The Hunters Or the Hunted? C. K. Brain, 1983-08 Amongst scientists involved in taphonomy C K Brain stands out as the pioneer this impressive book is a statement of his investigations The Hunters or the Hunted is a very important book for paleoanthropology It presents the first thorough analysis of the Sterkfontein Valley assemblages contributes significantly to the resolution of lingering controversies and by placing the old information in a fresh perspective enables new and more sophisticated questions to be asked not only of the South African material but of similar assemblages elsewhere Another contribution is that it reinforces the recent change in feelings as to what constitutes data for the value of looking at fossil and contemporary bones as closely as this is clear Brain urges the necessity of recovering fossils with a high regard for subtle detail I hope excavators of any vertebrate fossil site will be persuaded to follow his advice and pay more attention to these features of bone accumulations that have been previously neglected for taphonomy can be a powerful tool in elucidating the problems of fossil assemblages especially when handled with the care and caution that Brain brings to the subject Andrew Hill Nature

Behrensmeyer, 2007-09-08 This volume presents the work of researchers at many sites spanning the East African Pliocene The authors take a broad approach that seeks to compare paleoenvironmental and paleoecological patterns across localities and among various taxonomic groups This volume aims to synthesize large amounts of faunal data and to present the evolution of East African vertebrates in the context of environmental and climatic changes during the Pliocene Changing Climates, Ecosystems and Environments within Arid Southern Africa and Adjoining Regions Jürgen Runge, 2015-10-30 This book is volume 33 of the yearbook series Palaeoecology of Africa presenting the outcome of a tribute conference to the internationally recognized South African researcher and palynologist Professor Louis Scott He has recently retired but is continuing his active research career The conference proceedings and articles published here Tigers in Africa Carmel Schrire, 2002 This text is a presentation of the diverse themes that constitute the past at the Southern tip of Africa Human and carnivore evolution colonial slavery and apartheid science and romance are all intermeshed to show how we create the past and also how we understand the present The Origins of Human Society Peter Bogucki, 2000-01-04 The Origins of Human Society traces the development of human culture from its origins over 2 million years ago to the emergence of literate civilization In addition to a global coverage of prehistoric life the book pays specific attention to the origins and dispersal of anatomically modern humans the development of symbolic expression the transition from mobile foraging bands to sedentary households early agriculture and its consequences the emergence of social differentiation and hereditary ranking and the prehistoric roots of ancient states and empires The Blackwell History of the World Series The goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world It will comprise some two dozen volumes of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time The volumes are narrative in form giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change Each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative The Series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production Living on the edge - interdisciplinary perspectives on coastal and marine ecosystems in human prehistory Manuel Will, Andrew Green, Jon McVey Erlandson, Ximena S. Villagran, Antonieta Jerardino, 2023-06-07 The Evolution of Human Hunting Matthew H. Nitecki, Doris V. Nitecki, 2013-11-11 The successful early adaptations of man involve a complex interplay of biological and cultural factors There is a rapidly growing number of paleontologists and paleoanthropologists who are concerned with hominid foraging and the evolution of hunting New techniques of paleoanthropology and taphonomy and new information on human remains are added to the traditional approaches to the study of past human hunting and other foraging behavior There is also a resurgence of interest in the early peopling of the New World The present book is the result of the Ninth Annual Spring Systematics 10 1986 in the Symposium on the Evolution of Human Hunting held on May Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago We are grateful to the NSF grant no BNS 8519960 for partial financial support in arranging the symposium In preparation of this volume we have received assistance from many people particularly the reviewers of individual chapters it is impossible to name them all We must however single out Drs Richard G Klein and Glen H Cole for their encouragement at various stages of preparation of the symposium and this volume and for being a help to the anthropological knowledge Zbigniew Jastrzebski assisted with the figures and Paul K Johnson diligently typed the camera ready copy and patiently coordinated the endless book making chores

Evolutionary History of the Robust Australopithecines Frederick E. Grine, 2017-09-29 In paleoanthropology the group of hominids known as the robust australopithecines has emerged as one of the most interesting Through them we have the opportunity to examine the origin natural history and ultimate extinction of not just a single species but of an entire branch in the hominid fossil record It is generally agreed that the human lineage can be traced back to this group of comparatively small brained large toothed creatures This volume focuses on the evolutionary history of these early hominids with state of the art contributions by leading international authorities in the field Although a case can be made for a robust lineage the functional and taxonomic implications of the morphological features are subject to vigorous disagreement An area of lively debate is the possible causal relationship between the presence of early Homo and the origin evolution and virtual extinction of robust australopithecines This volume summarizes what has been learned about the evolutionary history of the robust australopithecines in the 50 years since Robert Broom first encountered the visage of a new kind of ape man from Kromdraai New discoveries from Kromdraai to Lomekwi have served to keep us aware that the paleontological record for hominid evolution is hardly exhausted Because of such finds no single volume can hope to stand as a summary on the robust australopithecines for very long but this classic volume comes close to achieving this goal The book sheds new light upon some old questions and also acts to provide new questions The answers to those questions bring us closer to a fuller understanding and appreciation of the origins evolution and ultimate demise of the robust australopithecines Since the robust australopithecines most likely stand as our closest relatives a better understanding of their origin history and demise serves to provide heightened appreciation of the course of human evolution itself This definitive volume addresses the questions and problems surrounding this important lineage
