The Confessions Of Jeremiah Their Interpretation And Role In Chapters 125:

Theodicy in Habakkuk Grace Ko, 2014-09-01 This extraordinary work explains how the writer of the book of Habakkuk resolves the issue of theodicy Reading the book as a literary whole Grace Ko uses a holistic synchronic approach to investigate how its writer presents his case and how he reaches the final resolution of his problem Since theodicy is a common human issue raised during atrocity Habakkuk's experience becomes a source of hope and resolute faith for the believing community in the midst of severe adversity

COMMENDATION Theodicy in Habakkuk is a welcome addition to the interpretation of the prophetic message of Habakkuk This sensible clearly written book deserves the attention of all serious Old Testament scholars and students J Glen Taylor Wycliffe College University of Toronto Canada

Jeremiah Under the Shadow of Duhm Joseph M. Henderson, 2019-11-14 Joe Henderson offers a critique of the assumption that poetic form in the book of Jeremiah indicates authenticity This assumption undergirds Bernhard Duhm's reconstructions 1901 of the prophet's biography and the book's composition the basic components of the dominant paradigm for twentieth century Jeremiah scholarship Henderson argues that Duhm's model is best understood as an attempt to bring the book into conformity with nineteenth century systems of aesthetics historiography and theology and with the Grafian reconstruction of the history of Israel's religion The accord between these systems and Duhm's assumption about poetic form has less to do with their common grasp of the historical reality of Hebrew prophecy than with their common roots in the Romantic theory of prophetic and poetic inspiration a theory forged by Robert Lowth in his exposition 1752 of the poetry he found in the prophetic books Henderson contends that continued adherence to Duhm's foundational assumption has held back recent attempts to move beyond Duhm and overcome the fragmentation of the book entailed by his model Rhetorical critics who maintain that Jeremiah 2 10 is unified by the structural devices of the historical prophet and redaction critics who maintain that Jeremiah 11 20 is unified by the theological agenda of Deuteronomistic editors both rely on the assumed authenticity of the poetry Henderson observes that although these scholars have uncovered evidence of dramatic presentation in Jeremiah 2 20 they have failed to see that the dramatic nature of these chapters undermines their use for Duhm's historical critical projects and reveals what actually unifies them narrative progression

The Prophetic Literature Prof. Marvin A. Sweeney, 2010-10-01 Biblical Studies Biblical texts create worlds of meaning and invite readers to enter them When readers enter such textual worlds which are often strange and complex they are confronted with theological claims With this in mind the purpose of the Interpreting Biblical Texts series is to help serious readers in their experience of reading and interpreting by providing guides for their journeys into textual worlds The controlling perspective is expressed in the operative word of the title interpreting The primary focus of the series is not so much on the world behind the texts or out of which the texts have arisen as on the worlds created by the texts in their engagement with readers Although these books of the prophets are based upon the careers and experiences of some of the most talented and provocative individuals of their times the books must be read first as literature Each book displays its own unique organization literary characteristics and theological outlook in presenting the prophets In the case of Jeremiah interpreters must even consider two distinctive forms of the book in the Hebrew Bible and the Greek Septuagint By guiding the reader through the literary structure and language of each of the prophetic books as well as the social roles of the individual prophets this volume opens the reader to greater understanding and appreciation of the prophets of Israel and Judah Fact packed and crystal clear Marvin Sweeney s Interpreting Biblical Texts The Prophetic Literature invites readers to tour the landscape of ancient Israel s Latter Prophets corpus Sweeney serves as a first rate guide equipping readers with basic knowledge to grasp and grapple with the literary legacies of the canonical prophets True to the series title he interprets texts with an eye to major dynamic themes in Jewish and Christian traditions The volume proves a reliable guidebook for readers wishing not only to survey but also to engage in dialogue with ancient Israel s canonical prophets Katheryn Pfisterer Darr Professor of Hebrew Bible Boston University The aim of the series Interpreting Biblical Texts is pedagogical This well written easy to follow and coherent book serves its purpose well More importantly it certainly invites and guides its readers in the enterprise of interacting with the prophetic books in a way that is informed by recent academic scholarship on this literature Ehud Ben Zvi History and Classics Interdisciplinary Program of Religious Studies University of Alberta This is a new and interesting approach to the prophetic literature which will be illuminating for theological reflection in our own post Holocaust era John J Collins Holmes Professor of Old Testament Yale Marvin A Sweeney is Professor of Hebrew Bible Claremont School of Theology and Professor of Religion at Claremont Graduate University

The Self-Shaming God Who Reconciles Warner M. Bailey, 2013-06-10 Trust is at the heart of healthy relationships When trust is broken the victim is made to feel as nothing The Bible calls this experience of betrayal to be shamed When the victim names God as the betrayer those who exercise pastoral care in the church are faced with a spiritual crisis Pastors and those who exercise pastoral care are led through biblical study and theological reflection to insights that strengthen their role in the recovery of both the victims and the perpetrators of betrayal Central to this recovery is the solidarity of the self shaming God with both victim and perpetrator At the cross shame reaches its most intense expression as Jesus voices his abandonment by God Centering this pivotal experience in a doctrine of the Trinity makes clear how shame defines the very core of the redemptive work of God as Father Son and Spirit Through the resurrection of Jesus God triumphs over shame and this vindication of God s integrity is the basis for the evangelistic preaching of the early church The Self Shaming God Who Reconciles underscores how Scripture functions as a theological document when interpreted canonically

