The Constitution Of The Ego:

The Prism of the Self S.G. Crowell, 2013-03-09 This volume contains sixteen essays written by his students and colleagues in honor of Maurice Natanson. The essays explore some of the diverse themes Professor Natanson has pursued through forty years of teaching and philosophizing in the tradition of existential phenomenology. Because it also includes a lengthy biographical and philosophical interview where one can find an absorbing account of Natanson's Lebenslauf in his own words, there is no need to detail that polypragmatic career here. Suffice to say that even passing acquaintance with the man and the work will reveal that Edmund Husserl's self-description holds equally of his distinguished interpreter. I seek not to instruct but only to lead to point out and describe what I see. I claim no other right than that of speaking according to my best lights principally before myself but in the same manner also before others as one who has lived in all its seriousness the fate of a philosophical existence. For Natanson, as the diversity of the contributions to this volume attest, such seriousness involves something other than that narrow technical vision for which a topic is the more philosophical the less it has to do with anything else. In Natanson's pages to say nothing of his teaching and conversation, there are no men of straw but living breathing human beings with whom philosophy's tentacles are ubiquitous. Presence and Coincidence Chris Macann, 2012-12-06 For some twenty years now I have been working on a philosophical programme which falls into two parts: a systematic metaphysics to be entitled Being and Becoming conceived in the general framework of ontological phenomenology but employing what I call a genetic methodology and an historical interpretation designed to support and confirm the ontological philosophy in question. The historical part of the overall programme was originally conceived in the form of an Epochal Interpretation of the history of modern philosophy from Descartes on. Part of the material accumulated towards such an Epochal Interpretation has however been deployed rather differently. First the Kant material has already been turned into an interpretive transformation of Kant's Critical Philosophy. Second the material on Husserl's Phenomenological Philosophy now forms the basis of the present study. The interpretive transformation of Kant's Critical philosophy was published by Winter Verlag in the context of a Humboldt fellowship. In that work I took Heidegger's Kant and the Problem of Metaphysics as my model. Like Heidegger I subjected the Critical Philosophy to an interpretive procedure as a result of which I finished up with structures matching and reflecting the basic structures of my own genetic ontology. But I sought to overcome certain limitations inherent in the Heideggerian project. Husserl and the Promise of Time Nicolas de Warren, 2009-11-05 This book examines Husserl's treatment of time consciousness and its significance for his conception of subjectivity. The Constitution of the Ego Alfred Percy Sinnett, 1899 Ontology and Ethics in Sartre's Early Philosophy Yiwei Zheng, 2005-01-01 At the end of Being and Nothingness Sartre made the curious claim that his ethical views follow from his ontology and are based on it. Yiwei Zheng argues that there are unbridgeable gaps between Sartre's ontology and ethics that cannot be filled in and in the process provides a careful study of some notoriously murky notions in Sartre's early philosophy Calling into question much of what has passed as received wisdom in Sartrean studies Ontology and Ethics in Sartre s Early Philosophy offers fresh insights to scholars of philosophy ethics and Sartre

The Phenomenology of Husserl R. O. Elveton,2020-11-25 These essays present appraisals of Edmund Husserl s phenomenological philosophy ranging from its earliest reception to the first comprehensive efforts to assess the full scope of Husserl s writings

The Constitution of the Ego A. P. Sinnett,2005-12-01 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world s literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work

Self-awareness and Alterity Dan Zahavi,1999 Winner of the 2000 The Edward Goodwin Ballard Prize in Phenomenology In the rigorous and highly original Self Awareness and Alterity Dan Zahavi provides a sustained argument that phenomenology especially in its Husserlian version can contribute something decisive to the analysis of self awareness Taking on recent discussions within both analytical philosophy Shoemaker Castaneda Nagel and contemporary German philosophy Henrich Frank Tugendhat Zahavi argues that the phenomenological tradition has much more to offer when it comes to the problem of self awareness than is normally assumed As a contribution to the current philosophical debate concerning self awareness the book presents a comprehensive reconstruction of Husserl s theory of pre reflective self awareness thereby criticizing a number of prevalent interpretations and a systematic discussion of a number of phenomenological insights related to this issue including analyses of the temporal intentional reflexive bodily and social nature of the self

A Study of Husserl's Formal and Transcendental Logic Suzanne Bachelard,Lester E. Embree,1990-02 Originally published in French under the title La Logique de Husserl tude sur Logique Formelle et logique transcendente

The Porosity of the Self Laura Jane Nanni,2024-12-30 The Porosity of the Self provides an original interpretation and comprehensive examination of the philosophy of Edmund Husserl 1859 1938 the founder of phenomenology and one of the most important and influential philosophers of the 19th 20th century The book is unique in providing an exploration of the philosophical problem of the self drawn from key texts across Husserl s work The book challenges prevailing philosophical accounts of self and personhood that are predominantly one dimensional and that often fail to capture the intricate double sidedness of how we experience ourselves others and the world The book demonstrates how Husserl s philosophy offers an important alternative account of the self as porous The notion of the porosity of the self emerges through a thematic reconstruction of Husserl that emphasizes elements such as embodiment habituality temporality personhood intersubjectivity and sociality Here the case is made that the self should be understood as multidimensional dynamic and complex by highlighting its fundamentally permeable nature The main argument of the book is that no one element of the self is experienceable in isolation and that Husserl s understanding can equally accommodate the uniqueness of subjective experience as well as social cultural and historical in actions without yielding constitutive priority to one dimension over the other This book is unique as it strives to encourage broad engagement with Husserl's work by simplifying some of his more complex texts using clear and accessible language It shows how Husserlian phenomenology can provide a rich supplementary perspective for fields such as critical phenomenology and feminist philosophy and offers a renewed way of engaging with Husserl's philosophy
