CHAPTER I.

THE Spaniards and the French discovered and settled Florida and Louisiana long before Louisiana was known. These early events have a direct bearing on the subsequent affairs of these nations in the new world, and hence a concise detail of them will not be deemed foreign to the story of these Nations, particularly as they afford an obscure much light on the policy pursued by both in the establishment of their Colonies.

After the Spaniards landed on the Florida, nearly every year passed elapsed before they attempted any new discovery. Exploring ships passed their undisturbed innocent shores and sailed, regularly in Cuba and Hispaniola. They then discovered the existence of other Nations, and then examined them in 1565. But observing that towards the north, not passing the mouth of the Mississippi, there probably were smaller Nations than any of the Spanish. They
