Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1960 Poetry Harriet Monroe,1961 Freud and the Scene of Trauma John Fletcher,2013-12-02 This book argues that Freud's mapping of trauma as a scene is central to both his clinical interpretation of his patients' symptoms and his construction of successive theoretical models and concepts to explain the power of such scenes in his patients' lives. This attention to the scenic form of trauma and its power in determining symptoms leads to Freud's break from the neurological model of trauma he inherited from Charcot. It also helps to explain the affinity that Freud and many since him have felt between psychoanalysis and literature and artistic production more generally and the privileged role of literature at certain turning points in the development of his thought. It is Freud's scenography of trauma and fantasy that speaks to the student of literature and painting. Overall the book develops the thesis of Jean Laplanche that in Freud's shift from a traumatic to a developmental model along with the undoubted gains embodied in the theory of infantile sexuality there were crucial losses specifically the recognition of the role of the adult other and the traumatic encounter with adult sexuality that is entailed in the ordinary nurture and formation of the infantile subject.

Dramatic Mirror of Motion Pictures and the Stage ,1918 At the Crossroads of Greco-Roman History, Culture, and Religion Sinclair W. Bell,Lora L. Holland,2018-09-30 Papers in honour of Carin M C Green 1948 2015 are presented under 3 headings 1 Greek philosophy history and historiography 2 Latin literature history and historiography and 3 Greco Roman material culture religion and literature The Theatre ,1902 The Classical Weekly ,1915 The Theatre of Tennessee Williams Brenda Murphy,2014-01-16 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com. It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched. Perfect for students of English Literature Theatre Studies and American Studies at college and university. The Theatre of Tennessee Williams provides a lucid and stimulating analysis of Williams' dramatic work by one of America's leading scholars. With the centennial of his birth celebrated amid a flurry of conferences devoted to his work in 2011 and his plays a central part of any literature and drama curriculum and ubiquitous in theatre repertoires he remains a giant of twentieth century literature and drama. In Brenda Murphy's major study of his work she examines his life and career and provides an analysis of more than a score of his key plays including in depth studies of major works such as A Streetcar Named Desire, The Glass Menagerie, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and others. She traces the artist figure who features in many of Williams' plays to broaden the discussion beyond the normal reference points. As with other volumes in Methuen Drama's Critical Companions series this book features too essays by Bruce McConachie, John S Bak, Felicia Hardison Londr and Annette Saddik offering perspectives on different aspects of Williams' work that will assist students in their own critical thinking. Stage Mothers Laura Engel,Elaine M. McGirr,2014-11-06 Stage Mothers explores the connections between motherhood and the theater both on and off stage throughout the long eighteenth century. Although the realities of eighteenth century motherhood and representations of maternity have recently been investigated in relation to the novel social history and political economy the idea of motherhood and its connection to the theatre as a professional material literary and cultural site has received little critical attention The essays in this volume spanning the period from the Restoration to Regency address these forgotten maternal narratives focusing on the representation of motherhood as the defining female role the interplay between an actress's celebrity persona and her chosen roles the performative balance between the cults of maternity and that of the passionate actress and tensions between sex and maternity and or maternity and public authority In examining the overlaps and disconnections between representations and realities of maternity in the long eighteenth century and by looking at written received visual and performed records of motherhood Stage Mothers makes an important contribution to debates central to eighteenth century cultural history

A Mental Theater Alan Richardson, 1988-01-01 Certain works of Romantic drama Shelley alone envisions their transcendence through his radical transformation of consciousness in the conclusion to Prometheus Unbound This interpretation of mental theater will lead to a new evaluation of the Romantics as dramatic poets It brings back to critical attention neglected but challenging works such as Byron's Heaven and Earth and Beddoes's Death's Jest Book and provides vital new perspectives on undervalued texts like Wordsworth's The Borderers and Byron's Manfred and Cain It qualifies decades of critical speculation on Romantic individualism and Romantic consciousness and helps return the ideal of imaginative sympathy to the central position held in the critical writings of the Romantics themselves Finally in emphasizing the dramatic quality of mental theater it challenges the still prevalent view that Romantic poetry is inherently lyrical in character Scholars concerned with English Romantic drama Romantic literature and the Romantic period as well as English drama will find this work to be an important contribution to their understanding

