Mid-Sized Accounting Firm Advantages

1. Balance

Mid-sized firms often strike a better balance between work and personal life. Deadlines are moderate, and the workload is less strenuous and hectic. You have more free time outside of work, improving your quality of life.

2. Experience

Work experience at mid-sized firms varies. In some mid-sized firms, you have the opportunity to get involved in all parts of the process and expand your knowledge base. You might even discover aspects of the accounting process that appeal most to you. You gain opportunities to specialize in a particular role or learn a niche in others.

3. Atmosphere

Your interactions are more personalized at a mid-sized firm. From leadership to co-workers to clients, you have a better chance of achieving higher value at a smaller firm. The culture is more like a family, which can make your job more gratifying.

4. Advancement

You're better seen and recognized for your contributions at a mid-sized firm. You'll have more chances to lead projects. Promotion opportunities may not be as regular as the Big 4, but they're typically more frequent than a small firm. With a smaller pool of candidates to pull from, it will be easier for you to win that promotion.

PURPOSE The traditional sources of financing bank loans cannot be treated as an essential source of financing for SMEs in developing countries For this reason this group of entities uses many alternative sources from bootstrapping to microfinance and crowdfunding During the last decade a significant contribution in this area has been done by financial technology The purpose of this study is threefold 1 to present the role of financial technologies in financing SMEs 2 to examine the role of entities based on financial technology in financing SMEs in developing countries and 3 to consider other non bank aspects of financing SMEs leading to the improvement of the financial situation of these entities The in depth analysis of these entrepreneurial finance practices will be developed in the following papers presented in this Issue

METHODOLOGY This study employs a theoretical approach based on a narrative literature review The primary attention is focused on applying financial technology as a stimulant for the finance of SMEs in developing countries

FINDINGS As a consequence of the financing gap for SMEs within the traditional financial system these entities use non bank financing based on financial technology The research confirms that financial technology plays a crucial role in fostering the financial situation of SMEs in developing countries and providing greater financial inclusion for these entities Both financial technology and enterprises based on this technology contribute significantly to the improvement of efficiency of financing SMEs in emerging markets They also provide a broader range of services than were offered by the traditional financial sector Regarding the other aspects of SME finance it is essential to implement such ways of financing like microfinance services and crowdfunding Such funding mechanisms together with the budget process and the compliance under the conditions of e tax systems are important determinants of current entrepreneurial finance

IMPLICATIONS The paper describes the financing of SMEs in developing countries The in depth picture of the SME s financial situation focusing on the technological development in this area provides essential insight into this still poorly explored area It also offers important premises for shaping the post pandemic policy to support their further growth

ORIGINALITY VALUE Despite growing theoretical and empirical literature about entrepreneurial finance this study aims to contribute to the role of financial technology in this area The impact of financial technologies and the role of fintech based entities on SME activity in developing countries are still poorly researched Moreover the research provides a brief overview of other SME funding sources and their determinants in this group of countries
