Kugel, 2021-09-06 These essays by some of today s greatest scholars of Judaism and Hellenism in antiquity explore a variety of ways in which these two great civilizations interacted The common focus of these studies is the transition from one culture to the next how words or concepts or conventions from the one came to be transplanted and often modified in the process in the other Taken together however they provide something broader a large variegated picture of the cultural interaction that was to prove so crucial for the later history of Judaism and Christianity Didymus the Blind and the Alexandrian Christian Reception of Philo Justin M. Rogers, 2017-09-29 Explore the Jewish traditions preserved in the commentaries of a largely neglected Alexandrian Christian exegete Justin M Rogers surveys commentaries on Genesis Job Psalms Ecclesiastes and Zechariah by Didymus the Blind ca 313 398 CE who was regarded by his students as one of the greatest Christian exegetes of the fourth century Rogers highlights Didymus s Jewish sources zeroing in on traditions of Philo of Alexandria whose treatises were directly accessible to Didymus while he was authoring his exegetical works Philonic material in Didymus is covered by extensive commentary demonstrating that Philo was among the principle sources for the exegetical works of Didymus the Blind Rogers also explores the mediating influence of the Alexandrian Christian tradition focusing especially on the roles of Clement and Origen Features Fresh insights into the Alexandrian Christian reception of Philo A thorough discussion of Didymus s exegetical method particularly in the Commentary on Genesis Examination of the use and importance of Jewish and Christian sources in Late Antique Christian commentaries Theological Index Howard Malcolm, 1868 The Youth's Companion Nathaniel Willis, Daniel Sharp Ford, 1899 Includes music Roman Christianity and Roman Stoicism Runar Thorsteinsson, 2010-05-28 Christianity is commonly held to have introduced an entirely new and better morality into the ancient world a new morality that was decidedly universal in contrast to the ethics of the philosophical schools which were only concerned with the intellectual few Runar M Thorsteinsson presents a challenge to this view by comparing Christian morality in first century Rome with contemporary Stoic ethics in the city Thorsteinsson introduces and discusses the moral teaching of Roman Stoicism of Seneca Musonius Rufus and Epictetus He then presents the moral teaching of Roman Christianity as it is represented in Paul s Letter to the Romans the First Letter of Peter and the First Letter of Clement Having established the bases for his comparison he examines the similarities and differences between Roman Stoicism and Roman Christianity in terms of morality Five broad themes are used for the comparison questions of Christian and Stoic views about a particular morality or way of life as proper worship of the deity certain individuals like Jesus and Socrates as paradigms for the proper way of life the importance of mutual love and care non retaliation and love of enemies and the social dimension of ethics This approach reveals a fundamental similarity between the moral teachings of Roman Christianity and Roman Stoicism The most basic difference is found in the ethical scope of the two While the latter teaches unqualified universal humanity the former seems to condition the ethical scope in terms of religious adherence