The Vengeance of God Eric Peels, 2021-11-22 This book deals with the Old Testament theme of the vengeance of YHWH discussing both the exegetical and theological aspects of a biblical notion that until now has received far too little attention in scholarly research After an exploration of the Umwelt use of the root NQM vengeance avenge in the main part of the study all relevant Old Testament texts are dealt with in a thorough exegetical investigation This leads to a theological outline which stresses the important place and positive function of God's vengeance in the Old Testament revelation. The theories of G E Mendenhall, P Volz and K Koch with regard to the theme of vengeance are criticized. Of special interest are the additional sections on the issues of blood vengeance and the imprecatory prayers.

Second Zechariah and the Deuteronomistic School Raymond F. Person, 1993-01-01 Person concludes that the Deuteronomistic school's redactional activity continued into the postexilic period. In Part I he first critiques the commonly held conclusion that the Deuteronomistic school ceased in the Exile. He then presents evidence that suggests that the Deuteronomistic redactions of the Deuteronomistic History and Jeremiah continued into the postexilic period; this evidence is of two types: 1. Deuteronomistic phraseology in the postexilic additions found in the MT and 2. the themes of return and restoration as vaticinia ex eventu. In Part II the conclusion that the Deuteronomistic school continued in the postexilic period is bolstered with additional evidence in the form of Deuteronomistic phraseology in the redactional material of Second Zechariah, adapting the methodology applied by J Philip Hyatt and others to Jeremiah. Person argues that Zechariah was redacted by the Deuteronomistic school with the addition of the Deuteronomistic prose in Zechariah 9-14. In Part III Person comments on the possible social setting of the Deuteronomistic school in postexilic Yehud as well as its theology in this setting.

TANAK Marvin A. Sweeney, 2011-11-01 Though biblical theology has long been considered a strictly Christian enterprise, Marvin A. Sweeney here proposes a Jewish theology of the Hebrew Bible based on the importance of Tanak as the foundation of Judaism and organized around the major components: Torah, Nevi'im (Prophets) and Ketuvim (Writings). Sweeney finds the structuring themes of Jewish life: the constitution of the nation Israel in relation to God, the disruption of that ideal documented by the Prophets, and the reconstitution of the nation around the Second Temple in the Writings. Throughout he is attentive to tensions within and among the texts and the dialogical character of Israel's sacred heritage.

Publisher description The Responsive Self Susan Niditch, 2015-09-01 Works created in the period from the Babylonian conquest of Judea through the takeover and rule of Judea and Samaria by imperial Persia reveal a profound interest in the religious responses of individuals and an intimate engagement with the nature of personal experience. Using the rich and varied body of literature preserved in the Hebrew Bible, Susan Niditch examines ways in which followers of Yahweh participating in long-standing traditions are shown to privatize and personalize religion. Their experiences remain relevant to many of the questions we still ask today: Why do bad things happen to good people? Does God hear me when I call out in trouble? How do I define myself? Do I have a personal relationship with a divine being? How do I cope with chaos and make sense of my experience? What roles do material objects and private practices play within my religious life? These questions deeply engaged the ancient writers of the Bible and they continue to intrigue contemporary people who try to find meaning in life and to make sense of the world. The Responsive Self studies a variety of phenomena including the use of first person speech, seemingly autobiographic forms and orientations, the emphasis on individual responsibility for sin, interest in the emotional dimensions of biblical characters and descriptions of self-imposed ritual. This set of interests lends itself to exciting approaches in the contemporary study of religion including the concept of lived religion and involves understanding and describing what people actually do and believe in cultures of religion

The Formation of the Book of Jeremiah Geoffrey H. Parke-Taylor, 2000 Good Figs, Bad Figs R.J.R. Plant, 2008-03-15

Good Figs Bad Figs begins by reviewing how the Old Testament depicts YHWH exercising judgment in Israel Three broad categories of judicial action are identified selective unselective and national It is noted that more than one of these may be juxtaposed within the same text and that each is a corollary of a wider theological frame of reference The rest of the study focuses on the concept of judicial differentiation in the book of Jeremiah Jeremiah 1 20 announce wrath upon all Judah while chs 30 33 prophesy restoration for the entire Diaspora Elsewhere however YHWH s judicial action is more nuanced Jer 21 24 differentiates between those who stay in Jerusalem and those who surrender 21 1 10 between Israel s leaders and people 23 1 8 and between the exiles and non exiles 24 1 10 Jeremiah 27 29 also distinguishes between exiled and non exiled communities but adds a people and prophets polarity Finally Jer 37 45 offers hope to those who surrender 38 1 3 or remain in the land 42 1 22 alongside salvation oracles for two individuals who do not conform to these conditions 39 15 18 45 1 5 Three main conclusions are drawn Firstly the polarities of judgment and salvation in Jer are more varied than has generally been appreciated Secondly this diversity of perspective is theologically significant it is suggested that each polarity offers a valid though incomplete lens through which to interpret God s judicial action Thirdly the concepts of judicial differentiation and non differentiation may offer a helpful framework in which to read the book of Jeremiah as a whole
