Women, War, Violence and Learning Shahrzad Mojab, 2013-09-13 This anthology provides fresh theorization of gendered dimensions of learning war and violence with a view to offering new insights on the impact of violence on women's learning and well being The collection is an important contribution to emerging interdisciplinary approaches to the role and effectiveness of civil society especially women's NGOs working in war and post conflict zones and to the relationship between neoliberal global feminist projects and the re emergence of colonial and imperial feminisms This collection is also an exploration of the plausibility of current peace education strategies augmenting the political and leadership role of women and their civic engagement This collection is designed to create a space for conversation across disciplines on such issues as how to advance our conceptualization of gender related education and conflict how to provide empirically based case studies and transnational analyses that improves our understanding of the impact of war and violence on women's learning and how to contribute to national and international policy analyses to improve education for women and girls through related policy reforms or humanitarian aid programs in post war reconstruction efforts This book was published as a special issue in the International Journal of Lifelong Education

Diversity's Promise for Higher Education Daryl G. Smith, 2015-06-01 Daryl G Smith has devoted her career to studying and fostering diversity in higher education She has witnessed and encouraged the evolution of diversity from an issue addressed sporadically on college campuses to a reality of the modern university experience In Diversity's Promise for Higher Education Smith brings together scholarly and field research relevant to the next generation of diversity work The book argues that achieving excellence in a diverse society requires increasing the institutional capacity for diversity while simultaneously working to understand how diversity is tied to better leadership positive change research in virtually every field student success accountability and more equitable hiring practices To become more relevant to society the nation and the world while remaining true to their core missions colleges and universities must continue to see diversity like technology as central not parallel to their work In Diversity's Promise for Higher Education Smith proposes a set of clear and realistic practices that will help colleges and universities locate diversity as a strategic imperative and pursue diversity efforts that are inclusive of the varied and growing issues apparent on campuses without losing focus on the critical unfinished business of the past. In this edition which is aimed at administrators, faculty, researchers, and students of higher education, Smith emphasizes a transdisciplinary approach to the topic of diversity, drawing on an updated list of sources from a wealth of literatures and fields. The tables have been refreshed to include data on faculty diversity over a twenty-year period, and the book includes new information about gender identity, stereotype threat, student success, the growing role of chief diversity officers, the international emergence of diversity issues, faculty hiring, and implicit bias.

EBOOK: Leadership Gender and Culture in Education John Collard, Cecilia Reynolds, 2004-10-16. This rich explorative book examines the intricacies of gender, sexuality, ethnicity, and class, and how these complex influences weave their patterns in the daily lives of leaders. It achieves the difficult balance between acknowledging differences as well as unifying elements. The book also raises many questions about the context for leadership and examines the central issues of leadership: for what? What are leaders there to do and for whom? To ensure that students achieve higher examination scores or to promote equity and social justice? This book offers many fresh insights into these and other important questions. Professor Kathryn Riley, Institute of Education, University of London. This book features chapters by leading international scholars on gender and educational leadership. Drawing on research in schools in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Sweden, the United States, and Canada, it introduces new discussions about the impact of gender, race, class, institutional setting, and recent ideologies on leadership discourses. The book shows how early research has over-emphasized gender stereotypes and tended to simplify and polarize the ways men and women lead. Looking at differences and similarities in how men and women take on and exercise leadership roles, the authors counter essentialist claims based on biological, psychological, and sociological theories that stress gender difference. The discussions employ sophisticated understandings of gender relations and leadership discourses in today's globalized context. The book is for students and scholars studying leadership and for leaders in different educational contexts around the world.

Forging a Rewarding Career in the Humanities Karla P. Zepeda, Ellen Mayock, 2014-11-26. As has been abundantly documented in the popular and academic press, the humanities are facing challenging times marked by national debate regarding the importance of the humanities in higher education, program and budget cuts, and an ever-decreasing number of tenure-track jobs. In addition, the humanities face quite literally a quantification of their value as the Academy adopts a more corporate mindset. This volume provides advice to professionals in the humanities on how to forge a useful, compelling, and productive career. The book's 13 chapters address professional approaches to developing and maintaining an active research agenda, fomenting the ideals of the teacher-scholar model, managing the service demands within and outside the college or university, and navigating institutional politics. The collection offers practical and theoretical approaches to higher education, personal anecdotes, intelligent advice, and interviews with colleagues in the humanities. Specific themes addressed include the transition from graduate student to humanities professional, diverging from prescribed paths, the humanities professor as creative writer moving from secondary to post secondary education humanities in an international market based context and participation in governance structures Cover photograph Silent Flutes by Adilia D Ortega

