Love in the Days of Rage Lawrence Ferlinghetti, 2001-10-02 The more I make love the more I want revolution the more I make revolution the more I want to make love In Paris in May of 1968 revolution and love are very much in the air The barricades are going up the students of the Sorbonne are taking to streets alive with the graffiti of revolt and the Odeon is ablaze with speechmaking For Annie a young American painter and Julian her Portuguese lover a banker and anarchist the events of that Paris spring form the backdrop against which their love affair is played Annie sees the world through an artist's eyes she is reckless in her passions wanting and needing love with other people There is none of this fanciful nonsense for Julian an anarchist disdainful of the entire human race who thinks even the enraged students storming the streets of Paris with their posters proclaiming open the windows of your heart and revolution is the ecstasy of history to be hopelessly naïve and sheeplike Ferlinghetti charts the progress of love unfolding against those heady and momentous days when the pampered children of the bourgeoisie tried to find common cause with workers who despised them when Julian and Annie were in the heat of their love and reason

Four Moments of Aesthetic Experience Bryan Counter, 2025-04-15 This book examines the question of aesthetic experience in the novels of Joris Karl Huysmans Marcel Proust Tom McCarthy and Rachel Cusk in order to propose a reconsideration of aesthetic experience informed by literature and philosophy in equal measure The introduction suggests an alternative four moments of aesthetic experience to Kant's four moments of aesthetic judgement derived in part from my four literary authors respectively curation quietness violence and disconnection Taken collectively the four moments show the danger of becoming too invested or interested in aesthetic experience as well as patience and openness toward the creative act of writing While these four moments are not meant as determinations taken together they offer a picture of aesthetic experience as involuntary subject to chance and resistant to calculation on the part of the aesthetic subject Besides contributing to the scholarship on each of the four novelists this book advances a theory of the aesthetic that shifts away from the framework of judging objects to focus instead on experience and how it is articulated both within and beyond literature It is here that the theory of aesthetic experience benefits from literature's singularity no one text or passage can serve as an example that would adequately circumscribe the field of aesthetic experience just as no one philosophical example could and yet the reflective nature of the literary text demands a rigorous look at aesthetic experience without the restrictions of a totalising philosophical system The two negative moments represented by Huysmans's Rebours and McCarthy's Remainder besides ending poorly for the protagonists wind up with a foreclosure of aesthetic experience For Huysmans's Des Esseintes who attempts to sustain aesthetic experience at will via curation the fantasy falls apart leaving him ill and necessitating his dreaded return to society For McCarthy's unnamed narrator who is engaged throughout the novel with various projects of re-enactments the story ends violently with bloodshed and a plane hijacking Theoretically these novels provide a cautionary tale about the impulse to seek out and even domesticate the aesthetic object On the contrary the two positive moments represented by Proust's Recherche and Cusk's Outline trilogy each involve narrators and characters who are invested in the creative act of writing Two particular critically underrepresented passages from Proust can help articulate the quiet moment of aesthetic experience without relying on works of art they are theoretically compelling in their refusal to theorise themselves unlike the more popular passages from the novel Cusk's novels present the moment of disconnection that is the sense of an experience being dislodged from any particular narrative or plot And yet each of the characters in question are creative writers meaning that this everyday feeling of alienation tends to factor into a productive artistic impulse In conclusion these four moments are tied together as they pertain to the nature and boundaries of aesthetic experience in general Just as Kant s four moments of aesthetic judgement seem to be grouped in pairs disinterest and purposiveness without purpose on one hand and universality and necessity on the other hand these four moments can be grouped and set apart to help reconsider what we mean when we talk about aesthetic experience The Theatre of To-day Hiram Motherwell,1914 The Art of Impressionism Anthea Callen,2000-01-01

Drawing on scientific studies of pigments and materials artists treatises colourmen s archives and contemporary and modern accounts Anthea Callen demonstrates how raw materials and paintings are profoundly interdependent She analyses the material constituents of oil painting and the complex processes of making entailed in all aspects of artistic production discussing in particular oil painting methods for landscapists and the impact of plein air light on figure painting studio practice and display Insisting that the meanings of paintings are constituted by and within the cultural matrices that produced them Callen argues that the real modernity of the Impressionist enterprise lies in the painters material practices

Rudy Price, 2021-05-03 This book offers microhistories related to the transnational circulations of impressionism in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The contributors rethink the role of French impressionism in shaping these iterations by placing France within its global and imperialist context and arguing that impressionisms might be framed through the mobility studies concept of constellations of mobility Artists engaging with impressionism in France as in other global contexts relied on responded to appropriated and resisted elements of form and content based on fluid and interconnected political realities and market structures Written by scholars and curators the chapters demand reconsideration of impressionism as a historical construct and the meanings assigned to that term This project frames future discussion in art history cultural studies and global studies on the politics of appropriating impressionism
