and International Law Stacey Henderson, 2022-10-31
Despite repeated declarations of never again in response to the commission of atrocities civilians have continued to be targeted by their leaders and opposition groups The international law principles of sovereignty and non intervention when taken at their highest require States to stand idle and not intervene in another State regardless of what atrocities may be occurring there This traditional legal view is being challenged by an emerging practice of States choosing to respond in non forceful ways inspired by the concept of the Responsibility to Protect R2P Drawing on R2P this book introduces and develops an original conceptual tool intercession to capture and explain this change in State practice and the impact of R2P on the development of international law Through a close examination of State practice the work explores whether there has been an expansion in the permissible measures and situations in which States can intervene without using force in response to atrocity crimes occurring in other States This book concludes that the development of the secondary duty on the international community under R2P provides the greatest opportunity to progress the R2P framework in a meaningful way which will have a significant impact on the protection of populations from atrocity crimes The book will be essential reading for students researchers and policymakers working in the areas of international law international relations humanitarian law and peace and security studies

The Acquisition and Government of Backward Territory in International Law Sir Mark Frank Lindley, 1926
The salient facts in the history of the expansion of European sovereignty in America Asia Oceania and Africa from the time of the Papal Bulls to that of the bestowal of League of Nations Mandates are reviewed and the underlying rules extracted The matters considered in Part I turn mainly upon the nature of the territory to be acquired while Part II is devoted to the question who may become sovereign In Part III the various methods or processes of acquisition and related matters are dealt with the modern tendency to acquire sovereignty piecemeal being explored in chapters on such subjects as Protectorates Spheres of Influence and Leases and rights of occupation and administration Finally the author considers to what extent international law can be said to regulate the rights and duties of a State that has acquired the whole of a part of the sovereignty over backward territory in its relations with other States and with the natives and shows that rules are in process of formation for the protection of subject backward peoples in their persons and lands Hearings United States.
