Subalternity and Representation John Beverley, 1999-12-22 The term subalternity refers to a condition of subordination brought about by colonization or other forms of economic social racial linguistic and or cultural dominance Subaltern studies is therefore a study of power Who has it and who does not Who is gaining it and who is losing it Power is intimately related to questions of representation to which representations have cognitive authority and can secure hegemony and which do not and cannot In this book John Beverley examines the relationship between subalternity and representation by analyzing the ways in which that relationship has been played out in the domain of Latin American studies Dismissed by some as simply another new fashion in the critique of culture and by others as a postmarxist heresy subaltern studies began with the work of Ranajit Guha and the South Asian Subaltern Studies collective in the 1980s Beverley's focus on Latin America however is evidence of the growing province of this field In assessing subaltern studies purposes and methods the potential dangers it presents and its interactions with deconstruction poststructuralism cultural studies Marxism and political theory Beverley builds his discussion around a single provocative question How can academic knowledge seek to represent the subaltern when that knowledge is itself implicated in the practices that construct the subaltern as such In his search for answers he grapples with a number of issues notably the 1998 debate between David Stoll and Rigoberta Mench over her award winning testimonial narrative I Rigoberta Mench Other topics explored include the concept of civil society Florencia Mallon's influential Peasant and Nation the relationship between the Latin American lettered city and the T'pac Amaru rebellion of 1780-1783 the ideas of transculturation and hybridity in postcolonial studies and Latin American cultural studies multiculturalism and the relationship between populism popular culture and the national popular in conditions of globalization This critique and defense of subaltern studies offers a compendium of insights into a new form of knowledge and knowledge production It will interest those studying postcolonialism political science cultural studies and Latin American culture history and literature

Indigenous Cosmolectics Gloria Elizabeth Chacón, 2018-09-28 Latin America's Indigenous writers have long labored under the limits of colonialism but in the late twentieth and twenty first centuries they have constructed a literary corpus that moves them beyond those parameters Gloria E Chac n considers the growing number of contemporary Indigenous writers who turn to Maya and Zapotec languages alongside Spanish translations of their work to challenge the tyranny of monolingualism and cultural homogeneity Chac n argues that these Maya and Zapotec authors reconstruct an Indigenous literary tradition rooted in an Indigenous cosmolectics a philosophy originally grounded in pre Columbian sacred conceptions of the cosmos time and place and now expressed in creative writings More specifically she attends to Maya and Zapotec literary and cultural forms by theorizing kab awil as an Indigenous philosophy Tackling the political and literary implications of this work Chac n argues that Indigenous writers use of familiar genres alongside Indigenous language use of oral traditions and new representations of selfhood and nation all create space for expressions of cultural and political autonomy Chac n recognizes that Indigenous writers draw from universal literary strategies but nevertheless argues that this literature is a vital center for reflecting on Indigenous ways of knowing and is a key artistic expression of decolonization

Beyond Postmodernism Christopher K. Brooks, 2014-07-03 Beyond Postmodernism Onto the Postcontemporary is a collection designed to provide the reader with an alternative to viewing the world through the lens of Postmodernism Contributors to this collection utilize and define such critical tools as transhumanism post post theory posthumanism and postcontemporary theory Other essays focus on interpreting texts or genres yielding impressive conclusions that were beyond the scope of postmodern discourse Eclectic in nature while examining works as diverse as Julia Ward Howe's The Hermaphrodite and Salman Rushdie's Satanic Verses yet unified in a commonsensical statement that postmodernism has perhaps ruled too long in critical discussions this collection is also designed to attract those seeking or awaiting something new in critical methodology to consider joining in the postcontemporary dialogue

Genitalverstümmelung Mathis Danelzik, 2016-06-24 In seiner ethnographischen Studie analysiert Mathis Danelzik die strategischen und ethischen Herausforderungen von Kampagnen gegen die Praktiken der Genitalverstümmelung. Er zeigt auf, dass solche Kampagnen zum Aushandlungsort komplexer und tiefgreifender sozio-kultureller Veränderung werden, was vielfältige Konflikte hervorbringt. Dabei wird deutlich, dass sich mit dem heute dominanten Ideal kulturell sensibler Kampagnen nicht nur Hoffnungen und erste Erfolge verbinden, sondern dieses auch weite Teile der Kampagnenpraxis und die damit verbundenen Konflikte berdeckt. Der Autor entwickelt eine alternative kulturorientierte kommunikationssoziologische und machtsensible Perspektive auf Kampagnen und entfaltet diese anhand von vier tansanischen Fallbeispielen.

Latinamericanism after 9/11 John Beverley, 2011-08-01 In Latinamericanism after 9/11 John Beverley explores Latinamericanist cultural theory in relation to new modes of political mobilization in Latin America. He contends that after 9/11 the hegemony of the United States and the neoliberal assumptions of the so-called Washington Consensus began to fade in Latin America. At the same time, the emergence in Latin America of new leftist governments, the marea rosada or pink tide, gathered momentum. Whatever its outcome, the marea rosada has shifted the grounds of Latinamericanist thinking in a significant way. Beverley proposes new paradigms better suited to Latin America's reconfigured political landscape. In the process, he takes up matters such as Latin American postcolonial and cultural studies, the relation of deconstruction and Latinamericanism, the persistence of the national question and cultural nationalism in Latin America, the neoconservative turn in recent Latin American literary and cultural criticism, and the relation between subalternity and the state. Beverley's perspective flows out of his involvement with the project of Latin American subaltern studies, but it also defines a position that is in some ways postsubalternist. He takes particular issue with recent calls for a posthegemonic politics.
