Durosaiye,2020-05-12 A selection of papers from the proceedings of the Third OIKONET Conference is contained in this book OIKONET is a European project co funded by the Education Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency EACEA with the purpose of studying contemporary housing from a multidisciplinary and global perspective by encompassing the multiple dimensions which condition the forms of dwelling in today s societies architectural urban environmental economic cultural and social Following on from the first two OIKONET conferences held respectively in Barcelona Spain in 2014 and Bratislava Slovakia in 2015 the third conference took place in Manchester the UK in 2016 Providing a valuable resource for students lecturers researchers and others with an interest in housing studies the papers included in this book cover three themes namely sustainability of housing environments innovation in housing design and planning and participation in housing design and construction      Research in Building Physics and Building Engineering Paul Fazio,Hua Ge,Jiwu Rao,Guyllaine Desmarais,2020-11-25 Buildings influence people They account for one third of energy consumption across the globe and represent an annual capital expenditure of 7% 10% of GNP in industrialized countries Their lifetime operation costs can exceed capital investment Building Engineering aims to make buildings more efficient safe and economical One branch of this discipline Building Physics Science has gained prominence with a heightened awareness of such phenomena as sick buildings the energy crisis and sustainability and considering the performance of buildings in terms of climatic loads and indoor conditions The book reflects the advanced level and high quality of research which Building Engineering and Building Physics Science in particular have reached at the beginning of the twenty first century It will be a valuable resource to engineers architects building scientists consultants on the building envelope researchers and graduate students      Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta George A. Said-Zammit,2020-12-29 Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta is a study concerned with a wide spectrum of early modern dwellings in Malta ranging from palazzi and affluent residences to peasant dwellings troglodyte houses and hovels The multifaceted approach adopted in this book allows houses and domestic networks to be studied not only in terms of architecture and construction materials but also as places of human habitation where house dwellers act react and interact in different contexts and circumstances Dwellings are places that permit different social and economic activities whilst providing shelter and security to the household members Through the available sources the houses of Hospitaller Malta are analysed in terms of their spatial properties and how they generate privacy interaction and communication identity accessibility security visibility movement and encounters and equally important how domestic space relates to gender roles status and class This work therefore seeks to reach a deep and nuanced understanding of domestic space and how it relates to the islands history and the development of their society during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries

The Empirical Validation of House Energy Rating (HER) Software for Lightweight Housing in Cool Temperate Climates Mark Andrew Dewsbury, 2015-02-02 This book reports on the first empirical validation of AccuRate Australia's national benchmark software tool for house energy ratings The validation was conducted by the University of Tasmania in collaboration with Forest and Wood Products Australia the Australian Government the CSIRO and industry partners The study presented here describes the results of graphical and statistical analysis of variations observed between the measured and simulated data from three different test buildings in Launceston Tasmania It shows that while the AccuRate software is well suited to modeling energy flows there are discrepancies between the simulated and measured temperatures of the test buildings Moreover it highlights possible connections between the discrepancies in all zones and the outside air temperature wind speed global and diffuse solar radiation and possibly the ground model Beyond its contribution to further investigations into the ongoing improvement and calibration of the Australian NatHERS supported AccuRate software this book also meticulously describes the methodology used in conducting the research which is expected to pave the way for further studies of this type

Fundamentals of Innovative Sustainable Homes Design and Construction Avi Friedman, 2023-06-26 This book offers ideas and practices on contemporary design concepts and illustrates them with plans and photographs of outstanding examples Current planning and design modes of dwellings and neighborhoods are facing challenges of philosophy and form Past approaches no longer sustain new demands and require innovative thinking The need for a new outlook is propelled by fundamental changes that touch upon environmental economic and social aspects The depletion of non renewable natural resources and climate change are a few of the environmental challenges Increasing costs of material labor land and infrastructure have posed economic challenges with affordability being paramount among them Social challenges are also drawing the attention of designers builders and homeowners Walkable communities aging in place and multigenerational living are some of the concepts considered In addition live work environments have become part of the economic reality for those who wish to work from home which has become possible through digital advances The text would

