The Incognito Lounge Denis Johnson, 1982 The Incognito Lounge Denis Johnson, 1982 Incognito Lounge Denis Johnson, 2025-02-20 Real Things Jim Elledge, Susan Swartwout, 1999-03-22 What a great premise for an anthology And it succeeds both in its celebration of our crazy culture and its fascinating analysis through the poems of popular myths that have stood the test of time Kliatt In the past few decades poetry about and around popular culture has become a very hip contemporary art form Real Things is a collection of over 150 poems by more than 130 poets who themselves represent the cultural diversity of the United States With subjects ranging from the influence of Mickey Mouse on child raising to the relationship of Barbie to sex in America from the societal effects of the movie Psycho to our fascination with dirty politics and Ralph Kramden the poems in this anthology question and celebrate the attitudes that our society shares Where the Angels Come Toward Us David St. John, 1995 For almost twenty years from the publication of his seminal and highly influential collection of poems Hush to the appearance of the stunning Study for the World's Body New and Selected Poems David St John has been considered one of the most accomplished and innovative of all American poets Here for the first time David St John has selected from essays and reviews written over the course of his career about many of the major figures of our time W S Merwin Philip Levine Mark Strand Charles Wright Donald Hall Marvin Bell Donald Justice Jorie Graham and dozens of others and brought them together with six uncompromising and refreshingly candid interviews about the craft of poetry and the state of poetry today Always passionate about the poets he loves and always provocative in his poetic judgements David St John has given us a lucid and exciting volume of prose that all readers of poetry can turn to for both pleasure and instruction Back cover Just Business Julie Cannon, 2009-03-01 What should be just business becomes much more when two women agree to a deal that changes their lives Real estate tycoon Dillon Matthews in the middle of negotiating the deal of her life is stunned when the owner of the small parcel of land she desperately needs to complete her latest project presents the final condition she must meet to close the deal Callie Sheffield is struggling to pay the attorney she has hired to appeal her brother's conviction for a crime he didn't commit When Dillon and Callie meet by chance they realize each has what the other needs A simple business transaction will give them both what they need until love threatens to derail the negotiations Holding Patterns Daniel McGuinness, 2001-03-29 Argues that if poems are to matter in American culture they must be read rather than theorized over Food and Loathing Betsy Lerner, 2004-02-23 The author traces her lifetime struggle with an eating disorder and depression describing how her size and self esteem were intertwined her experiences with support groups and therapy her education and the family secrets that haunted her recovery The Soho Press Book of '80s Short Fiction Dale Peck, 2016-06-07 In The Soho Press Book of 80s Short Fiction editor Dale Peck offers readers a fresh take on a seminal period in American history when Ronald Reagan was president the Cold War was rushing to its conclusion and literature was searching for ways to move beyond the postmodern unease of the 1970s Morally charged

by newly politicized notions of identity but fraught with anxiety about a body whose fragility had been freshly emphasized by the AIDS epidemic the 34 works gathered here are individually vivid but taken as a body of work they challenge the prevailing notion of the 80s as a time of aesthetic as well as financial maximalism Formally inventive yet tightly controlled they offer a more expansive inclusive view of the era's literary accomplishments The anthology blends early stories from writers like Denis Johnson Jamaica Kincaid Mary Gaitskill and Raymond Carver which have gone on to become part of the American canon with remarkable and often transgressive work from some of the most celebrated writers of the underground including Dennis Cooper Eileen Myles Lynne Tillman and Gary Indiana Peck has also included powerful work by writers such as Gil Cuadros Essex Hemphill and Sam D Allesandro whose untimely deaths from AIDS ended their careers almost before they had begun Almost a third of the stories are out of print and unavailable elsewhere The Soho Press Book of 80s Short Fiction is a daring reappraisal of a decade that is increasingly central to our culture

Will Alexander's Poetics Joshua Schuster, 2025-09-26 This volume brings together academic and poetic essays which focus on Will Alexander's complete oeuvre The collection explores Alexander's long career in African American avant garde poetry and sheds light on other genres of Alexander's work in addition to poetry including essays plays aphorisms novels dialogues and drawings Each contribution contextualizes Alexander's work in the many traditions and literatures his work draws from including African American poetics ecopoetics post colonial and anti colonial poetics bio and geo histories and global practices of consciousness raising and spiritual transformation among other topics The volume also includes a new interview with Alexander as well as one of his long unpublished poems Alexander's writings are multi generic and traverse many fields and states of consciousness This edited collection thus provides a deep and sustained engagement with Alexander's work surveying how it has transformed the landscape of poetics the avant garde and the individual reader

Introspection and Contemporary Poetry Alan Bacher Williamson, 1984 In this bold defense of so called confessional poetry Alan Williamson shows us that much of the best writing of the past twenty five years is about the sense of being or having a self a knowable personal identity The difficulties posed by this subject help explain the fertility of contemporary poetic experiment from the jaggedness of the later work of Robert Lowell to the montage like methods of John Ashbery from the visual surrealism of James Wright and W S Merwin to the radical plainness of Frank Bidart Williamson examines these and other poets from a psychological perspective giving an especially striking reading of Sylvia Plath

