Competition Law/US Antitrust Law and International Air Transport Angela Cheng-Jui Lu, 2003-01-01 This new study takes a keen look at the problems facing the international community due to conflicts arising from applications of varying competition laws by different competition authorities to international airline alliances As a result of privatisation deregulation liberalisation and globalisation international air carriers form alliances with one another in order to cope with growing competition in the international air transport market This book clearly provides an introduction to the background to and origin of airline alliances different models of alliances and the related anti competitive practices resulting from existing international airline alliances The potential anti competitive practices resulting from these cross border alliances trigger a great deal of concern from various competition authorities Thus this study goes on to provide a detailed analysis regarding the relevant EC competition law and US antitrust law and their applications to alliance activities The comparison of different applications of EC competition law and US antitrust law to international airline alliances provides leading research results first hand In the conclusion the essential elements regarding establishing a level playing field in the international air transport market are identified and the author provides possible solutions for the harmonisation of different applications of competition law to international airline alliances Global Alliances in the International Airline Industry Rintaro

Umenai, 1992 The Airline Industry Alessandro Cento, 2008-10-15 The debate on the future of the aviation sector and the viability of its traditional business practices is the core of this book The liberalization of the EU market in the 1990s has radically modified the competitive environment and the nature of airline competition Furthermore the new millennium began with terrorist attacks epidemics trade globalization and the rise of oil prices all of which combined to push the industry into a perfect storm Airline industry profitability has been an elusive goal for several decades and the recent events has only accentuated existing weaknesses The main concern of industry observers is whether the airline business model successful during the 1980s and 1990s is now sustainable in a market crowded by low cost carriers The airlines that will respond rapidly and determinedly to increase pressure to restructure consolidate and segment the industry will achieve competitive advantages In this context the present study aims to model the new conduct of the legacy carriers in a new liberalized European market in terms of network and pricing competition with l cost carriers and competitive reaction to the global economic crises Secretary's Task Force on Competition in the U.S. Domestic Airline Industry: Regional airline competition United States.
