Heritage Vintage Movie Photography & Stills Auction #7003 , Mediated Misogynoir Kalima Young,2022-06-06 To be considered innocent is to be viewed as vulnerable to harm and worthy of protection from harm An innocent person's pain is recognized acknowledged and addressed Mediated Misogynoir Erasing Black Women's and Girls' Innocence in the Public Imagination interrogates contemporary media culture to illuminate the ways the intersections of anti blackness and misogyny i.e. misogynoir converge to obscure public perceptions of Black women and girls as people with any claim to innocence When pained images of Black female bodies appear on media devices the socio political responses are telling not only in their lack of urgency but also in their inability to be read empathetically By examining viral videos memes and recent film and television Kalima Young makes a striking case for the need to create a new Black feminist media studies framework broad enough to hold the complexity and agency of Black women and girls in a digital age invested in framing them as inherently adulterated and impure

Post-Soul Black Cinema William R. Grant,2004-08-02 This work examines and analyzes how the cinematic image of African Americans became a fixed image with strict rules of depiction both written and unwritten And how those very limited and under informed images would not and could not be challenged or transformed until the power relations in the American film industry began to change and afforded blacks the opportunity at the very least to tell stories from an informed position

Science in the Media Paul R Brewer,Barbara L Ley,2021-09-30 This timely and accessible text shows how portrayals of science in popular media including television movies and social media influence public attitudes around messages from the scientific community affect the kinds of research that receive support and inform perceptions of who can become a scientist. The book builds on theories of cultivation, priming, framing, and media models while drawing on years of content analyses, national surveys, and experiments. A wide variety of media genres from Hollywood blockbusters and prime time television shows to cable news channels and satirical comedy programs, science documentaries, and children's cartoons to Facebook posts and YouTube videos are explored with rigorous social science research and an engaging, accessible style. Case studies on climate change, vaccines, genetically modified foods, evolution, space exploration, and forensic DNA testing are presented alongside reflections on media stereotypes and disparities in terms of gender, race, and other social identities. Science in the Media illuminates how scientists and media producers can bridge gaps between the scientific community and the public, foster engagement with science, and promote an inclusive vision of science while also highlighting how readers themselves can become more active and critical consumers of media messages about science. Science in the Media serves as a supplemental text for courses in science communication and media studies and will be of interest to anyone concerned with publicly engaged science.

Hinkle Fieldhouse Eric Angevine, 2015-03-02 Walk into Hinkle Fieldhouse and you feel it: that palpable sense of history. Known as the Hinkle mystique, Indiana's basketball cathedral has stood in all its glory at Butler University since 1928. John Wooden, Oscar Robertson, and Larry Bird played on its floor. Jesse Owens sprinted to a record at Hinkle, and athletes from around the globe have brought Olympic level competition to crowds gathered under its steel arches. It was the setting for the climactic scene in Hoosiers, arguably the greatest sports movie ever made. It has hosted evangelists, ice shows, tennis matches, bike races, and even roller derbies. Author Eric Angevine gets inside the paint in this complete Hinkle history, featuring archival photographs of the iconic structure and words from those who know it best.
