procedures for measuring stress and coping are presented including semi structured interviews questionnaires and content analysis This multimethod multivariate approach is characterized by assessing the same construct via different methods replicating the measures in different studies including cross cultural samples using several informants and combining standardized instruments with very open data gathering The results offer a rich picture of the nature of stressors requiring adolescent coping and highlight the importance of relationship stressors Age and gender differences in stress appraisal and coping style are also presented Mid adolescence emerges as a turning point in the use of certain coping strategies and social resources Strong gender differences in stress appraisal and coping style suggest that females are more at risk for developing psychopathology The book demonstrates how adolescents make use of assistance provided by social support systems and points to the changing influence of parents and peers It addresses controversial issues such as benefits and costs of close relationships or the beneficial or maladaptive effects of avoidant coping Its clear style innovative ideas and instruments make it an excellent textbook for both introductory and advanced courses Without question it may serve as a guide for future research in this field This book will be of value to researchers practitioners and students in various fields such as child clinical and developmental psychology and psychopathology
