The Moral Collapse of the University Bruce W. Wilshire,1990 The Moral Collapse of the University Bruce Wilshire,1990-04-02 Critical Pedagogy and Global Literature Masood Ashraf Raja,Hillary Stringer,Zach VandeZande,2013-08-13 In one volume this edited collection provides both a theoretical and praxis driven engagement with teaching world literature focusing on various aspects of critical pedagogy Included are nine praxis driven essays by instructors who have taught world literature courses at the university level The World Yearbook of Education 1996 Robert Cowen,2012-12-06 This annual summary of educational policies and practices worldwide includes discussion of multi skills and flexibility school work links qualifications and education for skills versus education for status "Culture" and the Problem of the Disciplines John Carlos Rowe,1998 The results of a collaborative research project by the Critical Theory Institute at the University of California Irvine this collection explores the role that scholars and universities play in shaping and defining culture and how teaching and research institutions are changing in response to international movements and social forces 7 photos No End of a Lesson Stuart Macintyre,André Brett,Gwilym Croucher,2017-10-02 A revolution swept through universities three decades ago transforming them from elite institutions into a mass system of higher education Teaching was aligned with occupational outcomes research was directed to practical results Campuses grew and universities became more entrepreneurial Students had to juggle their study requirements with paid work and were required to pay back part of the cost of their degrees The federal government directed this transformation through the creation of a Unified National System How did this happen What were the gains and the losses No End of a Lesson explores this radical reconstruction and assesses its consequences Critical Issues in Higher Education Michael Kompf,Pamela M. Denicolo,2013-02-11 The ideas and papers in this volume primarily showcase the work of a group of new scholars who will lead the next generation of educational practise and inquiry While the topics explored are critical issues the ways in which these new scholars have chosen to address them illustrates the diversity of voice venue and value that has led them to present their work Education and what it means has entered a new era in which the primary focus on education for the sake of education is strained An educational free for all in the sense of a no holds barred fight seems in place as competition for market share effective branding exercises and movement towards a client based delivery of educational services on demand as demanded has been fuelled and compounded by litigation accreditation transfer credits and matters of patents copyrights ownership and monopoly The link between education and financial well being has been co opted as the key to personal success Unfortunately the degree pursuit often called the paper chase has become competitive for learners seeking scholarships awards and entry into graduate school This transition indicates movement from becoming well educated to employability potential paralleling much institutional retooling and sustenance of enhanced reputation and fiscal viability

Learning for Meaning's Sake Stephanie Mackler, 2009-01-01 Universities and the societies they serve suffer from a crisis of meaning We have fanatically developed our ability to produce knowledge leaving our ability to craft meaning by the wayside University graduates often have an abundance of knowledge but lack the wisdom to use it meaningfully Meanwhile people inside and outside academia are searching for meaning but are imprisoned in a lexicon of clichés and sound bites that stunts their quest In response Learning for Meaning's Sake begins with the assertion that higher education in the 21st century should renounce its obsession with job training and knowledge production and should instead turn toward questions of meaning Drawing upon a diverse range of philosophical thought Learning for Meaning's Sake offers the vision and philosophical foundation for a new type of higher learning one that is devoted to the existential questions at the core of human existence

Reconstructing the "Uni-versity" Harvey J. Graff, 2025-09-14 Slogans myths and isolated anecdotes are inadequate substitutes for documented history and contextual understanding Literature on the history of higher education is dominated by ahistorical and contextually ignorant slogans Seldom acknowledged in discussions of the decline or failure of the modern university is 1 how long it has been going on at least since the 1960s and 2 universities own complicity in this long complicated and contradictory process Myths intertwine inseparably with slogans to echo yet another lost cause Our collective as well as individual pasts provide essential lessons if we know how to read and learn from them More complicated is imagining a plausible better future for universities In Reconstructing the Uni-versity From the Ashes of the Mega and Multi-versity to the

Futures of Higher Education Harvey J Graff bringing experience from over 50 years as a professor provides an accurate history of higher education redefining the issues and terms to establish a new agenda

Philosophies of Islamic Education Mujadad Zaman, Nadeem Memon, 2016-03-31 The study of Islamic education has hitherto remained a tangential inquiry in the broader focus of Islamic Studies In the wake of this neglect a renaissance of sorts has occurred in recent years reconfiguring the importance of Islam's attitudes to knowledge learning and education as paramount in the study and appreciation of Islamic civilization Philosophies of Islamic Education stands in tandem to this call and takes a pioneering step in establishing the importance of its study for the educationalist academic and student alike Broken into four sections it deals with theological pedagogic institutional and contemporary issues reflecting the diverse and often competing notions and practices of Islamic education As a unique international collaboration bringing into conversation theologians historians philosophers teachers and sociologists of education Philosophies of Islamic Education intends to provide fresh means for conversing with contemporary debates in ethics secularization theory child psychology multiculturalism interfaith dialogue and moral education In doing so it hopes to offer an important and timely contribution to educational studies as well as give new insight for academia in terms of conceiving learning and education

Contesting Cultural Rhetorics Margaret J. Marshall, 2025-10-01 Contesting Cultural Rhetorics is a groundbreaking and original study that demonstrates how education is viewed as a contested term and a set of contested practices in American culture because it is inevitably linked to highly contested value laden terms An examination of the public discourse of education not only reveals the ideologies and conceptions embedded in educative acts and institutions but also provides a means of examining how education itself functions in American culture as a site of contest between ideologies values and the constitution of individual and nation Margaret J Marshall's analysis employs a range of contemporary theorists from Bakhtin to Foucault and draws on a number of disciplinary perspectives including law history and ethnography where scholars have been examining discursive practices and where rhetoric is understood to be a means of examining cultural conceptions and embedded ideologies Through these lenses she examines four influential and popular texts of the 1890s that serve to illuminate current public debates on education Joseph Mayer Rice's articles in Forum a well respected magazine Matthew Arnold's introduction to a government report W E B Du Bois's A Negro Schoolmaster in the New South and Jane Addams's A Function of the Social Settlement Neither a history of education nor a typical literary analysis of the texts in question this book considers the rhetorical stance of authors the constitution of audience and subject and the use of references and narratives as devices of authority Taken together these texts reveal the complicated public discussion of education in the 1890s a period of transformation in culture schooling and the organization of knowledge Moreover they reveal the rhetorical structure of many of the questions Americans ask about education today who should be educated by whom for what purposes using what methods or materials What of the past should we pass on to the future and how Contesting Cultural Rhetorics will be useful to readers interested
