Critically Engaging Participatory Action Research Sara Kindon, Rachel Pain, Mike Kesby, 2024-09-23 This timely and informative book reasserts the value of Critical Participatory Action Research CPAR an approach to participatory action research PAR that is informed by critical theories attending to questions of privilege and power and that generates collaborations focused on challenging structural inequality The authors writing explicitly from Minority World perspectives are experienced researcher practitioners who have worked with communities in the UK USA

South Africa Australia India and Colombia over many years They offer an assessment exploration and illustration of CPAR at this point in time outlining how the approach has evolved over time and space Exploring its roots in strands of critical thought including postcolonialism anti imperialism feminism antiracism queer theory and Indigenous ontologies the book asks how PAR is being critically re engaged to maintain its commitment to greater justice and transformational change Each chapter provides a rich case study of how these theories inform current collaborations and offers reflection on the entanglements of power that come with attempting CPAR in different institutional and geopolitical contexts Their examples show that critical interrogation of PAR practices may lead to innovative and impactful outcomes for those involved as well as new theoretical and substantive research findings The collection will be of especial interest to students and researchers across the social sciences and humanities as well as those working outside universities who are interested in developing or extending their use of CPAR

Makers of Democracy A. Ricardo López-Pedrerros, 2019-03-28 In Makers of Democracy A. Ricardo López-Pedrerros traces the ways in which a thriving middle class was understood to be a foundational marker of democracy in Colombia during the second half of the twentieth century Drawing on a wide array of sources ranging from training manuals and oral histories to school and business archives López-Pedrerros shows how the Colombian middle class created a model of democracy based on free market ideologies private property rights material inequality and an emphasis on a masculine work culture This model which naturalized class and gender hierarchies provided the groundwork for Colombia's later adoption of neoliberalism and inspired the emergence of alternate models of democracy and social hierarchies in the 1960s and 1970s that helped foment political radicalization By highlighting the contested relationships between class gender economics and politics López-Pedrerros theorizes democracy as a historically unstable practice that exacerbated multiple forms of domination thereby prompting a rethinking of the formation of democracies throughout the Americas