Demystifying Career Paths after Graduate School Ryuko Kubota,Yilin Sun,2013-01-01 This edited book offers concrete information and useful suggestions to graduate students who are seeking employment at institutions of higher education in North America and other parts of the world This book also targets entry level faculty members who are exploring increased participation in professional activities The book features critical turning points in career trajectories demystifies hidden institutional structures and illuminates blind spots that are critical for career success The authors are scholars from nonnative English speaking and or racially minority backgrounds in the fields of applied linguistics and teaching English to speakers of other languages The firsthand suggestions offered by these authors are also applicable to non minority professionals and those in other related disciplines Furthermore the book assists faculty mentors and administrators to understand the unique challenges and issues faced by minority professionals Distinctive features of the book are 1 theme based approach with concrete examples and specific advice 2 focus on victory narratives of success and strategies rather than victim narratives of struggles 3 accessible style and 4 wide range of experiences narrated by both novice and established scholars This guidebook can be read independently or adopted as a resource book for graduate seminars

Martin, 2011-09-22 This up to date candid examination of women s careers in education and leadership in education describes the pitfalls triumphs and future promise of female leaders in education Overall education is a field still dominated by women yet women do not typically pursue or attain leadership positions at the administrative level Research has revealed some of the reasons for this women still experience gender discrimination in education careers experience higher attrition rates and have slower career mobility than do men Additionally women in education are apparently less valued and their performance is more critically evaluated as in other fields This insightful text shows the gender based inequities and discrimination women face when aiming for leadership positions in education and lays out a plan to bring success to this level of the field that is still male dominated Women as Leaders in Education Succeeding Despite Inequity Discrimination and Other Challenges is the result of a team of leading feminist educators and scholars It delves into feminist women s leadership in education from kindergarten to graduate school This two volume work assesses the historical and current political landscape with regard to women hitting a glass ceiling issues of social justice and the unique challenges women face in educational leadership as well as the new field of teacher leadership Encyclopedia of Diversity in Education James A. Banks, 2012-05-17 The diversity education literature both nationally and internationally is broad and diffuse Consequently there needs to be a systematic and logical way to organize and present the state of research for students and professionals

American citizens need to understand the dynamics of their increasingly diverse communities and institutions and the global world in which we live work and lead With continually evolving information on diversity policies practices and programs it is important to have one place where students scholars teachers and policymakers can examine and explore research policy and practice issues and find answers to important questions about how diversity in U S education enriched with theories research and practices in other nations are explained and communicated and how they affect institutional change at both the K 12 and postsecondary levels With about 700 signed entries with cross references and recommended readings the Encyclopedia of Diversity in Education 4 volumes in both print and electronic formats will present research and statistics case studies and best practices policies and programs at pre and postsecondary levels Diversity is a worldwide phenomenon and while most of the entries in the Encyclopedia will focus on the United States diversity issues and developments in nations around the world including the United States are intricately connected Consequently to illuminate the many aspects of diversity this volume will contain entries from different nations in the world in order to illuminate the myriad aspects of diversity From A to Z this Encyclopedia will cover the full spectrum of diversity issues including race class gender religion language exceptionality and the global dimensions of diversity as they relate to education This four volume reference work will be the definitive reference for diversity issues in education in the United States and the world

The Duality of Women Scholars of Color Beverly Irby, Gaëtane Jean-Marie, Cosette M. Grant, 2014-03-01 The seven chapters address long standing concerns from first hand perspectives regarding women of color faculty in the academy the marginalization of women of color scholars in the academy and the benefits of mentoring support Discussion of such are threaded throughout this book Mentoring has been a practice of leadership since Greek times and research has documented the advantages of mentoring Aligned with the authors espoused mentoring perspectives in this book is the coined concept of synergistic mentoring Accordingly Synergistic mentoring is defined as a mentor and mentee working together collaboratively to a generate a greater good for both b integrate diverse perspectives into the context and c construct together an otherwise unattainable goal attempted independently The authors of this book seek to enlighten dynamic and critical discussions by and about women of color in the academy Conceivably the most intriguing part of each chapter is the methodological approaches used to address race gender and social justice in the academy Qualitative methods dominate the chapters with effective use of personal narratives and the lived experiences of the participants The voices of those often ignored or forgotten are examined building on the legacy of women of color in the academy who paved the way for this generation and future scholars of color Moreover the chapters presented herein challenge assumptions perspectives and beliefs about the significance of women of color scholars in the academy They are provocative and provide direction for future research that advance knowledge and understanding for a better society based on social justice equity and equal opportunity They also give voice to both the shared diverse and common experiences of this group of women scholars of color and provide useful
