Karen Brewster, 2025-02-03 The Whales They Give Themselves is an intimate life history of Harry Brower Sr 1924 1992 an Inupiaq whaling captain artisan and community leader from Barrow Alaska In a life that spanned the profound cultural and economic changes of the twentieth century Brower's vast knowledge of the natural world made him an essential contributor to the Native and scientific communities of the North His desire to share his insights with future generations resulted in a series of conversations with friend and oral historian Karen Brewster who weaves Harry's stories with cultural and historical background into this innovative and collaborative oral biography Brower was deeply committed to Native culture and his life history is a moving expression of the Inupiaq way of life He was also influential in traditionally non Native arenas in which Native and non Native values sometimes collided Acting as a mediator between Inupiaq whalers and non Native scientists Brower communicated a vast understanding of bowhead whales and whaling that became the basis for a scientific research program and helped protect Inupiaq subsistence whaling He was a central architect of the Arctic Slope Regional Corporation boundaries and served for over twenty years as a consultant to scientists at the Naval Arctic Research Laboratory Brower's role in this collaborative research serves as one of the earliest and best examples of how scientists and Native experts can work together to advance knowledge Such approaches are now promoted by researchers around the world The Whales They Give Themselves not only conveys Brower's life story but also is a cross cultural journey of wisdom and friendship Whereas academic oral historians once strove to erase the presence of the interviewer in the name of objectivity Brewster recognizes the influence her specific relationship with Brower had on the way he narrated his life This volume is a major contribution to our understanding of northern peoples and a testament to the immense value of collaborative oral history Ancient Harp Seal Hunters of Disko Bay Morten Meldgaard, 2004 The Saqqaaq Culture site Qeqertasussuk 2400 1400 BC is situated in the south eastern corner of Disko Bay West Greenland The site was excavated between 1983 and 1987 by Qasigiannnguit Museum The stratified cultural deposits are exceptionally well preserved by permafrost and yielded hundreds of thousands of animal bones feathers plant remains insect remains wooden implements and a wealth of other organic refuse as well as stone tools house ruins stone set fireplaces and other traces of habitation In order to understand the life conditions of the inhabitants at Qeqertasussuk a comparative survey of the historic distribution density and availability of the living resources in the area is undertaken This resource model is then evaluated against the paleo environmental data Also comparative ethnohistorical and ethnographic data on the exploitation of the living resources in the area is presented Subsistence and subsistence change at Qeqertasussuk is studied through a comprehensive analysis of the faunal material that consists of more than 200 000 animal bones Quantitative methods are supplemented by detailed studies of seasonality and age composition of the hunting bag Forty three species of animals are represented Harp seal and ringed seal represent the most important game but sea birds such as fulmar Br nnich s guillemot and little auk also play a significant role in the subsistence economy Fish especially Atlantic Cod have been caught and remains of large whales indicate that these animals were utilized but it can not be decided whether they were actively hunted Most of the game was taken close by the site however finds of caribou indicate that inland caribou hunting was undertaken and that Qeqertasussuk was part of a larger subsistence settlement system Several species of plants were also utilized Temporal changes in the composition of the faunal material indicate that significant changes occur in the subsistence at Qeqertasussuk Four phases are identified 1 Basecamp period I 2400 2100 BC A pioneer phase where the site is used as a year round base camp with more than 90% of the biomass being harvested within an area of approximately 80 km² 2 Base camp period II 2100 1900 BC which seems to be the period of most intensive use and where new methods probably netting of harp seal hunting are introduced 3 Hunting camp period 1900 1700 BC where the site becomes more specialized and more seasonal with a focus on spring summer hunting for harp seals 4 high activity period 1700 1400 BC indications of continued heavy sea mammal hunting The site was abandoned around 1400 BC The causes of the abandonment of Qeqertasussuk is discussed and the impact of the general cooling around 1500 BC on key resources such as harp seal and capelin is highlighted

Nuvisavik Maria Von Finkenstein, 2002-02-07 In 1970 a small group of young Inuit women in Pangnirtung on Baffin Island began to tell a story a story about their past their culture their lives a story told through woven pictures The first book dedicated to the art form of tapestry weaving Nuvisavik shows how weaving became a bridge between nomadic camp life and life in a permanent settlement The tapestries meticulously woven by women trained by their mothers as seamstresses portray images wistfully remembered by elders in the community and captured by local artists Both the drawings and the tapestries convey the pride of the Inuit in their culture The tapestries are presented against a rich cultural and historical context Two of the essays in the book are based on interviews with elders and reflect the colourful history of the Cumberland Sound where sustained contact between Inuit and Americans and Scots began as early as the mid nineteenth century The cultural content of the tapestries is discussed by members of the Inuit community decoding otherwise enigmatic and puzzling images A wonderful blend of art history and cultural history Nuvisavik will
