Alves,2011-05-01 All theories of social change says Alves rest squarely on the economic and structural forces operative in society at any given moment in history Thus many of the proposals offered by today s futurologists fall considerably short of social revolution They are in effect extrapolations from the functional matrix of our society Like the dinosaurs who disappeared not because they were too weak but because they were too strong our civilization is motivated less by the desire for internal growth and existential relevance than it is by blind outward expansion We are determined by a triangle of interlocking systems each deriving and giving life to the others the power of the sword the power of money and the power of science In this context to be a realist is to accept the rules of the game laid down by the power lords of our rational society whose goals are war production and consumption But the utopian mentality argues Alves wants to create a qualitatively new order in which economy must abandon the goal of infinite growth The only way out then is to abort realism from the body politic and impregnate it with the power of the imagination This book clears away the debris of realism and lays the groundwork for a constructive theory of creative imagination moving us toward new forms of social organization where the community of faith can be found The Knights M.L.
