Suffering Death And Identity:

Suffering, Death, and Identity ,2021-11-08 This book explores many of the issues that arise when we consider persons who are in pain who are suffering and who are nearing the end of life Suffering provokes us into a journey toward discovering who we are and forces us to rethink many of the views we hold about ourselves      Suffering, Death, and Identity Robert N. Fisher,2002 This book explores many of the issues that arise when we consider persons who are in pain who are suffering and who are nearing the end of life Suffering provokes us into a journey toward discovering who we are and forces us to rethink many of the views we hold about ourselves      Death and Identity Michel de M'Uzan,2018-04-17 Michel de M Uzan has derived several innovative notions from his clinical experience that are relevant not only for the psychoanalyst's status of identity which is sometimes dramatically shaken by his or her patient's unconscious but also for the artist who is deeply destabilized by his act of creation as well as for the caring person who lets him herself be caught in the nets as it were of someone who is dying Such are the extreme examples of the precarious nature of the boundaries of being in which the author discerns not necessarily a pathological disposition but rather an opportunity for the mind to construct itself and achieve authenticity Through this invigorating recognition of the unconscious with the emergence at the heart of analysis of paradoxical thoughts the experience of blurred frontiers characteristic of a vacillating sense of identity the perception of an every man's land in which the analytic treatment unfolds and the elaboration of an original grammar specific to the formulation of the intervention interpretation of the analyst during the session      A Ricoeurian Analysis of Identity Formation in Philippians Scott Ying Lam Yip,2023-06-01 Winner of the Outstanding Theological Research Book Award 2024 Scott Ying Lam Yip presents the first specialized narrative study devoted to the identity formation processes in Philippians based on Paul Ricoeur's narrative theory Yip demonstrates that the Christian identity of the Philippian community is shaped amidst competing narratives with divergent comprehensions and suggests that it is within an intra Jewish contestation of testimonies that Paul updates his understanding of God and contends with a group of Jewish Christian leaders regarding the meaning of his suffering Yip argues that Paul faces a double contestation of narrative in which both the political authorities and a group of Jewish Christian leaders see his imprisonment as futile and unnecessary alerting him to an emerging crisis in which the Philippian community's conviction in suffering with him has begun to decline It is thus essential for Paul to synthesise and install a new paradigmatic story of Christ so that his suffering can be discerned as the defining mark of God's renewed manifestation in an era of Christ's eschatological Lordship Yip explores the means by which Paul in a contestation of authority for the re appropriation of God's past work contrasts the future oriented temporality of his testimony with the past oriented one of the Jewish Christian leaders He concludes that Paul affirms the value of his present suffering in truthfulness and installs his testimony to be the exemplary story for the Philippian community      Death and Identity Robert Fulton,Robert Bendiksen,1994      Human Rights, Suffering, and Aesthetics in Political Prison Literature Yenna Wu,Simona

Livescu, 2011-06-16 This interdisciplinary volume of essays studies human rights in political prison literature while probing the intersections of suffering politics and aesthetics in an interliterary and intercultural context As the first book to explore the concept of global aesthetics in political prison narratives it demonstrates how literary insight enhances the study of human rights Covering varied geographical and geopolitical regions this collection encourages comparative analyses and cross cultural understanding Seeking to interrogate linguistic structural and cultural constructions of the political prison experience it highlights the literary aspects without losing sight of the political and the theoretical The contributors cross various disciplinary boundaries and adopt different interpretive perspectives in analyzing prison narratives especially memoirs from such diverse countries as China Egypt Morocco Syria Romania Russia Uruguay and the U S The volume emphasizes the literary works produced since the second half of the twentieth century particularly since the political seismic shift in 1989 The authors treated range from the canonical to the less well known Nawal El Saadawi Varlam Shalamov Zhang Xianliang Cong Weixi Wumingshi Carlos Liscano Fatna El Bouih Nabil Sulayman Faraj Bayraqdar Hasiba Abdalrahman Tahar Ben Jelloun Nicolae Steinhardt Irina Ratushinskaya etc Critical issues investigated include how the writers represent their sufferings experiences and emotions during incarceration their strategies of survival and how political prison literature can reveal hidden violations of human rights while resisting official discourse and serving other functions in society Examining the commonalities and differences in global experiences of imprisonment the eight chapters engage with the aesthetics of self making and resistance individual and collective memory denial and conversion catharsis and redemption and the experiencing and witnessing of trauma Topics also include the politics of remembering and the politics of representation such as the problematic relationship between narrative language and representations of torture Similarly under discussion are prison aesthetics of happiness the role of spectacle in the criminal justice system and the intersection of prison gender and silences At a juncture when more and more people all over the world actively defy repressive regimes and demand political reform this book makes a timely contribution to the advocacy and discourse of universal human rights

