The Primitive A Novel:

The Complete Novels Olaf Stapledon, 2023-12-14 In The Complete Novels Olaf Stapledon presents an expansive collection that showcases his visionary imagination and profound philosophical inquiries. Encompassing works such as Last and First Men and Star Maker, this anthology delves into the farthest reaches of human and cosmic evolution, weaving a literary tapestry that fuses science fiction with deep existential reflection. Stapledon's narrative style is characterized by its grand scope and innovative structure, often eschewing traditional character arcs in favor of broader universal themes, making it a seminal work in the genre's development during the early 20th century. Olaf Stapledon, a British philosopher and writer, was profoundly influenced by the tumultuous events of his time, including the World Wars and the existential threats they posed. Educated at the University of Liverpool and later at Oxford, Stapledon synthesized his academic background with his literary endeavors, leading him to explore the complex relationship between humanity and the cosmos. His works often reflect a deep sense of responsibility towards the future of mankind, mirroring his personal convictions and philosophical musings. This collection is highly recommended for readers who wish to explore the intricate interplay of imagination, science, and philosophy. Stapledon's work not only pushes the boundaries of speculative fiction but also challenges readers to contemplate the future of humanity within the cosmos, making it an essential reading for anyone interested in the evolution of the genre.

Arun Joshi's Novels Lokesh Kumar, 2004 Arun Joshi 1939-1993 Indo-English novelist The Oxford Handbook of the Latin American Novel Juan E. De Castro, Ignacio Lòpez-Calvo, 2023 The Latin American novel burst onto the international literary scene with the Boom era, led by Julio Cortázar, Gabriel García Márquez, Carlos Fuentes, and Mario Vargas Llosa, and has influenced writers throughout the world ever since. García Márquez and Vargas Llosa each received the Nobel Prize in literature, and many of the best-known contemporary novelists are inspired by the region's fiction. Indeed, magical realism, the style associated with García Márquez, has left a profound imprint on African American, African, Asian, Anglophone Caribbean, and Latinx writers. Furthermore, post-Boom literature continues to garner interest from the novels of Roberto Bolaño to the works of César Aira and Chico Buarque to those of younger novelists such as Juan Gabriel Vásquez, Alejandro Zambra, and Valeria Luiselli. Yet for many readers, the Latin American novel is often read in a piecemeal manner, delinked from the traditions, authors, and social contexts that help explain its evolution. The Oxford Handbook of the Latin American Novel draws literary, historical, and social connections so that readers will come away understanding this literature as a rich and compelling canon. In forty-five chapters by leading and innovative scholars, the Handbook provides a comprehensive introduction, helping readers to see the region's intrinsic heterogeneity; for only with a broader view can one fully appreciate García Márquez or Bolaño. This volume charts the literary tradition of the Latin American novel from its beginnings during colonial times, its development during the nineteenth and the first half of the twentieth century, and its flourishing from the 1960s onward. Furthermore, the Handbook explores the region's representations of identity, narrative trends, and authors that make this literature so diverse and fascinating reflecting on the Latin American novel's position in world literature

Modernity and the English Rural Novel Dominic Head, 2017-04-07 This book examines the persistence of the rural tradition in the English novel into the twentieth century. In the shadow of metropolitan literary culture, rural writing can seem to strive for a fantasy version of England with no compelling social or historical relevance. Dominic Head argues that the apparent disconnection is in itself a response to modernity rather than a refusal to engage with it, and that the important writers in this tradition have had a significant bearing on the trajectory of English cultural life through the twentieth century. At the heart of the discussion is the English rural regional novel of the 1920s and 1930s, which reveals significant points of overlap with mainstream literary culture and the legacies of modernism. Rural writers refashioned the conventions of the tradition and the effects of literary nostalgia to produce the swansong of a fading genre with resonances that are still relevant today.

Female Embodiment and Subjectivity in the Modernist Novel Renée Dickinson, 2012-08-21 This study considers the work of two experimental British women modernists writing in the tumultuous interwar period: Virginia Woolf and Olive Moore. By examining four crucial incarnations of female embodiment and subjectivity—female bodies, geographical imagery, national ideology, and textual experimentation—Dickinson proposes that the ways Mrs Dalloway and The Waves by Virginia Woolf and Spleen and Fugue by Olive Moore reflect, expose, and criticize physical, geographical, and national bodies in the narrative and form of their texts. They reveal the authors' attempts to try on new forms and experiment with new possibilities of female embodiment and subjectivity.

Temptation of the Word Efraín Kristal, 1998 Originally published in hardcover in 1998. A Guide to the Best Historical Novels and Tales Jonathan Nield, 1911. Imagining the Primitive in Naturalist and Modernist Literature Gina M. Rossetti, 2006 Examines the depiction of primitive characters in naturalist and modernist texts, focusing on works by Jack London, Frank Norris, Eugene O'Neill, Theodore Dreiser, Willa Cather, Ernest Hemingway, Gertrude Stein, and Nella Larsen.
