The Extent Of Singapore's Investments Abroad:

The Extent of Singapore's Investments Abroad Samuel Bassey Okposin, 2019-01-04 First published in 1999 this volume explores extreme openness of the Singaporean economy to international trade through the role of Foreign Direct Investment in Singapore and Singapore's investments abroad. It provides much valuable insight into how changes in the economic and policy environments impacted on the individual Singapore-based firms and their decision-making processes. The book is particularly strong in the manner in which the firm-level material is linked to the overall outflow of capital, the macro-level conditions and the established theoretical explanations for the export of capital. Samuel Bassey Okposin has four aims: to examine the causes of direct investment in Singapore's economy; to investigate the motivation for Singapore firms to invest abroad; to explain overseas direct investment from Singapore; and to examine Singapore's overseas direct investment strategies, strengths, and weaknesses, considering if the current trend of outward direct investment will continue into the new millennium. Singapore's Direct Investment Abroad 1993, 1994 Globalization, Culture and Inequality in Asia

Timothy J. Scrase, Todd Joseph Miles Holden, Scott Baum, 2003. Contemplating globalization from a sociological perspective, it is without doubt that a major site for social, political, economic, and cultural change in the new millennium lies in the Asian region. The chapters in this book seek to describe and analyze a number of key aspects of social and cultural change wrought by globalization in the Asian region. The underlying theme in the book is the multi-dimensional way in which globalization, in the form of ideas, practices, and technology, have introduced social inequalities in specific contexts. In particular, the book examines how inequality has been reproduced, challenged, and theorized in Asia by the advent of globalizing culture. Written by experienced and established scholars, the study provides both theoretical explanation and discussion and analysis of empirical data from a range of social, cultural, and political-economic perspectives and draws on studies from several countries in the region. Outward Foreign Direct Investment in ASEAN Cassey Lee, Sineenat Sermcheep, 2017-02-14

The level of outward foreign direct investment (OFDI) flows from ASEAN countries has increased rapidly in past two decades. This book examines OFDI trends and patterns in the ASEAN region, including the impact of the ASEAN Economic Community. It also provides analyses of country policies affecting OFDI and the drivers of OFDI in Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, and Vietnam. Myanmar is studied as an investment frontier for other ASEAN countries. SPAN background color inherit text decoration inherit white space pre-wrap. The dynamic economies of Southeast Asia have historically been very large recipients of foreign direct investment (FDI). As global capital markets have opened up and these economies have developed their technological and commercial capabilities in more recent years, Southeast Asia has emerged as a significant source of outward FDI both within the region and beyond. This important volume, by a group of leading regional scholars, offers a timely, comprehensive, accessible, and authoritative analysis of this phenomenon. Hal Hill, H. W. Arndt, Professor of Southeast Asian Economies, Arndt Corden Department of Economics, Crawford School of Public Policy, Australian National University. A timely how globalization and the competition to achieve global city status has had a profound effect on all these cities Tokyo is an archetypal world city Singapore Hong Kong and Seoul have acquired world city characteristics Taipei and Kuala Lumpur have been at the centre of expanding economies in which nationalism and global aspirations have been intertwined and expressed in the built environment Beijing Hong Kong and Shanghai have played key sometimes competing roles in China's rapid economic growth Bangkok's amenity economy is currently threatened by political instability while Jakarta and Manila are the core city regions of less developed countries with sluggish economies and significant unrealized potential But how resilient are these cities to the risks that they face How can they manage continuing pressures for development and growth while reducing their vulnerability to a range of potential crises How well prepared are they for climate change How can they build social capital so important to a city's recovery from shocks and disasters What forms of governance and planning are appropriate for the vast mega regions that are emerging And given the tradition of top down centralized state directed planning which drove the economic growth of many of these cities in the last century what prospects are there of them becoming more inclusive and sensitive to the diverse needs of their populations and to the importance of culture heritage and local places in creating liveable cities

The Rise of International Capital Faris Al-Fadhat, 2019-01-09 This book analyzes the social forces and political coalitions driving regional integration projects in Asia with a focus on ASEAN and Indonesian conglomerates It asks which social forces within the domestic political economy of Asian states are driving governments to seek regional arrangements for economic governance In particular the book asks how the emergence reorganization and expansion of capitalist class have conditioned political support for regional economic integration By addressing these issues the book emphasizes that the wellspring of regional economic institution projects stem from the process of capitalist development and the social forces it has unleashed The book s aims place the social and class relations that underpin regional projects rather than the institutions which result from them at the centre of the analysis of regional integration The research for this account draws primarily on primary documents from archival and field research conducted by the author including company documents and in depth interviews government reports and policies and trade publications and data sources which is supplemented with secondary sources where relevant
