The Sense of Community in French Caribbean Fiction Celia Britton, 2010-01-01 This groundbreaking book analyzes the theme of community in seven French Caribbean novels in relation to the work of the French philosopher Jean Luc Nancy. The complex history of the islands means that community is often a central and problematic issue in their literature underlying a range of other questions such as political agency individual and collective subjectivity attitudes towards the past and the future and even the literary form itself. Celia Britton here studies a range of key books from the region including douard Glissant's Le Quatrième Siècle, Patrick Chamoiseau's Texaco, Daniel Maximin's L'Ile et une nuit and Vincent Placoly's L'eau de mort among others. Caribbean Writers / Les auteurs Caraïbés, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology. Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities. The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate. Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world. Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print. Callaloo, 1992 A Black South journal of arts and letters.

premiers textes pris en considération ont tout les récits de voyage rapportés par les navigateurs et les explorateurs qui depuis l'Antiquité ont parcouru le monde en tentant de dresser les cartes. La lecture de ces textes nous minaux a tout naturellement incité nombre de romanciers modernes à lancer plus ou moins métaphoriquement la découverte des terres encore mal connues. Pris occupés au plus haut point par les problèmes de forme, ces romanciers du monde affichent avec fierté une maîtrise impeccable des langues des colonisateurs qu'ils considèrent maintenant comme des butins de guerre. Fanon Ce faisant, ils se octroient avec jubilation la possibilité de se livrer des expérimentations qui libèrent leur parole et criture ironique de certains textes canoniques comme Robinson Crusoe de Defoe ou Au cœur des temps de Conrad analyses très poussées de leurs statuts ambiguës de bâts internationaux intégrations spectaculaires de mots vernaculaires utilisations systématiques des parlers populaires glorification du discours poétique ancestral adoption du réalisme magique sud-américain et de son criture de l'imaginaire etc. Motivés à la fois par un vibrant militantisme sociopolitique et une profonde adhésion humaniste, l'esthétique de la Relation Glissant ces romanciers sont parvenus à imposer une littérature qui donne enfin à Autre et à Ailleurs la place qui leur revient dans ce nouveau Nouveau monde. Women rarely control physical or social space directly. Positing the thesis that women's writing of Francophone Africa and the Caribbean offers important perspectives on the relationship of gender to space. Writing from the Hearth proposes close readings of Francophone women writers of Africa Aoua Kéita Mariama Bâ, Ken Bugul Calixthe Beyala and Aminata Sow Fall and the Caribbean Marie Chauvet Simon Schwarz Bart Maryse Condé et Edwidge Danticat. As critical readings of postcolonial African and Caribbean literature show that tropes of confinement appear frequently in female authored texts where home is often depicted as a place of alienation, this critical study examines ambiguities associated with domestic space as enclosure as it explores the relationship between the female protagonist and the inner and outer spaces of her world domestic imaginative and public space. Writing from the Hearth probes the hypothesis that the female protagonist can move toward empowerment by entering public space from which she has been excluded by indigenous patriarchs and European colonizers and by establishing a new relationship to domestic space or securing a liberating alternative space within it. Flexible and multipurpose alternative space is a place of possibilities that can function
