Insurance and Employee Benefits Literature ,1981 When Insurers Go Bust Guillaume Plantin, Jean-Charles Rochet, 2016-06-28 In the 1990s large insurance companies failed in virtually every major market prompting a fierce and ongoing debate about how to better protect policyholders Drawing lessons from the failures of four insurance companies When Insurers Go Bust dramatically advances this debate by arguing that the current approach to insurance regulation should be replaced with mechanisms that replicate the governance of non financial firms Rather than immediately addressing the minutiae of supervision Guillaume Plantin and Jean Charles Rochet first identify a fundamental economic rationale for supervising the solvency of insurance companies policyholders are the bankers of insurance companies But because policyholders are too dispersed to effectively monitor insurers it might be efficient to delegate monitoring to an institution a prudential authority Applying recent developments in corporate finance theory and the economic theory of organizations the authors describe in practical terms how such authorities could be created and given the incentives to behave exactly like bankers behave toward borrowers as tough claimholders Statistical Reference Index ,1980 Consumer Insurance (Disclosure and Representations) Bill [HL] Great Britain: Parliament: Special Public Bill Committee, 2011-12 Consumer Insurance Disclosure and Representations Bill HL Data Profiling and Insurance Law Brendan McGurk KC, 2019-03-21 The winner of the 2020 British Insurance Law Association Book Prize this timely expertly written book looks at the legal impact that the use of Big Data will have on the provision and substantive law of insurance Insurance companies are set to become some of the biggest consumers of big data which will enable them to profile prospective individual insureds at an increasingly granular level More particularly the book explores how i insurers gain access to information relevant to assessing risk and or the pricing of premiums ii the impact which that increased information will have on substantive insurance law and in particular duties of good faith disclosure and fair presentation of risk and iii the impact that insurers new knowledge may have on individual and group access to insurance This raises several consequential legal questions i To what extent is the use of big data analytics to profile risk compatible at least in the EU with the General Data Protection Regulation ii Does insurers ability to parse vast quantities of individual data about insureds invert the information asymmetry that has historically existed between insured and insurer such as to breathe life into insurers duty of good faith disclosure And iii by what means might legal challenges be brought against insurers both in relation to the use of big data and the consequences it may have on access to cover Written by a leading expert in the field this book will both stimulate further debate and operate as a reference text for academics and practitioners who are faced with emerging legal problems arising from the increasing opportunities that big data offers to the insurance industry The Computer Data and Database Source Book Matthew Lesko, 1984 Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin, 1988 PAIS Bulletin ,1989 Statistical Services Directory ,1984 Gale Directory of Databases ,2001
