The Prison Of Memory:

The Prisons Memory Archive: A Case Study in Filmed Memory of Conflict Jolene Mairs Dyer, Conor McCafferty, Cahal McLaughlin, 2022-09-06 The Prisons Memory Archive PMA explores ways that narratives of a conflicted past are filmed at the site of the experiences and later negotiated in a contested present in the North of Ireland Given the state's failed attempts at establishing an official process for addressing the legacy of the conflict that lasted between 1968 and 1998 there are a number of community and academic initiatives that have taken up this task The Prisons Memory Archive is one such project whose aim is to research the possibilities of engaging with the story of the other in a society that is emerging from decades of political violence The PMA filmed back inside the prisons with those who passed through Armagh Gaol 2006 and the Maze and Long Kesh Prison 2007 which were both touchstone and tinderbox during the 30 years of violent conflict We applied protocols of co ownership where participants become co authors of their own story with the right to withdraw up to the point of exhibition inclusivity to ensure a multi narrative archive with prison staff prisoners visitors teachers chaplains etc and life story telling where leading questions are eschewed in order to return more agency to the participants Currently the full archive made up of 160 walk and talk recordings totaling 300 hours of filmed material is available at the Public Record Office of Northern Ireland where it is preserved and made accessible to the public and a website has been designed for educational use of the archive This collection offers critical reflections on the processes of recording archiving and utilising the archive in its several manifestations e.g. feature films website and full archive at the Public Records Office The perspectives offer a range of reflections including filming editing archiving web design education and museum practice The Prison of Memory Peter Rodgers, 1999 Phantom Communities Scott Durham, 1998 Phantom Communities reconsiders the status of the simulacrum sometimes defined as a copy of a copy but more rigorously defined as a copy that subverts the legitimacy and authority of its model in light of recent debates in literature art philosophy and cultural studies The author pursues two interwoven levels of analysis On one level he explores the poetics of the simulacrum considered as a form that internalizes repetition through close readings of a number of exemplary literary texts paintings and films from both the Anglo American and French traditions including works by Jean Genet Pierre Klossowski Ren Magritte Andy Warhol J.G. Ballard Balthus and Raül Ruiz Through his readings of these works the author follows the transformations of the simulacrum showing how its vicissitudes provide an optic for remapping the postmodern canon On another level the author offers an account of the role played by the simulacrum as a theoretical concept that assumes varying analytical and ideological valences in the writings of such theorists as Jean Baudrillard Fredric Jameson Michel Foucault and Gilles Deleuze In so doing Phantom Communities intervenes in ongoing interdisciplinary debates concerning the historical and ideological limits of postmodernism as well as the utopian possibilities of art literature and philosophy in a postmodern context Moving between these debates and the interpretation of individual works the author shows how they converge on the fundamental aesthetic and ideological problem

raised by the postmodern culture of the simulacrum imagining the virtual communities that at the margins of postmodern culture are at once figured and eclipsed by its proliferating images

Post-Conflict Literature Chris Andrews, Matt McGuire, 2016-04-20 This book brings together a variety of perspectives to explore the role of literature in the aftermath of political conflict studying the ways in which writers approach violent conflict and the equally important subject of peace Essays put insights from Peace and Conflict Studies into dialog with the unique ways in which literature attempts to understand the past and to reimagine both the present and the future exploring concepts like truth and reconciliation post traumatic memory historical reckoning therapeutic storytelling transitional justice archival memory and questions about victimhood and reparation Drawing on a range of literary texts and addressing a variety of post conflict societies this volume charts and explores the ways in which literature attempts to depict and make sense of this new philosophical terrain As such it aims to offer a self conscious examination of literature and the discipline of literary studies considering the ability of both to interrogate and explore the legacies of political and civil conflict around the world The book focuses on the experience of post Apartheid South Africa post Troubles Northern Ireland and post dictatorship Latin America The recent history of these regions and in particular their acute experience of ethno religious and civil conflict make them highly productive contexts in which to begin examining the role of literature in the aftermath of social trauma Rather than a definitive account of the subject the collection defines a new field for literary studies and opens it up to scholars working in other regional and national contexts To this end the book includes essays on post 1989 Germany post 9 11 United States the Israeli Palestinian conflict Sierra Leone and narratives of asylum seeker refugee communities This volume s comparative frame draws on well established precedents for thinking about the cultural politics of these regions making it a valuable resource for scholars of Comparative Literature Peace and Conflicts Studies Human Rights Transitional Justice and the Politics of Literature

