Religious Education , 1913 Available on microfilm from University Microfilms Islam and the Secular State in Indonesia Luthfi Assyaukanie, 2009 This is an excellent book which will have a major impact on the current debate about the relationship between Islam and politics in Indonesia Its greatest strength is its innovative characterization of three Indonesian Muslim models of polity as opposed to the normal two Islamic state and secular state Assyaukanie brilliantly delineates a third model which he calls the Religious Democratic State in the process greatly clarifying our understanding of the previous models which he now proposes to label the Islamic Democratic State and the Liberal Democratic State Another strength of the book is methodological Each of its arguments is solidly grounded in the thoughts and actions of particular players Indonesian Muslim thinkers and activists Professor William R Liddle The Ohio State University USA The Routledge International Handbook of Religious Education Derek Davis, Elena Miroshnikova, 2013-02-01 How and what to teach about religion is controversial in every country The Routledge International Handbook of Religious Education is the first book to comprehensively address the range of ways that major countries around the world teach religion in public and private educational institutions It discusses how three models in particular seem to dominate the landscape Countries with strong cultural traditions focused on a majority religion tend to adopt an identification model where instruction is provided only in the tenets of the majority religion often to the detriment of other religions and their adherents Countries with traditions that differentiate church and state tend to adopt a separation model thus either offering instruction in a wide range of religions or in some cases teaching very little about religion intentionally leaving it to religious institutions and the home setting to provide religious instruction Still other countries attempt managed pluralism in which neither one nor many but rather a limited handful of major religious traditions are taught. Inevitably there are countries which do not fit any of these dominant models and the range of methods touched upon in this book will surprise even the most enlightened reader. Religious instruction by educational institutions in 53 countries and regions of the world are explored by experts native to each country. These chapters discuss legal parameters in terms of subjective versus objective instruction in religion. Constitutional, statutory, social and political contexts to religious approaches. Distinctions between the kinds of instruction permitted in elementary and secondary schools versus what is allowed in institutions of higher learning. Regional assessments which provide a welcome overview and comparison. This comprehensive and authoritative volume will appeal to educators, scholars, religious leaders, politicians and others interested in how religion and education interface around the world.

Religious Education at Schools in Europe Martin Rothgangel, Ednan Aslan, Martin Jäggle, 2020-09-07. At a time when educational issues have increasingly come to determine the social and political discourse and major reforms of the education system are being discussed and implemented and when migration has become a significant phenomenon contributing to changes in the religious landscape of the European continent it is highly appropriate to focus our attention on the concrete situation regarding religious education. This volume contains again on the basis of thirteen key questions the countries in Southeastern Europe: Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Kosovo, Republic of North Macedonia, Montenegro, Romania, Serbia and Turkey. Beyond the all important tasks of taking stock and making international comparisons the aim of this book is to create a foundation for further action in the field of education especially with regard to interfaith expertise.

The Relationship between Religious Education and Health Education in Zambia Owen Mulima, 2023-04-12 Academic Paper from the year 2023 in the subject Pedagogy School System Educational and School Politics Kwame Nkrumah University language English abstract Zambia is a country where religion plays a significant role in people's lives and health education is becoming increasingly important. This study examines the relationship between religious education and health education in Zambia. It provides an overview of religious and health education in Zambia, explores the role of religion in promoting health and wellbeing, and discusses the potential benefits and challenges of integrating religious and health education in schools. The review draws on a range of literature sources, including academic articles, reports, and government documents. The findings suggest that while religious education can provide a strong foundation for promoting healthy lifestyles and practices, there are also potential risks associated with relying solely on religious teachings for health education. Therefore, a more integrated approach that combines both religious and health education is recommended.

Ancient and Indigenous Wisdom Traditions in the Americas Ehaab Abdou, Theodore Zervas, 2024-08-01. This book brings attention to the understudied and often overlooked question of how curricula and classroom practices might inadvertently reproduce exclusionary discourses and narratives that omit or negate particular cultures, histories, and wisdom traditions. With a focus on representations and classroom practices related especially to ancient and Indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures, it includes unique contributions from scholars studying these questions in various contexts. The book offers a range of important studies from various contexts across the Americas, including Canada, the various member nations of the Caribbean Community (CARICOM), Puerto Rico, and the United States. The various chapter contributions address and discuss nuances of each of the contexts under study. The contributions also help highlight some key commonalities across these contexts, including how dominant discourses and various forces have historically shaped and continue to shape and reproduce such omissions, misrepresentations, and marginalization. In addition to seeking to reconcile with some of these ancient and Indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures, the book charts a path forward toward more holistic analytical frameworks, as well as more inclusive and balanced representations and classroom practices in these aforementioned geographic contexts and beyond. It will appeal to scholars, researchers, undergraduate and graduate students with interests in Indigenous education, curriculum studies, citizenship education, history of education, religion, and educational policy.