Jesus' Son Denis Johnson, 2009-10-13 American master Denis Johnson's nationally bestselling collection of blistering and indelible tales about America's outcasts and wanderers Denis Johnson's now classic story collection Jesus Son chronicles a wild netherworld of addicts and lost souls a violent and disordered landscape that encompasses every extreme of American culture These are stories of transcendence and spiraling grief of hallucinations and glories of getting lost and found and lost again The insights and careening energy in Jesus Son have earned the book a place of its own among the classics of twentieth century American literature It was adapted

Both Flesh and Not David Foster Wallace, 2024-09-24 Fifteen never before collected essays by one of America's most daring and talented writers all published in book form for the first time Los Angeles Times Book Review Never has Wallace's seemingly endless curiosity been more evident than in this compilation of work spanning nearly 20 years of writing Here Wallace turns his critical eye with equal enthusiasm toward Roger Federer and Jorge Luis Borges Terminator 2 and The Best of the Prose Poem the nature of being a fiction writer and the quandary of defining the essay the best underappreciated novels and the English language's most irksome misused words and much more Both Flesh and Not restores Wallace's essays as originally written and it includes a selection from his personal vocabulary list an assembly of unusual words and definitions Scarily astute For Wallace devotees these essays are required reading Booklist Displays the late author's vast intellectual curiosity showcase's Wallace's ever evolving intimate and often humorous relationship with language The New Yorker At their best these essays remind us of Wallace's arsenal of talents his restless heat seeking reportorial eye his ability to convey the physical or emotional truth of things with a couple of flicks of the wrist his capacity to make leaps from the mundane to the metaphysical with breathtaking velocity and ardor New York Times Every one of these pieces hums with Wallace's contrary energy They show a mind at work and it was one of the best this country has seen Boston Sunday Globe

We Were Here Matt de la Peña, 2010-09-14 Newbery Award winning author Matt de la Peña's We Were Here is a fast funny smart and heartbreaking novel Booklist When it happened Miguel was sent to Juvi The judge gave him a year in a group home said he had to write in a journal so some counselor could try to figure out how he thinks The judge had no idea that he actually did Miguel a favor Ever since it happened his mom can't even look at him in the face Any home besides his would be a better place to live But Miguel didn't bet on meeting Rondell or Mong or on any of what happened after they broke out He only thought about Mexico and getting to the border to where he could start over Forget his mom Forget his brother Forget himself Life usually doesn't work out how you think it will though And most of the time running away is the quickest path right back to what you're running from From the streets of Stockton to the beaches of Venice all the way to the Mexican border We Were Here follows a journey of self discovery by a boy who is trying to forgive himself in an unforgiving world Fast funny smart and heartbreaking The contemporary survival adventure will keep readers hooked Booklist This gripping story about underprivileged teens is a rewarding read VOYA A furiously paced and gripping novel Publishers Weekly A story of friendship that will appeal to teens and will engage the most reluctant readers Kirkus Reviews An ALA YALSA Best Book for Young Readers An ALA YALSA Quick Pick for Reluctant Readers A Junior Library Guild Selection

the technical similarities between his poetry and painting or between his use of language and poststructuralism Frank O Hara and the Poetics of Saying I argues that what is most significant in O Hara s work is not such much his borrowing from painters or his proto Derridean use of language but his preoccupation with self exploration and the temporal effects of his work as artifacts Following Pasternak s understanding of artistic inspiration as an act of love for the material world O Hara explores moments of experience in an effort to both complicate and enrich our experience of the material world On the one hand in poems such as Second Avenue for example O Hara works to muddy language through which experience is in part mediated with the use of parataxis allusions and absurd metaphors and similes On the other in his I do this I do that poems he names the events of his lunch hour in an effort among other things to experience time as a moment of fullness rather than as a moment of loss The book argues furthermore that O Hara s view of the self as both an expression of the creative force at work in the world and as the temporal aggregate of finite experiences places him between so called Romantic and postmodern theories of the lyric While it is often argued that O Hara is a forerunner of a new critically informed materialist poetics this study concludes that O Hara s work is somewhat less radical in its understanding of poetic meaning than is often claimed Moreover while O Hara is preoccupied with his experience in his poems the book argues that he espouses in some respects a rather traditional view of love In addition to being a metaphor for the creative act love for O Hara is the chance coming together of two entities Yet one of the ironies of this is that while love is for O Hara a feeling that is the result of movement or the unexpected coming together of two otherwise separ

Music's Spell Emily Fragos, 2009-03-31 Music may be the universal language that needs no words the language where all language ends as Rilke put it but that has not stopped poets from ancient times to the present from trying to represent it in verse Here are Rumi and Shakespeare Elizabeth Bishop and Billy Collins the wild pipes of William Blake the weeping guitars of Federico Garc a Lorca and the jazz rhythms of Langston Hughes Wallace Stevens on Mozart and Thom Gunn on Elvis the range of poets and of their approaches to the subject is as wide and varied as music itself The poems are divided into sections on pop and rock jazz and blues specific composers and works various musical instruments the human voice the connection between music and love and music at the close of life The result is a symphony of poetic voices of all tenors and tones the perfect gift for all musicians and music lovers