Ruin Memories Bjørnar Olsen, Þóra Pétursdóttir, 2014-04-24 Since the nineteenth century mass production consumerism and cycles of material replacement have accelerated increasingly larger amounts of things are increasingly victimized rapidly and made redundant At the same time processes of destruction have immensely intensified although largely overlooked when compared to the research and social significance devoted to consumption and production The outcome is a ruin landscape of derelict factories closed shopping malls overgrown bunkers and redundant mining towns a ghostly world of decaying modern debris normally omitted from academic concerns and conventional histories The archaeology of the recent or contemporary past has grown fast during the last decade This development has been concurrent with a broader popular artistic and scholarly interest in modern ruins in general Ruin Memories explores how the ruins of modernity are conceived and assigned cultural value in contemporary academic and public discourses reassesses the cultural and historical value of modern ruins and suggests possible means for reaffirming their cultural and historic significance Crucial for this reassessment is a concern with decay and ruination and with the role things play in expressing the neglected unsuccessful and ineffable Abandonment and ruination is usually understood negatively through the tropes of loss and deprivation things are degraded and humiliated while the information knowledge and memory embedded in them become lost along the way Without even ignoring its many negative and traumatizing aspects a main question addressed in this book is whether ruination also can be seen as an act of disclosure If ruination disturbs the routinized and ready to hand to what extent can it also be seen as a recovery of memory as exposing meanings and presences that perhaps are only possible to grasp at second hand when no longer immersed in their withdrawn and useful reality Anybody interested in the archaeology of the contemporary past will find Ruin Memories an essential guide to the very latest theoretical research in this emerging field of archaeological thought Postnational Memory, Peace and War Nigel Young, 2019-11-26 This book examines the phenomenon of modern memory as a reaction to total war an aspiration to truth seeking provoked by the independent forces of modern war and collective violence which is transnational or postnational in character Using examples from prose and poetry film and theatre painting and photography and music and the popular arts the author traces a narrative path through the events of the twentieth century defining the tradition of modern memory in terms of its essentially anti militaristic anti war character as expressed in the manner in which it represents recalled violence and atrocity Through a series of thematic discussions of two world wars the Shoah urbicide and nuclear weapons Postnational Memory explores the formation of transnational memory drawing on examples from industrialized societies with a focus on memory of real events and their reproduction in literature and the arts often including personal recollections that link the self to the represented past As such by asking how the concept of modern memory is constructed through the victims of war and genocide the book constitutes an alternative to national memories and hegemonic militarist or ethnocentric histories Surveying the emergence of new transnational forms of remembering the past it will appeal to students and scholars of sociology memory studies and peace studies as well as those working in disciplines such as modern and international history cultural studies and military studies

The Kaleidoscope of Gendered Memory in Ahlam Mosteghanemi's Novels Nuha Baaqeel, 2019-07-12 Through its unique kaleidoscopic lens this book analyzes the work of Algeria's first postcolonial woman writer to publish a novel in Arabic Ahlam Mosteghanemi Her novels Memory in the Flesh and Chaos of the Senses return to the trauma of the Algerian War of Independence to address the lingering anxieties of national belonging and memory in postcolonial Algeria at a time when the nation is caught between two forces entrenched bureaucratic political elites and populist Islamists who imagine a return to a pre modern utopian past This book argues that Mosteghanemi's polyphonic narratives reveal that national narratives are always multiple unity is not one all encompassing narrative but instead an ever evolving Bakhtinian dialogism accommodating multiple perspectives memories and stories The study interprets Mosteghanemi's metaphor of the bridge as a powerful device for exploring tensions between reality and imagination exile and belonging and traditional concepts of gender in ways that reimagine nationhood and gesture towards a new collective future

Haunted by Atrocity Benjamin G. Cloyd, 2010-05-24 During the Civil War approximately 56 000

Union and Confederate soldiers died in enemy military prison camps Even in the midst of the war s shocking violence the intensity of the prisoners suffering and the brutal manner of their deaths provoked outrage and both the Lincoln and Davis administrations manipulated the prison controversy to serve the exigencies of war As both sides distributed propaganda designed to convince citizens of each section of the relative virtue of their own prison system in contrast to the cruel inhumanity of the opponent they etched hardened and divisive memories of the prison controversy into the American psyche memories that would prove difficult to uproot In Haunted by Atrocity Benjamin G Cloyd deftly analyzes how Americans have remembered the military prisons of the Civil War from the war itself to the present making a strong case for the continued importance of the great conflict in contemporary America Throughout Reconstruction and well into the twentieth century Cloyd shows competing sectional memories of the prisons prolonged the process of national reconciliation Events such as the trial and execution of CSA Captain Henry Wirz commander of the notorious Andersonville prison along with political campaigns the publication of prison memoirs and even the construction of monuments to the prison dead all revived the painful accusations of deliberate cruelty As northerners white southerners and African Americans contested the meaning of the war these divisive memories tore at the scars of the conflict and ensured that the subject of Civil War prisons remained controversial By the 1920s the death of the Civil War generation removed much of the emotional connection to the war and the devastation of the first two world wars provided new contexts in which to reassess the meaning of atrocity As a result Cloyd explains a more objective opinion of Civil War prisons emerged one that condemned both the Union and the Confederacy for their callous handling of captives while it deemed the mistreatment of prisoners an inevitable consequence of modern war But Cloyd argues these seductive arguments also deflected a closer examination of the precise responsibility for the tragedy of Civil War prisons and allowed Americans to believe in a comforting but ahistorical memory of the controversy Both the recasting of the town of Andersonville as a Civil War village in the 1970s and the 1998 opening of the National Prisoner of War Museum at Andersonville National Historic Site reveal the continued American preference for myth over history a preference Cloyd asserts that inhibits a candid assessment of the evils committed during the Civil War The first study of Civil War memory to focus exclusively on the military prison camps Haunted by Atrocity offers a cautionary tale of how Americans for generations have unconsciously constructed their recollections of painful events in ways that protect cherished ideals of myth meaning identity and ultimately a deeply rooted faith in American exceptionalism

Memories of My Youth, 1844-1865 George Haven Putnam, 1914 An Archaeology of the Troubles Laura McAtackney, 2014 This volume reveals the seminal role of material culture in understanding the Long Kesh Maze prison during the course of the Troubles in Northern Ireland continuing into the peace process Using a multitude of sources it provides an interpretation of the Troubles and the continuing destabilizing role of material remnants of the conflict
