Panich, 2021-04-13 Narratives of Persistence charts the remarkable persistence of California s Ohlone and Paipai people over the past five centuries Lee M Panich draws connections between the events and processes of the deeper past and the way the Ohlone and Paipai today understand their own histories and identities Uninvited Neighbors Herbert G.

Ruffin, 2014-03-28 In the late 1960s African American protests and Black Power demonstrations in California s Santa Clara County including what s now called Silicon Valley took many observers by surprise After all as far back as the 1890s the California constitution had legally abolished most forms of racial discrimination and subsequent legal reform had surely taken care of the rest White Americans might even have wondered where the black activists in the late sixties were coming from because beginning with the writings of Fredrick Jackson Turner the most influential histories of the American West simply left out African Americans or later portrayed them as a passive and insignificant presence Uninvited Neighbors puts black people back into the picture and dispels cherished myths about California s racial history Reaching from the Spanish era to the valley s emergence as a center of the high tech industry this is the first comprehensive history of the African American experience in the Santa Clara Valley Author Herbert G Ruffin II s study presents the black experience in a new way with a focus on how despite their smaller numbers and obscure presence African Americans in the South Bay forged communities that had a regional and national impact disproportionate to their population As the region industrialized and spawned suburbs during and after World War II its black citizens built institutions such as churches social clubs and civil rights organizations and challenged socioeconomic restrictions Ruffin explores the quest of the area s black people for the postwar American Dream The book also addresses the scattering of the black community during the region s late yet rapid urban growth after 1950 which led to the creation of several distinct black suburban communities clustered in metropolitan San Jose Ruffin treats people of color as agents of their own development and survival in a region that was always multiracial and where slavery and Jim Crow did not predominate but where the white embrace of racial justice and equality was often insincere The result offers a new view of the intersection of African American history and the history of the American West

Reshaping the World Ana Díaz, 2020-04-01 Reshaping the World is a nuanced exploration of the plurality complexity and adaptability of Precolumbian and colonial era Mesoamerican cosmological models and the ways in which anthropologists and historians have used colonial and indigenous texts to understand these models in the past Since the early twentieth century it has been popularly accepted that the Precolumbian Mesoamerican cosmological model comprised nine fixed layers of underworld and thirteen fixed layers of heavens This layered model which bears a close structural resemblance to a number of Eurasian cosmological models derived in large part from scholars reliance on colonial texts such as the post Spanish Conquest Codex Vaticanus A and Florentine Codex By reanalyzing and recontextualizing both indigenous and colonial texts and imagery in nine case studies examining Maya Zapotec Nahua and Huichol cultures the contributors discuss and challenge the commonly accepted notion that the cosmos was a static structure of superimposed levels unrelated to and unaffected by historical events and human actions Instead Mesoamerican cosmology consisted of a multitude of cosmographic repertoires that operated simultaneously as a result of historical circumstances and regional variations These spaces were and are dynamic elements shaped defined and redefined throughout the course of human history Indigenous cosmographies could be subdivided and organized in complex and diverse arrangements as components in a dynamic interplay which cannot be adequately understood if the cosmological discourse is reduced to a superposition of nine and thirteen levels Unlike previous studies which focus on the reconstruction of a pan Mesoamerican cosmological model Reshaping the World shows how the movement of people ideas and objects in New Spain and neighboring regions produced a deep reconfiguration of Prehispanic cosmological and social structures enriching them with new conceptions of space and time The volume exposes the reciprocal influences of Mesoamerican and European theologies during the colonial era offering expansive new ways of understanding Mesoamerican models of the cosmos Contributors Sergio Botta Ana D az Kerry Hull Katarzyna Mikulska Johannes Neurath Jesper Nielsen Toke Sellner Reunert David Tav rez Alexander Tokovinine Gabrielle Vail More Studies in Rio Grande Valley History Milo Kearney, Anthony K.
