Terra Cotta Soldiers:

Terra Cotta Warriors Jane Portal, 2008 The terra cotta army of Qin Shihuangdi the First Emperor of China c. 221-210 BC is one of the most spectacular finds in world archaeology. It was discovered by chance in 1974 a garrison in battle ready formation spread across a number of pits. Here were life sized warriors made over two thousand years ago from fired clay cavalry archers and infantry lowly foot soldiers and high ranking officers figures of varying ages with different hairstyles and facial expressions and seemingly representing every racial group in China more than 6 000 in all. But who was this powerful Emperor of the Qin Dynasty who needed such an army to guard him in the afterlife? How were the figures made? How could they have been manufactured on such a vast scale? Beautifully illustrated and based on the latest research this little book provides a perfect introduction to what has often been described as the eighth Wonder of the World. BOOK JACKET

The Emperor's Silent Army Jane O'Connor, 2002-04-15 Lintong County, People's Republic of China, March 1974. Three farmers are digging a well when suddenly their shovels hit something hard. It is a clay head of a man who stares back at them, open-eyed and amazingly real-looking. The farmers have never seen anything like it; neither have the archaeologists who arrive and begin to uncover more and more pottery men, first dozens, then hundreds, and eventually thousands. Buried for more than 2 200 years, they are soldiers, life size as well as life like, and they stand at attention as if waiting for the command to charge into battle. The only thing missing is their weapons, and soon those are found too: thousands of real bronze swords, daggers, and arrowheads, still so sharp they can split a hair. Now, after almost thirty years of ongoing excavation, a buried army of 7 500 terracotta soldiers and horses has emerged. And this site, that three farmers accidentally stumbled upon, ranks along with the Great Pyramids in Egypt as one of the true wonders of the ancient world. The Emperor's Silent Army features more than forty full color photos that showcase the terracotta troops. A vivid and engaging text tells all about the army, as well as the extraordinary story of the men who commanded its creation, the ruthless and tyrannical first emperor of China. The Terracotta Army of the First

concept and execution unmentioned in any source no sooner buried than destroyed and forgotten Why so realistic Why this many Why full size Why clay The initial inspiration was the need to duplicate a new force of which the main element was infantry conscripted from the emperor's newly acquired masses of peasants and protected not with custom made armor but with scales of leather and simple standardized weapons It was the combination of archers infantry and charioteers this particular balance between officers and men that had enabled the First Emperor to unify the nation John Man The Terracotta Army China's First Emperor and the Birth of a Nation China has always fascinated outsiders much in the same way that distant light fascinates someone looking down a dark road It is both familiar and mysterious ancient and new and fully understanding it seems to always remain just out of reach From the Great Wall to the ancient teachings of Confucius China's natural and man made wonders have been topics of interest among Westerners since the Middle Ages and the pursuit of trade routes both by land and sea amazing Marco Polo and 19th century British expeditions in similar ways despite the passage of several centuries between them For these reasons it comes as little surprise that people across the world were excited when it was revealed in 1974 that archaeologists had uncovered a new and amazing find an underground army consisting of thousands of clay soldiers still standing at their posts despite being over 2 000 years old In addition to the remarkable feats of craftsmanship and the almost unimaginable size and scale of the Terracotta Army the sculpted statues seemed to bear testimony of something that modern people could not quite wrap their minds around representing a time when China was born almost 200 years before Christ The hope for many was that this remarkable army could reveal the secrets of China's first emperor Qin Shi Huang a man who united seven warring tribes into one of the most powerful nations on earth Even as research continues 40 years after the initial find some of the facts about the Terracotta Army are staggering It's estimated that the army consists of 8 000 soldiers 130 chariots and hundreds of horses and cavalry all of which were sculpted on a mass scale by various factories but were subsequently molded to feature their own unique appearances separate of one another As if that wasn't enough there are also terracotta sculptures of acrobats servants and musicians and the sculptures were painted though most of the paint has faded away over time This impressive horde of funerary art was buried with Qin Shi Huang to serve him in the afterlife much the same way Egyptian pyramids were constructed for pharaohs While the sculptures comprising the Terracotta Army are impressive as a work of art they have indeed proven to be an invaluable historical source as well Thanks to collections of weapons buried with the sculptures as well as the shapes and sizes of the various military equipment historians can get a sense of what Qin Shi Huang had at his disposal when he fought battles and the Terracotta Army itself is even organized based on military rank allowing historians a chance to understand ancient Chinese military formations The Terracotta Army The History of Ancient China's Famous Terracotta Warriors and Horses chronicles the history of the Chinese emperor who commissioned them and a description of the famous funerary art Along with pictures of important people places and events you will learn about the Terracotta Army like never before

Terracotta Warriors Guolong Lai, 2011 This catalog sets the Terracotta warriors in a wider context by examining art of the Qin state in the period that led to the unification of China

Emperor Qin's Terra Cotta Army Michael Capek, 2008-01-01 A dead emperor guarded by his army for 2 000 years One day in 1974 a group of farmers in rural China found a life size clay statue of a man's head buried deep in a field When government archaeologists inspected the area they discovered that beneath the ground were more than eight thousand life size clay soldiers each one with a unique face In nearby chambers they unearthed clay horses carefully preserved swords bronze statues and other astonishing things Where did these treasures come from And why were they buried Slowly the story revealed itself It centered around Qin Shi Huangdi the first emperor of China who died in 210 B C For forty years leading up to his death thousands of artists from across China had sculpted an enormous city where he would be buried guarded and protected by thousands of clay soldiers This city remained hidden for over two thousand years This important archaeological find offers amazing insight into the civilization of ancient China

The Terracotta Army Gary Geddes, 1984 In 1985 Gary Geddes won the Commonwealth Poetry Prize Americas Region for The Terracotta Army a brilliant sequence of his Chinese sonnets The nine couplet poems were inspired by his 1981 visit to the archaeological site in China where more than 8 000 individually sculpted life sized soldiers and horses were interred in the third century to accompany Emperor Ch in Shi Huang Di into the afterlife In this ideologically charged volume Geddes gives voice to a few soldiers who engage in myriad debates about the abuse of power the yin yang dance of narrative and silence and the sanctity of the idiosyncratic self in the face of conformity This new edition of The Terracotta Army published to coincide with the Canadian tour of The Warrior Emperor and China's Terracotta Army opening at the ROM in late June 2010 pairs Geddes poems with photographs of the terracotta soldiers
