Emotion Concepts of the Ibans in Sarawak Lilly Metom, 2013-01-31 This book explains the emotion concepts of the Ibans one of the indigenous peoples in Sarawak Malaysia It is an outcome of a research study which aims to analyse the Iban emotion concepts utilizing Natural Semantic Metalanguage NSM an analytical tool developed by Anna Wierzbicka 1991 and the concrete abstract cultural continuum framework a framework introduced by J Vin DCruz and G Tham 1993 and later J Vin DCruz and William Steele 2000 NSM enables emotion terminologies in Iban to be explicated and further defined along the concrete abstract cultural continuum framework The respondents of this study were the village community of Sbangki Panjai a longhouse located in Lubok Antu Sarawak The findings reveal the core cultural values that underlie the peoples behaviours in the ways they express their emotions The complex rules of logic called adat and the rules of speaking in this speech community are discussed in detail in this book which explain the Ibans communicative behaviours Although the semantic analysis of the emotion words is exhaustive and comprehensive it is necessary in order to reveal the complete meaning of the emotions being examined without creating ethnocentric bias Thus this book essentially describes how the Ibans relate themselves to others in their interaction

The Ending of Tribal Wars Jürg Helbling, Tobias Schwoerer, 2021-03-24 All over the world and throughout millennia states have attempted to subjugate control and dominate non state populations and to end their wars This book compares such processes of pacification leading to the end of tribal warfare in seven societies from all over the world between the 19th and 21st centuries It shows that pacification cannot be understood solely as a unilateral imposition of state control but needs to be approached as the result of specific interactions between state actors and non state local groups Indigenous groups usually had options in deciding between accepting and resisting state control State actors often had to make concessions or form alliances with indigenous groups in order to pursue their goals Incentives given to local groups sometimes played a more important role in ending warfare than repression In this way indigenous groups in interaction with state actors strongly shaped the character of the process of pacification This volume s comparison finds that pacification is more successful and more durable where state actors mainly focus on selective incentives for local groups to renounce warfare offer protection and only as a last resort use moderate repression combined with the quick establishment of effective institutions for peaceful conflict settlement The Iban of Sarawak Under Brooke Rule, 1841-1941 Robert Maxwell Pringle,1967 Cultural Change, Adaptation, and Natural Resource Use by the Iban of Sarawak, Malaysia Baku Takahashi,2003 Report on the Iban Derek Freedman,2021-01-07

The Iban or the Sea Dayaks of Sarawak have probably been the best known of the indigenous peoples of Borneo for well over a century Much has been written about them but until the results of Dr Freeman s field research were published by the Government of Sarawak and by Her Majesty s Stationery Office in 1955 there was little information on their methods of agriculture and their social system The book has become a landmark in the studies of shifting cultivation and of cognatic kinship organization and the ideas around which it is written have proved over the years to be a continuing and powerful stimulus in the development of kinship theory The field work on which the account is based was undertaken from 1949 to 1951 Although fundamental changes have taken place in the life of the Iban since the book was first published it has been decided to republish it substantially unaltered Media and Nation Building John Postill,2006 With the end of the Cold War and the proliferation of civil wars and regime changes the question of nation building has acquired great practical and theoretical urgency From Eastern Europe to East Timor Afghanistan and recently Iraq the United States and its allies have often been accused of shirking their nation building responsibilities as their attention and that of the media turned to yet another regional crisis While much has been written about the growing influence of television and the Internet on modern warfare little is known about the relationship between media and nation building This book explores for the first time this relationship by means of a paradigmatic case of successful nation building Malaysia Based on extended fieldwork and historical research the author follows the diffusion adoption and social uses of media among the Iban of Sarawak in Malaysian Borneo and demonstrates the wide ranging process of nation building that has accompanied the Iban adoption of radio clocks print media and television In less than four decades Iban longhouses villages under one roof have become media organizations shaped by the official ideology of Malaysia a country hastily formed in 1963 by conjoining four disparate territories Report on the Iban of Sarawak ,1955 At the Edges of States Michael Eilenberg,2012-01-01 Set in West Kalimantan Indonesian Borneo this study explores the shifting relationships between border communities and the state along the political border with East Malaysia The book rests on the premise that remote border regions offer an exciting study arena that can tell us important things about how marginal citizens relate to their nation state The basic assumption is that central state authority in the Indonesian borderlands has never been absolute but waxes and wanes and state rules and laws are always up for local interpretation and negotiation In its role as key symbol of state sovereignty the borderland has become a place where central state authorities are often most eager to govern and exercise power. But as illustrated, the borderland is also a place where state authority is most likely to be challenged, questioned, and manipulated, as border communities often have multiple loyalties that transcend state borders and contradict imaginations of the state as guardians of national sovereignty and citizenship.

Discourses, Agency and Identity in Malaysia Zawawi Ibrahim, Gareth Richards, Victor T. King, 2021-10-23

This book seeks to break new ground both empirically and conceptually in examining discourses of identity formation and the agency of critical social practices in Malaysia. Taking an inclusive cultural studies perspective, it questions the ideological narrative of race and ethnicity that dominates explanations of conflicts and cleavages in the Malaysian context. The contributions are organised in three broad themes: Identities in Contestation, Borders, Complexities, and Hybridities. It takes a range of empirical studies, literary translation, religion, gender, ethnicity, indigeneity, and sexual orientation to break down preconceived notions of fixed identities. This then opens up an examination of Identities and Movements, Agency and Alternative Discourses, in which contributors deal with counter-hegemonic social movements of anti-racism, young people, environmentalism, and independent publishing that explicitly seek to open up greater critical democratic space within the Malaysian polity. The third section, Identities and Narratives, Culture and the Media, then provides a close textual reading of some exemplars of new cultural and media practices found in oral testimonies, popular music, film, radio programming, and storytelling, who have consciously created bodies of work that question the dominant national narrative. This book is a valuable interdisciplinary work for advanced students and researchers interested in representations of identity and nationhood in Malaysia, and for those with wider interests in the fields of critical cultural studies and discourse analysis. Here is a fresh, startling book to aid the task of unbinding the straitjackets of Malay, Chinese, and Indian, with which colonialism bound Malaysia's plural inheritance, and on which the postcolonial state continues to rely. In it, a panoply of unlikely identities: Bajau liminality, Kelabit philosophy, Islamic feminism, refugee hybridity, and more, finds expression and offers hope for liberation.

Rachel Leow, University of Cambridge

This book shakes the foundations of race thinking in Malaysian studies by expanding the range of cases, perspectives, and outcomes of identity. It offers students of Malaysia an examination of identity and agency that is expansive, critical, and engaging, and its interdisciplinary depth brings Malaysian studies into conversation with scholarship across the world.

Sumit Mandal, University of Nottingham Malaysia

This is a much-needed work that helps us to take apart the colonial inherited categories of race which informed the notion of the plural society, the idea of plurality without multiculturalism. It complicates the picture of identity by bringing in religion, gender, indigeneity, and sexual orientation, and helps us to imagine what a truly multiculturalist Malaysia might look like.
