Subantarctic Macquarie Island Patricia Selkirk, Rod Seppelt, David Selkirk, 1990 Macquarie Island a speck of land rising from the Southern Ocean about 1 000 km south east of Tasmania is a wild and beautiful place Declared a nature reserve in 1933 the island is of immense scientific interest providing scientists with an opportunity to study unique geological features and to examine the special characteristics of a southern island ecosystem The Subantarctic Islands of New Zealand Philosophical Institute of Canterbury (Christchurch, N.Z.), 1909 Conservation of Islands in the Southern Ocean M. R. Clark, Malcolm R. Clark, Paul Richard Dingwall, 1985 Alpine and Polar Treelines in a Changing Environment Gerhard Wieser, 2020-04-09 Concerns have been raised with respect to the state of high altitude and high latitude treelines as they are anticipated to undergo considerable modifications due to global changes and especially due to climate warming As high elevation treelines are temperature limited vegetation boundaries they are considered to be sensitive to climate warming As a consequence in this future warmer environment an upward migration of treelines is expected because low air and root zone temperatures constrain their regeneration and growth Despite the ubiquity of climate warming treeline advancement is not a worldwide phenomenon some treelines have been advancing rapidly others have responded sluggishly or have remained stable This variation in responses is attributed to the potential interaction of a continuum of site related factors that may lead to the occurrence of locally conditioned temperature patterns Competition amongst species and below ground resources have been suggested as additional factors explaining the variability in the movement of treelines This Special Issue book is dedicated to the discussion of treeline responses to changing environmental conditions in different areas around the globe

Guide to Standard Floras of the World David G. Frodin, 2001-06-14 This 2001 book provides a selective annotated bibliography of the principal floras and related works of inventory for vascular plants The second edition was completely updated and expanded to take into account the substantial literature of the late twentieth century and features a more fully developed review of the history of floristic documentation. The works covered are principally specialist publications such as floras, checklists, distribution atlases, systematic iconographies and enumerations or catalogues, although a relatively few more popularly oriented books are also included. The Guide is organised in ten geographical divisions with these successively divided into regions and units, each of which is prefaced with a historical review of floristic studies. In addition to the bibliography, the book includes general chapters on botanical bibliography, the history of floras and general principles and current trends, plus an appendix on bibliographic searching, a lexicon of serial abbreviations and author and geographical indexes.

Modern Engineering Practice American School (Lansing, Ill.), 1908 Scientific Reports , 1918 Marine Protected Areas for Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises Erich Hoyt, 2012-10-02

The first edition of the widely praised Marine Protected Areas for Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises published in 2005 led to numerous new marine protected area proposals and a number of notable conservation successes around the world. In this completely revised and expanded second edition, new developments in the Mediterranean, Caribbean and Pacific are described as well as future directions for High Seas protection. New sections show how to design and manage MPAs in an ever noisier ocean subject to climate change, increased shipping and hydrocarbon exploration. The process of protected area creation for cetaceans has been accelerated and more than 200 exciting new places are detailed in this edition. This book provides a route map for MPA managers as well as countries to meet the ambitious targets for highly protected MPA networks by 2012 and 2020. This book is a key conservation tool and a springboard for worldwide change in human attitudes toward the world ocean where all life originated and where the majority of life on Earth still lives.
