his prescriptions are not kept,
Hath left me, and I desperate now approve Desire is death, which physic did except.
Past cure I am, now reason is past care,
And frantic-mad with evermore unrest
My thoughts and my discourse as madmen's are,

At random from the truth vainly expressed
For I have sworn thee fair, and thought thee bright,

Who art as black as hell, as dark as night sympathetically to new angles of research His study is first and foremost an investigation of Coleridge s criticism based on Coleridge s own ideas about language and reading While taking its particular direction from a variety of contemporary literary theories the book is most concerned with how Coleridge s critical prose and theoretical positions anticipate these in an exceptionally complex way The Poetical and Dramatic Works of S.T.
