Subversive Science Essays Toward An Ecology Of Man:

The Subversive Science Paul Shepard, 1969 Population explosion pollution suburban sprawl death of the city the vanishing wilderness we keep hearing of these threats but usually manage to ignore them In this book we find instead a number of clear calm discussions of environmental problems providing information and ideas without excessive emotional appeal The 37 papers chosen from a wide variety of journals such as Human Biology Daedalus Landscape American Scientist are obviously intended for the nonspecialist intelligent reader They are divided into five groups of which the first deals with population problems both human and animal The Environmental Encounter is the title of a group of papers discussing man's reaction to his environment what he sees and the way he feels about it Here are included comments on American front yards the shapes of roofs in different European countries the importance of sacred places and an essay by Alan Watts reprinted from The Psychedelic Review The third and fourth sections are called Man and Other Organisms and Man in Ecosystems Here we learn about the domestication of cattle sidelights on evolution Ren Dubos comments on the germ theory the possible unexpected effects of pesticides and radiation A hopeful note appears in a discussion of the use of solar energy The final part called Ethos Ecos and Ethics includes more philosophical commentaries Especially interesting is a discussion by Lynn White of the historical roots of our ecologic crisis from a review by Marjorie C Meehan in jama.jamanetwork.com article.asp?articleid=345416 The subversive science: essays toward an ecology of man, ed Paul Shepard, Daniel McKinley, The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism Greg Garrard, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism provides a broad survey of the longstanding relationship between literature and the environment The moment for such an offering is opportune in many respects multiple environmental crises are increasingly inescapable at both transnational and local levels the role of the humanities in addition to technology and politics is increasingly recognized as central for exploring and finding solutions and the subject of ecocriticism has reached a kind of critical mass both within its Anglo American heartlands and beyond From its origins in the study of American Nature Writing and British Romanticism ecocriticism has developed along numerous theoretical historical cultural and geographical axes the most contemporary and exciting of which will be represented in the Handbook The contributors include eminent founders of the field including Cheryll Glotfelty and Jonathan Bate a number of key second wave ecocritics and the best up and coming scholars Topics covered include Green Shakespeare the Bard's subversive uses of the pastoral John Clare's sacred relationship with the land Thoreau's profound political passion the natural landscape as symbol of postcolonial resistance in works by Lessing Naipaul and Coetzee the relation between feminism and environmentalism language and the concept of biosemiotics and concerns over pollution and toxicity in films like Erin Brockovitch Michael Clayton and Al Gore's An Inconvenient Truth Environmental Crisis M. Metaphors for Environmental Sustainability Brendon Larson,2011-06-28 DIVScientists turn to metaphors to formulate and explain scientific concepts but an ill considered metaphor can lead to social misunderstandings and counterproductive policies Brendon Larson observes in this stimulating book He explores how metaphors can entangle scientific facts with social values and warns that particularly in the environmental realm incautious metaphors can reinforce prevailing values that are inconsistent with desirable sustainability outcomes Metaphors for Environmental Sustainability draws on four case studies two from nineteenth century evolutionary science and two from contemporary biodiversity science to reveal how metaphors may shape the possibility of sustainability Arguing that scientists must assume greater responsibility for their metaphors and that the rest of us must become more critically aware of them the author urges more critical reflection on the social dimensions and implications of metaphors while offering practical suggestions for choosing among alternative scientific metaphors div

Leonard M. Scigaj, 2021-12-15 Focusing on the work of A R Ammons Wendell Berry W S Merwin and Gary Snyder author Leonard Scigaj shows that just as a sustainable society does not depreciate its resource base so a sustainable poetry does not restrict interest to language Over the past thirty years many poets have shown an increasing sensitivity to ecological thinking But critics trained in poststructuralist language theory often fail to explore the substance of ecopoetry Scigaj is the first to define ecopoetry as separate and distinct from nature or environmental poetry marked by its concern with balancing the interests of human beings with the needs of nature Just as science learned that the earth was not the center of the universe ecopoetry insists on the recognition that humans are not at the center of the natural world Hearings United States.
