Gans,2004 Herbert J Gans is the Robert S Lynd Professor of Sociology at Columbia University Book Jacket      The Postwar Decline of American Newspapers, 1945-1965 David R. Davies,2006-07-30 On the surface the American newspaper industry appears to have changed little from 1945 to 1965 remaining both healthy and prosperous The number of newspapers in 1965 was about the same as in 1945 while during the twenty year period advertising revenues increased substantially despite new competition from television Just as in 1945 the vast majority of newspapers went to press with improved but old fashioned letterpress methods in 1965 And newspaper reporters still professed a strong if now somewhat shaken faith in the federal government at the end of the twenty years But the surface appearance of both stability and profitability obscured profound change In the two decades after World War II the business of newspaper publishing changed significantly in myriad ways By 1965 editors and publishers had recognized the extent of these changes and were beginning to adjust Each of the changes was significant of its own accord and the range of challenges throughout the period combined to transform newspapers and the nation they served by 1965 This transformation was evident to varying degrees in newspapers content their production methods their economic position within the overall media marketplace and their relationship with government Newspapers some more than others made strides to keep up with and overcome some of these challenges But in each of these areas newspapers as a group were slow to respond to the problems facing journalism      Journalism Without Profit Magda Konieczna,2018-06-21 As mainstream journalism wanes news nonprofits attempt to fill the gap by providing the kind of quality information that is essential to our democracy This book explores the emergent behaviors of sharing and collaboration that allow them to do so and their potential for success or failure in the 21st century      Monthly Labor Review ,1971 Publishes in depth articles on labor subjects current labor statistics information about current labor contracts and book reviews     The News Media In National And International Conflict Andrew Arno, Wimal Dissanayake, 2019-07-11 Ironically as telecommunications technology the embodiment of modernity advances bringing people in different nations into more direct contact during conflict situations traditional cultural factors become increasingly important as differing ways of thinking and acting collide The mass media can be seen as a factor in the creation of international conflict they also claim many scholars are the key to control and resolution of those problems Whichever side of the coin one chooses to look at mass communication as cause or cure of conflict there is no doubt that the news media are no longer peripheral players on the global scene they are important participants whose organizational patterns of behavior values and motivations must be taken into account in understanding national and international conflict In this volume a distinguished group of authors explores the variety of ways the news media newspapers radio and television are involved in conflict situations Conflicts between the United States and Iran India and Pakistan and the United States and China are examined and national level studies in Sri Lanka Iran Hong Kong and the United States provide varied contexts in which the authors look at the complex interrelationships among government news media and the public in conflict situations     Mass Communication Ralph E. Hanson, 2025-01-07 The best selling Mass Communication Living in a Media World presents a highly accessible introduction to mass communication that equips students with the critical thinking skills to become savvy media consumers To help students better retain the material author Ralph E Hanson uses a storytelling approach that weaves in examples drawn from everyday life Readers are encouraged to consider the media industry from the inside out and in doing so discover the many dimensions of mass communication that operate in our society This newly revised Ninth Edition highlights the aftermath of how the media industry and media consumers have evolved since the global pandemic closely examining the changing the face of media today     Maps with the News Mark Monmonier, 2018-12-01 Maps with the News is a lively assessment of the role of cartography in American journalism Tracing the use of maps in American news reporting from the eighteenth century to the 1980s Mark Monmonier explores why and how journalistic maps have achieved such importance A most welcome and thorough investigation of a neglected aspect of both the history of cartography and modern cartographic practice Mapline A well written scholarly treatment of journalistic cartography It is well researched thoroughly indexed and referenced amply illustrated Judith A Tyner Imago Mundi There is little doubt that Maps with the News should be part of the training and on the desks of all those concerned with producing maps for mass consumption and also on the bookshelves of all journalists graphic artists historians of cartography and geographic educators W G V Balchin Geographical Journal A definitive work on journalistic cartography Virginia Chipperfield Society of University Cartographers Bulletin     The Shadow in the Cave Anthony Smith, 2022-05-29 First published in 1973 The Shadow in the Cave explores the history of broadcasting conflicts and shows how they are built into the very roots of broadcasting Every nation has built into its radio and television system a coded version of anxieties about the nature and effects of mass communication The whole of the culture of broadcasting its genres and its style is an expression of the dilemmas which have bedevilled broadcasting from the moment of its invention. Anthony Smith's book provides for the first time a connected and carefully researched picture of the real issues involved in the debate about broadcasting. This book shows how the argument about levels of taste in broadcasting about balance and fairness about trivialisation control and freedom of access are elements of a gigantic problem which threatens the whole structure of democratic freedom. The book shows some of the path to be taken if broadcasting is not to undermine the basic notion of freedom of expression. Topical, subtle and revealing, this is an important historical document, a must read for scholars and researchers of media studies, news media, media history, mass communication and political studies.

A Short History of Disruptive Journalism Technologies Will Mari, 2019-02-07. A Short History of Disruptive Journalism Technologies provides a swift analysis of the computerization of the newsroom from the mid 1960s through to the early 1990s. It focuses on how word processing and a number of related affordances including mobile reporting tools impacted the daily work routines of American news workers. The narrative opens with the development of mainframes and their attendant use as databases in large daily newspapers. It moves on to the minicomputer era and explores initial news worker experiences with computers for editing and publication. Following this, the book examines the microprocessor era and the rise of smart terminals, microcomputers and off the shelf hardware software along with the increasing use of computers in smaller news organizations. Mari then turns to the use of pre internet networks, wire services and bulletin boards deployed for user interaction. He looks at the integration of decentralized computer networks in newsrooms with a mix of content management systems and PCs and the increasing use of pagers and cellphones for news gathering including the shift from portable to mobile conceptualizations for these technologies. A Short History of Disruptive Journalism Technologies is an illuminating survey for students and instructors of journalism studies. It represents an important acknowledgement of the impact of pre internet technological disruptions which led to the even more disruptive internet and related computing technologies in the latter 1990s and through the present.

Paradigms Lost William Sonn, 2006-02-14. Four times in western history in the 1400s, the early 1800s, the 1880s and again in the mid 20th century we learned to duplicate and disseminate the printed word more cheaply. And each time strange events followed. For with each of these changes in the gritty production of glamorous content, expensive and secret bodies of knowledge abruptly became cheap and easy to spread. Once rare and sometimes disorienting impressions rained down on once sheltered folks. New and otherwise inexperienced hands mixed them into whole new breeds of information, myth, logic and viewpoints. There were fantastic scientific advances, mass migrations, bold social experiments, financial upheavals and much bloodshed. In the harrowing decades that followed, powerful new kinds of governments, businesses and groups came to elbow aside old ones. In all of these periods there were great creaking shifts in politics, wealth, religions and even the way we learn, think and see. And in the last decade the costs of producing and distributing printed knowledge have fallen a fifth time, far and fast, and almost to free. Paradigms Lost traces the history of the
