Stuffing Birds, Pressing Plants, Shaping Knowledge Sue Ann Prince, 2003 The Curatorial Department of the American Philosophical Society presents a catalogue of the exhibition held in Philosophical Hall from June 2003 through December 2004 The exhibit focuses on the blending of art and science in the study of natural history in North America It explores the cultural assumptions that governed the practice of natural history on the North American continent in the 18th and early 19th centuries Focusing on the study of living things plants animals and indigenous peoples it looks at how and why Euro Americans of the Enlightenment and post Enlightenment periods went about explaining the world the way they did Exhibit items include historical specimens manuscript materials first edition books and art work Manuscript Albums and their Cultural Contexts Janine Droese, Janina Karolewski, 2023-12-04 Manuscript albums are oftentimes contradictory objects ephemeral yet monumental coherent yet inviting change Collecting items made by others owners form their albums as representations of their selves their worlds and their traditions. The volume s contributors who come from musicology European history English literary studies and Islamic art history explore a set of these challenging manuscripts while addressing questions of manuscript studies through their respective disciplinary lenses. The albums under investigation range from Early Modern Stammb cher or alba amicorum to albums assembled jointly by nineteenth century cultural elites and from muragga's of the Persianate world to English and North American friendship albums including some kept by women This book is the first contribution to the comparative study of manuscript albums focusing on their materiality and analysing the practices of all those involved in making and using them Moreover the collection introduces this hard to grasp type of written artefact to the field of cross disciplinary manuscript studies and suggests albums as a touchstone for manuscriptological theories and terminologies Photography, Natural History and the Nineteenth-Century Museum Kathleen Davidson, 2017-12-02 The Victorian era heralded an age of transformation in which momentous changes in the field of natural history coincided with the rise of new visual technologies Concurrently different parts of the British Empire began to more actively claim their right to being acknowledged as indispensable contributors to knowledge and the progress of empire This book addresses the complex relationship between natural history and photography from the 1850s to the 1880s in Britain and its colonies Australia New Zealand and to a lesser extent India Coinciding with the rise of the modern museum photography s arrival was timely and it rapidly became an essential technology for recording and publicising rare objects and valuable collections Also during this period the medium assumed a more significant role in the professional practices and reputations of naturalists than has been previously recognized and it figured increasingly within the expanding specialized networks that were central to the production and dissemination of new knowledge In an interrogation that ranges from the first forays into museum photography and early attempts to document collecting expeditions to the importance of traditional and photographic portraiture for the recognition of scientific discoveries this book not only recasts the parameters of what we actually identify as natural history photography in the Victorian era but also how we understand the very structure of Memoirs of the American Philosophical Society, 1935 empire in relation to this genre at that time Linnaeus, Natural History and the Circulation of Knowledge Hanna Hodacs, Kenneth Nyberg, Stéphane van Damme, 2018 The name of Carl Linnaeus 1707 1778 is inscribed in almost every flora and fauna published from the mid eighteenth century onwards in this respect he is virtually immortal In this book a group of specialists argue for the need to recentre Linnaean science and de centre Linnaeus the man by exploring the ideas practices and people connected to his taxonomic innovations Contributors examine the various techniques materials and methods that originated within the Linnaean workshop paper technologies publication strategies and markets for specimens Fresh analyses of the reception of Linnaeus s work in Paris K nigsberg Edinburgh and beyond offer a window on the local contexts of knowledge transfer including new perspectives on the history of anthropology and stadial theory The global implications and negotiated nature of these intellectual social and material developments are further investigated in chapters tracing the experiences and encounters of Linnaean travellers in Africa Latin America and South Asia Through focusing on the circulation of Linnaean knowledge and placing it within the context of eighteenth century globalization authors provide innovative and important contributions to our understanding of the early modern history of science