Persons, Humanity, and the Definition of Death John P. Lizza, 2006 In this riveting and timely work John P Lizza presents the first comprehensive analysis of personhood and humanity in the context of defining death Rejecting the common assumption that human or personal death is simply a biological phenomenon for biologists or physicians to define Lizza argues that the definition of death is also a matter for metaphysical reflection moral choice and cultural acceptance Lizza maintains that defining death remains problematic because basic ontological ethical and cultural issues have never been adequately addressed Advances in life sustaining technology and organ transplantation have led to revision of the legal definition of death It is generally accepted that death occurs when all functions of the brain have ceased However legal and clinical cases involving postmortem pregnancy individuals in permanent vegetative state those with anencephaly and those with severe dementia challenge the neurological criteria Is brain death really death Should the neurological criteria be expanded to include individuals in permanent vegetative state with anencephaly and those with severe dementia What metaphysical ethical and cultural considerations are relevant to answering such questions Although Lizza accepts a pluralistic approach to the legal definition of death he proposes a nonreductive substantive view in which persons are understood as constituted by human organisms This view he argues provides the best account of human nature as biological moral and cultural and supports a consciousness related formulation of death Through an analysis of legal and clinical cases and a discussion of alternative concepts of personhood Lizza casts greater light on the underlying themes of a complex debate Emotion,

The Hermeneutics of Social Identity in Luke-Acts Nickolas A. Fox, 2021-03-15 Luke Acts presents a vision of the kingdom of God and the early church in a program of decentralization that is a movement away from the centralized power structures of Judaism Decentralization of the temple land purity laws and even the people that seem to possess the power early in Acts i e Peter and the other apostles makes room for a move of radical inclusion Luke demonstrates the Holy Spirit as the prime initiator of outward expansion of the kingdom of God radically including and welcoming God fearers gentiles an Ethiopian eunuch and more Fox argues that Luke Acts is purposed to create social identity in God fearing readers using the rhetorical tools of the first century to communicate prescribed beliefs and norms promise and fulfillment and prototypes and exemplars Each of these elements is examined and traced through Luke s two volume work

The Identity of God's People and the Paradox of Hebrews Ole Jakob Filtvedt, 2015-08-03 Does the letter to the Hebrews display Jewish or Christian identity Ole Jakob Filtvedt shows that it takes up a traditional Jewish category namely membership in God s people and proposes it for its audience as a collective identity but also significantly reshapes that category in light of belief in Jesus Publisher T&T Clark Social Identity Commentary on the New Testament J. Brian Tucker, Aaron Kuecker, 2020-02-20 The T T Clark Social Identity Commentary on the New Testament is a one of a kind comprehensive Bible resource that highlights the way the NT seeks to form the social identity of the members of the earliest Christ movement By drawing on the interpretive resources of social scientific theories especially those related to the formation of identity interpreters generate new questions that open fruitful identity related avenues into the text It provides helpful introductions to each NT book that focus on various social dimensions of the text as well as a commentary structure that illuminates the text as a work of social influence The commentary offers methodologically informed discussions of difficult and disputed passages and highlights cultural contexts in theoretically informed ways drawing on resources from social anthropology historical sociology or social identity theory The innovative but careful scholarship of these writers most of whom have published monographs on some aspect of social identity within the New Testament brings to the fore often overlooked social and communal aspects inherent in the NT discourse The net result is a more concrete articulation of some of the every day lived experiences of members of the Christ movement within the Roman Empire while also offering further insight into the relationship between existing and new identities that produced diverse expressions of the Christ movement during the first century The SICNT shows that identity formation is at the heart of the NT and it offers insights for leaders of faith communities addressing these issues in contemporary contexts

The Identity of John the Evangelist Dean Furlong, 2020-01-23 This book examines the various Johannine narratives found in writings in the period from Papias early second century to Eusebius early fourth century Dean Furlong argues that the first major revision of the Johannine narrative was the identification of John the Evangelist with John the Apostle the son of Zebedee at the beginning of the third century This in turn initiated a process of reinterpretation as the previously separate narratives of the two figures were variously spun into new configurations during the third and fourth centuries This process culminated with Eusebius s synthesis of the Johannine traditions which came to form the basis of what is considered the traditional Johannine story Furlong concludes that in the earliest narrative found in Papias John the Evangelist was identified not with the Apostle but with another disciple of Jesus known as John the Elder Mark David Schnasa Jacobsen, 2014 David Schnasa Jacobsen takes a broad thematic approach to Marks Gospel while at the same time giving exegetical and homiletical insights about individual pericopes in their narrative context By helping preachers and students make connections between the various lections from Mark throughout Year B in their sermons and studies they and their parishioners will have a deeper appreciation of Marks unique interpretation of the Christ Event and how that influences their approach to living the Christian faith in todays world
