The Consequences Of Nuclear Proliferation Lessons From South Asia Bcsia Studies In International Security:

The Consequences of Nuclear Proliferation Devin T. Hagerty, 1998 Hagerty analyzes how India and Pakistan interacted in diplomatic and military crises before their 1998 nuclear tests He presents detailed studies of the January 1987 Indo Pakistani crisis precipitated by India's Brasstacks military exercises and the 1990 confrontation over Kashmir Hagerty concludes that relations between India and Pakistan in recent years support the argument that nuclear proliferation does not necessarily destabilize international relations and may even reduce the risk of war

Defense and Security Karl DeRouen Jr., Uk Heo, 2005-09-27 An authoritative up to date examination of the national security and defense policies of 50 influential nations and regions across the globe Defense and Security A Compendium of National Armed Forces and Security Policies presents highly readable authoritative essays profiling the defense and security policies of over 50 individual countries and regions with a focus on present day developments Written by leading national and international scholars and edited by eminent political science experts Karl DeRouen and Uk Heo the essays take an in depth look at each nation's current security situation defense spending present and potential military confrontations civil military relations alliances relations to terrorism and other topics of importance Historical events and conflicts are highlighted as well with emphasis on the post Cold War era The essays are parallel in structure allowing readers to pinpoint similarities and draw comparisons among nations The two volume set also includes a detailed introduction featuring a cross national comparison

The Coming Crisis Victor A. Utgoff, 2000 How will continued proliferation of nuclear weapons change the global political order This collection of essays comes to conclusions at odds with the conventional wisdom Stephen Rosen and Barry Posen explore how nuclear proliferation may affect US incentives to confront regional aggression Stephen Walt argues that regional allies will likely prove willing to stand with a strong and ready United States against nuclear backed aggression George Quester and Brad Roberts examine long term strategic objectives in responding to nuclear attack by a regional aggressor Richard Betts highlights the potential for disastrous mistakes in moving toward and living in a world heavily populated with nuclear armed states Scott Sagan explains how the nuclear nonproliferation policies best suited to some states can spur proliferation by others Caroline Ziemke shows how the analysis of a state's strategic personality can provide insights into why it might want nuclear weapons and how its policies may develop once it gets them And Victor Utgoff concludes that the United States seems more likely to intervene against regional aggression when the aggressor has nuclear weapons than when it does not

Biological Weapons Joshua Lederberg, 1999 foreword by William S Cohen U S Secretary of Defense Biological weapons pose a horrifying and growing threat to the United States and to the world in general Revelations about Iraq's weapons research and the plans of the Aum Shinrikyo cult in Japan serve as frightening reminders of the potential for military or terrorist use of biological agents The essays in this book many of which were originally published in the Journal of the American Medical Association examine the medical

Condemned to Repetition? Andrew Bennett,1999 Why did the Soviet Union use less force to preserve the Soviet empire from 1989 to 1991 than it had used in distant and impoverished Angola in 1975 This book fills a key gap in international relations theories by examining how actors preferences and causal conceptions change as they learn from their experiences Andrew Bennett draws on interviews and declassified Politburo documents as well as numerous public statements to establish the views of Soviet and Russian officials He argues that Soviet leaders drew lessons from their apparent successes in Vietnam and elsewhere in the 1970s that made them more interventionist Then as casualties in Afghanistan mounted in the 1980s Soviet leaders learned different lessons that led them to withdraw from regional conflicts and even to abstain from the use of force as the Soviet empire dissolved The loss of this empire led to exaggerated fears of domino effects within Russia and a resurgence of interventionist views culminating in the Russian invasion of Chechnya in 1994 Throughout this process Soviet and Russian leaders and policy experts were divided into competing schools of thought as much by the information to which they were exposed as by their apparent material interests This helps explain how Gorbachev and other new thinkers were able to prevail over the powerful military party industrial complex that had dominated Soviet politics since Stalin's time

America's Achilles' Heel Richard A Falkenrath, Robert D Newman, Bradley A. Thayer, 1998-07-08 Nuclear biological and chemical NBC weapons delivered covertly by terrorists or hostile governments pose a significant and growing threat to the United States and other countries Although the threat of NBC attack is widely recognized as a central national security issue most analysts have assumed that the primary danger is military use by states in war with traditional military means of delivery The threat of covert attack has been imprudently neglected Covert attack is hard to deter or prevent and NBC weapons suitable for covert attack are available to a growing range of states and groups hostile to the United States At the same time constraints on their use appear to be eroding This volume analyzes the nature and limits of the covert NBC threat and proposes a measured set of policy responses focused on improving intelligence and consequence management capabilities to reduce U S vulnerability About the authors Richard A Falkenrath is Assistant Professor of Public Policy at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government He served as Executive Director of the Belfer Center for Science and International Affairs BCSIA and before that as a Research Fellow He is the author and co author of Shaping Europe's Military Order 1995 Avoiding Nuclear Anarchy 1996 America's Achilles Heel Nuclear Biological Chemical Terrorism and Covert Attack 1998 and numerous journal articles and chapters of edited volumes Falkenrath has been a Visiting Research Fellow at the German Society of Foreign Affairs DGAP in Bonn He holds a PhD from the Department of War Studies King's College London where he was a British Marshall Scholar and is a summa cum laude graduate of Occidental College Los Angeles with degrees in economics and international relations He is on leave in 2001 2002 and is currently serving as Director for Counterproliferation and Homeland Defense at the National Security Council Bradley A Thayer is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Minnesota Duluth
