considered even more important to his legacy than his universally acclaimed works of fiction I don't want to be remembered for One Hundred Years of Solitude or for the Nobel Prize but rather for my journalism Gabriel García Márquez said in the final years of his life And while some of his journalistic writings have been made available over the years this is the first volume to gather a representative selection from across the first four decades of his career years during which he worked as a full time often muckraking and controversial journalist even as he penned the fiction that would bring him the Nobel Prize in 1982 Here are the first pieces he wrote while working for newspapers in the coastal Colombian cities of Cartagena and Barranquilla his longer more fictionlike reportage from Paris and Rome his monthly columns for Spain's El País And while all the work points in style with depth and passion to his fiction these fifty pieces are more than anything a revelation of the writer working at the profession he believed to be the best in the world

Suez 1956: The Inside Story of the First Oil War Barry Turner, 2012-09-26 In October 1956 Britain France and Israel launched an attack on Egypt For each of the contenders there was much more at stake than the future of the Canal None of the combatants in the Suez campaign emerged in glory which may be why in recent years it has been largely relegated to academic studies But the events surrounding the invasion while combining the high drama with elements of political farce that make for a compelling story had a greater impact on world affairs than many more famous conflicts