Black British Women's Theatre Nicola Abram, 2020-10-12 This book marks a significant methodological shift in studies of black British women's theatre it looks beyond published plays to the wealth of material held in archives of various kinds from national repositories and themed collections to individuals' personal papers It finds there a cache of unpublished manuscripts and production recordings distinctive for their non-naturalistic aesthetics Close analysis of selected works identifies this as an intersectional feminist creative practice Chapters focus on five theatre companies and artists spanning several decades Theatre of Black Women 1982-1988 co-founded by Booker Prize-winning writer Bernardine Evaristo Munirah Theatre Company 1983-1991 Black Mime Theatre Women's Troop 1990-1992 Zindika and SuAndi The book concludes by reflecting on the politics of representation with reference to popular postmillennial playwright Debbie Tucker Green Drawing on new interviews with the playwrights practitioners and their peers this book assembles a rich interconnected and occasionally corrective history of black British women's creativity By reproducing 22 facsimile images of flyers production programmes photographs and other ephemera Black British Women's Theatre Intersectionality Archives Aesthetics not only articulates a hidden history but allows its readers their own encounter with the fragile record of this vibrant past focuses on the linguistic perspective of classical Chinese poetry and its changes and development in different historical periods. It offers a combination of theoretical analysis and aesthetic appreciation of exemplary poems. The author discusses the following aspects of classical Chinese poetry: the relationships between background and meaning in the interpretation of a poem; how readers can deal with the tangle of linguistic approach and intuitive perception in interpreting poems; the engagement and disengagement of the poet's thought flow with and from the word order of the verse; the tonal and metrical schemes; and the three special features of classical Chinese poetry: the significance and role of allusions, Xu Zi and Shi Yan. Last, the author analyses the development of Chinese poetry from the Vernacular Song Dynasty Style to the Vernacular Modern Style. It will be a great read for students and scholars of East Asian studies, Chinese studies, linguistics, and those interested in Chinese poetry in general. The book aims to lead readers to discover a fresh and amazing world of classical Chinese poetry, a fantastic panoramic picture of its beauty and charm, and a poetic feast that the reader may not otherwise be privileged to enjoy.

Theatre at the Crossroads of Culture Patrice Pavis, 2003-09-02 Western culture has a long and fraught history of cultural appropriation, a history that has particular resonance within performance practice. Patrice Pavis asks what is at stake politically and aesthetically when cultures meet at the crossroads of theatre. A series of major recent productions are analysed, including Peter Brook's Mahabharata, Cixous' Mnouchkine's Indiande, and Barba's Faust. These focus discussions on translation, appropriation, adaptation, cultural misunderstanding, and theatrical exploration. Never losing sight of the theatrical experience, Pavis confronts problems of colonialism, anthropology, and ethnography. This signals a radical movement away from the director and the word towards the complex relationship between performance, performer, and spectator. Despite the problematic politics of cultural exchange in the theatre, interculturalism is not a one-sided process. Using the metaphor of the hourglass to discuss the transfer between source and target culture, Pavis asks what happens when the hourglass is turned upside down when the foreign culture speaks for itself.

The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry Peter Robinson, 2013-09-26 The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry offers thirty-eight chapters of ground-breaking research that form a collaborative guide to the many groupings and movements, the locations and styles, as well as the concerns, aesthetic, political, cultural, and ethical, that have helped shape contemporary poetry in Britain and Ireland. The book's introduction offers an anthropological participant-observer approach to its variously conflicted subjects while exploring the limits and openness of the contemporary as a shifting and never wholly knowable category. The five ensuing sections explore a history of the period's poetic movements, its engagement with form, technique, and the other arts; its association with particular locations and places; its connection with and difference from poetry in other parts of the world; and its circling around such ethical issues as whether poetry can perform actions in the world, can atone, redress, or repair, and how its significance is inseparable from acts of evaluation in both poets and readers. Though the book is not structured to feature chapters on authors thought to be canonical, on the principle that contemporary writers are by definition not yet canonical the volume contains commentary on many prominent poets as well as finding space for its contributors enthusiasms for numerous less familiar figures It has been organized to be read from cover to cover as an ever deepening exploration of a complex field to be read in one or more of its five thematically structured sections or indeed to be read by picking out single chapters or discussions of poets that particularly interest its individual readers
