Grover Professor Emeritus, Susan G. Fowler, 2011-07-13 This book provides a guide for grieving youth and adults as well as extensive descriptive lists of recommended professional literature resources Grief caused by loss is both a very common human experience and a highly individualized one For example children experience a number of losses that are unique to their young age such as sibling and parent death adoption or divorce and should be given special consideration by professionals and parents helping them in these situations For gay lesbian or cohabiting heterosexual couples that suffer the loss of a partner societal standards often deny the survivors in these relationships the right to grieve Helping Those Experiencing Loss A Guide to Grieving Resources is a book like no other supplying compassionate information for navigating the emotional distress that every man and woman will experience in their lifetime as well as a comprehensive guide to the literature of bereavement and grieving It explains the grieving process interpreting the results of research on the topic in plain language and addressing specific groups children young adults parents who have lost a child adults who have lost spouses and the aging population Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Jacqueline Langwith, 2011-10-11 Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is leading cause of death among babies between 1 month and 1 year of age according to the NIH This guidebook provides essential information on SIDS but also serves as a historical survey by providing information on the controversies surrounding its causes and first person narratives by people coping with SIDS Patients family members or caregivers explain the condition from their own experience The symptoms causes treatments and potential cures are explained in detail Essential to anyone trying to learn about diseases and conditions the alternative treatments are explored Each essay is carefully edited and presented with an introduction so that they are accessible for student researchers and readers Research Planning Workshops on the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (U.S.). Perinatal Biology and Infant Mortality Branch,1974 When a Baby Dies of SIDS Karen Martin,2017-07-12 The cause of the number one killer of apparently healthy infants between the ages of one week and one year Sudden Infant Death Syndrome SIDS continues to defy science This cruel mystery intensifies an already painful experience for bereaved parents who frequently blame themselves for their baby s death This book explores how parents grieve the meanings and casual explanations they attribute to a SIDS death the effects of their grief on family relationships and the strategies they use to cope and carry on Karen Martin s grounded theory study describes in detail the experiences of mothers and fathers whose babies died of SIDS ranging from less than one to over twenty five years after the baby s death Her work makes an important contribution to health fields and to the social science of medicine and is a critical resource for family doctors public health nurses counsellors ministers and all those working with grieving parents
