Rybach, 2012-12-06 The outflow of heat from the earth's interior the terrestrial heat flow and the temperature field at depth are determined by deep seated tectonic processes The knowledge of the regional heat flow pattern is thus very important in geophysics and provides a useful tool for studying crustal and lithospheric structure and understanding the nature of their evolution In order to use the results of heat flow measurements for regional studies and or to correlate the observed surface geothermal activity with other geophysical or geological features a map showing the surface distribution of heat flow is necessary Since 1963 when the first comprehensive listing of all available heat flow data appeared Lee 1963 several attempts have been made to update the list to classify all the data and to interpret them with respect to tectonics deep structure and to use them for constructing surface heat flow maps The first listing was subsequently revised by Lee and Uyeda 1965 numerous new data which were published there after were included in successive catalogs compiled by Simmons and Horai 1968 and then again by Jessop et al 1976 The map showing the surface heat flow pattern may also be of great value for practical purposes in view of the recent world wide search for applicable sources of geothermal energy