Smart Energy Control Systems for Sustainable Buildings John Littlewood,Catalina Spataru,Robert J. Howlett,Lakhmi C. Jain,2017-05-26 There is widespread interest in the way that smart energy control systems such as assessment and monitoring techniques for low carbon nearly zero energy and net positive buildings can contribute to a Sustainable future for current and future generations There is a turning point on the horizon for the supply of energy from finite resources such as natural gas and oil become less reliable in economic terms and extraction become more challenging and more unacceptable socially such as adverse public reaction to fracking Thus in 2016 these challenges are having a major influence on the design optimisation performance measurements operation and preservation of buildings neighbourhoods cities regions countries and continents The source and nature of energy the security of supply and the equity of distribution the environmental impact of its supply and utilization are all crucial matters to be addressed by suppliers consumers governments industry academia and financial institutions This book entitled Smart Energy Control Systems for Sustainable Buildings contains eleven chapters written by international experts based on enhanced conference papers presented at the Sustainability and Energy in Buildings International conference series This book will be of interest to University staff and students and also industry practitioners Inclusive Environments and Access to Commercial Property Adrian Tagg, 2024-09-03 This book presents and examines the challenges and compromises required to deliver inclusivity in the existing commercial built environment and the socio economic benefits that could result from successfully delivering it To illuminate the advantages of an inclusive environment to property owners investors and service providers the book covers the history of disability and evolution of the legislation and examines the demographics and types of disability to question the one size blanket approach that currently exists to providing access Delving further into the characteristics of the commercial property sectors and individual disability specific requirements experienced commercial building surveyor Adrian Tagg analyses the contradictions in the existing legislation to establish examples of design compromise or reasonable adjustments He seeks to contextualise public and commercial attitudes to disability and go further to demystify the term reasonable adjustment which is used currently as a tool of compromise in providing access The aim is to assess disability specific requirements for access as well as adopt a simplistic approach to developing access solutions to the existing built environment from a consultancy and user perspective Ultimately this publication hopes to promote accessibility and inclusion from the perspective of surveyors investors and landlords working in commercial property It is not just targeted at those on undergraduate or post graduate surveying courses as well as those early career professionals undertaking their APC or post graduate qualifications but also at those owning or delivering goods services and employment from commercial premises who want to make a difference Courtyard Housing Brian Edwards, 2006 This book demonstrates through discussions on sustainability and regional identity and via a series of case studies that the courtyard housing form has a future as well as a past Solar Energy Houses Anne Grete Hestnes, Robert Hastings, Bjarne Saxhof, Creating Built Environments Roderick Lawrence, 2020-06-14 Built environments are complex emergent systemic and require contextual analysis They should be understood before reconsidering how professionals and researchers of the built environment are educated and trained to reduce the gap between knowledge practice and real world circumstances There is an urgent need to rethink the role of policy makers researchers practitioners and laypeople in the construction renovation and reuse of the built environment in order to deal with numerous environmental ecological economic financial and social ethical challenges of providing a habitat for current and future generations in a world of continual change These challenges are too complex to be dealt with only by one discipline or profession Combinations of different types of knowledge knowing in praxis and tacit knowledge are needed This book presents and illustrates recent innovative contributions with case studies focusing on five strategic domains and the interrelations between them These transdisciplinary contributions apply concepts methods and tools that facilitate convergence and concerted action between participants collaborating in policy definition and project implementation The methods and tools include experiments in living labs prototypes on site and virtual simulations as well as participatory approaches including citizen science the development of alternative scenarios and visioning plausible futures

Housing, Urban Renewal and Socio-Spatial Integration Xiaoxi Hui,2013-02-07 This issue of A BE addresses two critical urban issues China faces today housing and urban renewal In the recent two decades the Chinese urban housing stock underwent a significant if not extreme transformation From 1949 to 1998 the urban housing stock in China largely depended on the public sector and a large amount of public housing areas were developed under the socialistic public housing system in Beijing and other Chinese cities Yet in 1998 a radical housing reform stopped this housing system Thus most of the public housing stock was privatized and the urban housing provision was conferred to the market The radical housing privatization and marketization did not really resolve but intensified the housing problem Along with the high speed urbanization the alienated capitalized and speculative housing stock caused a series of social and spatial problems The Chinese government therefore attempted to reestablish the social housing system in 2007 However the unbalanced structure of the Chinese urban housing stock has not been considerably optimized and the housing problem is still one of the most critical challenges in China
