The Faith Of A Methodist:

The Faith of a Methodist Eric Baker, 2014-10-15 This Fernley Hartley Lecture represents an avowed attempt by Eric Baker a leading Methodist scholar and statesman to reach the ordinary man in the pew and the street This does not mean that scholarly precision in this important lecture is in any way lacking but simply that the distinguished author has taken pains to express himself as is his wont with clarity and simplicity Baker virtually claims as did John Wesley himself that the faith of a Methodist is just plain Christianity But Wesley was led to emphasize certain aspects of the gospel that had become obscure in the cold and formal eighteenth century salvation by faith conviction the assurance of a new relationship with God the need for holiness in heart and life and the great importance of fellowship and sharing among like minded followers of God Baker sees Wesley s doctrine of Christian Perfection as the central and moving theme of the new evangelical movement and he writes clearly and lucidly upon this doctrine He then examines several of the great doctrines of the faith in the light of this particular emphasis This God given message of the Wesleys is then the theme of Dr Baker s book presented by him in the light of all the tests afforded by the passing two hundred years and in the light of the growth of the world s largest Protestant communion The book cannot fail to be of prime importance both to scholars and to all thinking people The Faith of a
