Sources of Industrial Leadership David C. Mowery, Richard R. Nelson, 1999-10-13 This book describes and analyzes how seven major high tech industries evolved in the United States Japan and Western Europe The industries covered are machine tools organic chemical products pharmaceuticals medical devices computers semiconductors and software In each of these industries firms located in one or a very few countries became the clear technological and commercial leaders In a number of cases the locus of leadership changed sometimes more than once over the course of the histories studied The focus of the book is on the key factors that supported the emergence of national leadership in each industry and the reasons behind the shifts when they occurred Special attention is given to the national policies that helped to create or sustain industrial leadership

The Transfer of Technology to Developing Countries and the Role of the Foreign Corporation Peter Frederick Cory,1979 Remaking China Policy Richard Harris

Moorsteen,Morton Abramowitz,1971 Authors Moorsteen and Abramowitz propose a plan of action for improving U S China relations that should stimulate the American public as well as Washington decisionmakers Dealing effectively with China requires both a long term perspective and an approach that faces up to fundamental issues going beyond atmospherics and gestures

Transnational Corporations and Innovatory Activities John Cantwell,1994 Global Transformations David Held,1999 In this book the authors set forth a new model of globalization that lays claims to supersede existing models and then use this model to assess the way the processes of globalization have operated in different historic periods in respect to political organization military globalization trade finance corporate productivity migration culture and the environment Each of these topics is covered in a chapter which contrasts the contemporary nature of globalization with that of earlier epochs In mapping the shape and political consequences of globalization the authors concentrate on six states in advanced capitalist societies SIACS the United States the United Kingdom Sweden France Germany and Japan For comparative purposes other states particularly those with developing economics are referred to and discussed where relevant The book concludes by systematically describing and assessing contemporary globalization and appraising the implications of globalization for the sovereignty and autonomy of SIACS It also confronts directly the political fatalism that surrounds much discussion of globalization with a normative agenda that elaborates the possibilities for democratizing and civilizing the unfolding global transformation
