Burritt, 2020-04-11 This book demonstrates the complexity of nineteenth century Britain's engagement with Palestine and its surrounds through the conceptual framing of the region as the Holy Land British engagement with the region of the Near East in the nineteenth century was multi faceted and part of its complexity was exemplified in the powerful relationship between developing and diverse Protestant theologies visual culture and imperial identity Britain's Holy Land was visualised through pictorial representation which helped Christians to imagine the land in which familiar Bible stories took place This book explores ways in which the geopolitical Holy Land was understood as embodying biblical land biblical history and biblical typology Through case studies of three British artists David Roberts David Wilkie and William Holman Hunt this book provides a nuanced interpretation of some of the motivations religious perspectives attitudes and behaviours of British Protestants in their relationship with the Near East at the time

Scotland, Ireland, and the Romantic Aesthetic David Duff, Catherine Jones, 2007 The book offers an exciting new map of the cultural geography of the Romantic era and establishes a dynamic methodology for future comparative work

Heritage and Museums J.M. Fladmark, 2015-11-17 Papers from the 1999 conference by the Museum of Scotland Aims to generate international comparison and debate about interpretation and presentation of heritage assets and to examine the role of museums in shaping national identity From an Antique Land Anne MacLeod, 2012-11-05 This book looks at visual images as an alternative and undervalued source of evidence for ideas about the Scottish Gaidhealtachd in the period 1700-1880 Illustrated with 100 plates it brings together many little known and previously unrelated images Addressing the textual bias inherent in Scottish historical studies the book examines a broad range of maps plans paintings drawings sketches and printed images arguing that the concept of antiquity was the single most powerful influence driving the visual representation of the Highlands and Islands from 1700 to 1880 and indeed beyond Successive chapters look at archaeological ethnological and geological motives for visualising the Highlands and at the bias in favour of antiquity which resulted from the spread of these intellectual influences into the fine arts The book concludes that the shadow of time which hallmarked visual representations of the region resulted in a preservationist mentality which has had powerful repercussions for approaches to Highland issues down to the present day The book will appeal to historians art historians cultural geographers and the general reader interested in Highland history and culture Music and British Culture, 1785-1914

Christina Bashford, Leanne Langley, 2000 This book takes the themes and approaches of Professor Cyril Ehrlich's pathbreaking work on British social history in music as its inspiration In sixteen substantial new essays all specially commissioned from cultural and musical historians it embraces the music marketplace piano culture musicians work patterns music institutions and audiences concert and repertoire history issues in performance criticism and reception gender and national and urban identities all with a clear focus on art music traditions significantly under treated by music scholars in this area The cultural importance of serious music from Belfast to Calcutta has long been assumed for the period but rarely demonstrated Here it is central interwoven with the social and economic realities confronting music people in Britain across the 19th century
